COX PROMISES BIG MAJORITY IN COUNTY, AS USUAL

Says His Criticism by Taft Will Make No Difference in Cincinnati Vote.

IS NOT A QUITTER

Says Pattison Has Passed Zenith of His Power and Herrick Is a Winner.

TAFT WILL NOT RETRACT

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM L. W. STEAYER, Staff Correspondent.

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 23.—"We will not quit. We are no quitters down here. We will go ahead as we have been doing and use every effort to roll up a large majority for the Republican ticket. Hamilton county will give Herrick as big a majority as it did two years ago, about 30,000."

In these words George B. Cox, leader of the Cincinnati organization, disposed of the fear that some Republicans have entertained that he might adopt a retaliatory course as the result of Secretary Taft's severe criticism at Akron Saturday night, and content himself with carrying his city and county ticket by a comparatively small margin. But Mr. Cox says not.

While declining to enter into any discussion of Secretary Taft's speech, he says enough to let the Republicans of Ohio know that he is no "quitter" and that he will fight it out in Hamilton county to the finish. Mr. Cox was found this afternoon seated in his private office in the Cincinnati Trust Company of which great financial institution he is president. He divides his working day into two parts and in the morning can always be found at his office over the Mecca saloon. At noon he goes to lunch and 1:30 finds him at the trust company, where he is accessible to any one who has business with him. When asked if he had any reply to make to the criticisms of Secretary Taft, Mr. Cox said:

"No, I have nothing whatever to say on that subject. It would do no good to discuss it and it might do harm. I propose to keep still."

Everybody Is at Work.

"Is the Cincinnati organization working just as hard as it was last week?" was asked.

"Yes, and it will continue to work hard. There will be no letting up. We are not quitters down here."

"Is it true that you and Secretary Taft have been political enemies for years?"

"Now, I don't care to go into any discussion of the Akron incident, but I will say that for a good many years Mr. Taft and I have not been together in politics."

"What is your opinion of the prospects of success for the Republican ticket?"

"I think Herrick will win. He will probably not have as big a majority as he had two years ago, but he will have enough.

"Two weeks ago, Pattison, the Democratic candidate, was at the height of his strength and popularity. From then until election he was bound to go backward while Herrick and his cause was just as certain to go forward. That is what has happened and we are now far in the lead."

"How about your city ticket here in Cincinnati? Will Gordon, your candidate for mayor, win?"

"There's not the slightest doubt about that. We will carry the whole city and county ticket and we will give Herrick a majority of fully 30,000."

Cox Not a Hypocrite.

"What majority did Hamilton county give Roosevelt last year?"

"About 40,000, but that was scarcely a fair year with which to compare. It was a part of the Roosevelt landslide."

Whatever else George B. Cox may be, he is no hypocrite. He readily, but with no show of egotism, admits his leadership and even pleads guilty to the title of boss. Furthermore he makes no attempt to shirk the responsibilities of leadership, and for that reason he will keep his lieutenants and workers busy trying to make a good showing for Herrick.

Human nature is frail at best and the natural impulse of a man placed in Cox's situation would be to wield the power he possesses by not exercising it. It is well understood that with the perfect system of organization under which the Cox machine works, several thousand voters could be kept away from the polls without defeating the ticket.

In the light of this knowledge, Cox's announcement at the opening of this article is of great significance. He is no quitter," he says, and will "go to the finish."

If he harbors any deep resentment against Secretary Taft he will lay it aside now and settle that score later. He will not endanger the prospects of the Republican party by venting his personal opinions.

There are a good many workers in this organization who feel keenly the criticism launched at Cox and themselves at the Akron meeting. Some of them might kick over the traces were it not for the long-headed counsel of Cox himself. But his influence will be sufficient to keep them in line. One of them voiced his sentiments in these words:

Democrats Are Elated.

"If Mr. Cox and us fellows down here are such bad ones, why didn't Secretary Taft expose us last year when his friend, Theodore Roosevelt, was a candidate? He has voted in Cincinnati all his life. Do you suppose he didn't know about us then? Roosevelt carried Hamilton county by over 40,00, you know."

The Democrats here are making all the capital they can out of the Taft speech. Thousands of copies of that part

This Is Why a New Department Is Proposed.

PANAMA CANAL IS TO BE BUILT BY CONTRACT

Government Is Willing to Turn Over the Work to Private Concerns.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The government is willing to turn over the work of constructing the Panama canal to private contractors. This statement is made on the authority of Secretary Taft, who has charge of the immense project. Before any steps will be taken to invite propositions from private contractors, the type of canal to be constructed will be decided upon by the engineers.

It is not expected that any one concern will be able to take the contract for the construction of the entire canal, but it is thought that by letting it out in sections, the work can be done cheaper and better than by the government forces. Of course, the government will have its engineers and officials on the ground, who will inspect and direct the work, but it is now admitted by government officials that the most practicable and satisfactory method of doing the work may be through contracts with private concerns.

The only part of the canal which it is feared private contractors will not be prepared to undertake is the Culebra cut. This is of such great magnitude and involves so many uncertain elements that the government officials are inclined to think that private contractors will not be willing to bid upon the project.

The expenses which are incurred in the work now in progress will give the government officials a definite and reliable idea of what the work should cost. It will put the government in a position where it cannot be robbed by any combination of contractors. The government will also be equipped with machinery and an organization with which it can do the work in the event private contractors prove their inability to perform the service or should seek to advance the price to an unreasonable figure.

Although the board of consulting engineers, which recently returned from Panama, is not disposed to talk, the impression prevails that in its report to the President it will be stated that the original estimate of the cost for the construction of the canal was too small. Just how much more the engineers think the canal will cost is not known, but there is not much doubt that congress will be asked to enlarge its appropriations for this purpose.

DIES IN ABJECT POVERTY.

Granddaughter of One of Washington's Aides Passes Away in New York Tenement.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—In abject destitution, Miss Van Dolsen, granddaughter of Henry Van Dolsen, an aide on the staff of Gen. Washington, and daughter of William H. Van Dolsen, an officer in the United States army in the war of 1812, died tonight in a tiny windowless room in East Thirty-ninth street. Miss Van Dolsen, who was 72 years of age, lived with her sister Frances. Recently they were reduced to dire want.

In the room in which the aged sisters lived hung the swords and pistols of their father and grandfather, which they had refused to part with even in the extremity of their distress.

ACTOR STOPS A PANIC.

Quick Wit Saves Audience from Fire Scare and Prevents Rush for Doors.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(Special.—"Is that thing burning again?" quietly spoken by Julian Reed, in "The Climbers," on the stage of Proctor's One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street theater tonight made a hit beyond anything in the play, for it averted a panic. Mr. Reed, who plays the part of the head waiter, crossed the stage without undue haste, and, interpolating the line quoted above, picked up a burning lamp shade and carried it to the imitation fireplace, which fortunately was of tin. He burned his hand badly, but he never winced. The audience at once recovered confidence.

ENRAGED BULL IS ROASTED ALIVE IN IRON MILL

Struck by Puddling Ball at Etna Iron Works It Rushes Upon Heated Plates.

Dashing wildly into the puddling department of the Spang-Chalfant Company's iron works at Etna last evening, a bull, which had escaped from a large herd, was almost roasted alive before it finally escaped. In horrible agony, its sides and hoofs seared by the white-hot metal, it rushed through the streets of Etna and was lost in the country of Shaler township. A number of narrow escapes were made in the course of its excited chase.

The bull belonged to a herd being driven to the West Etna abattoir of E. P. Seitz. Breaking away from the men in charge, it ran at headlong speed through Sharpsburg and Etna, spreading terror in its path and forcing all who were in the streets to seek shelter. Street Commissioner Conrad Cook, who had charge of a gang of men at work, tried to trip the bull with a board, but it struck the board with such force that Mr. Cook was sent sprawling into the ditch, scratched and bruised.

Across Pine creek into Sharpsburg it went, and for half an hour chased through the streets of that borough. Then back into Etna it came with head down and charged across the trestle into the iron mill. In the puddling department were several men who were knocked from their feet by the onslaught of the infuriated beast. James Donnelly secured a rope and started to use it as a lariat, but the bull saw him first and started to impale him on its horns, when a huge ball of red-hot iron, carried from the puddling furnace, struck it on the flank, searing it terribly. The beast bellowed loudly, and in running away ran upon a row of heated plates which smoked from the burning hoofs. It fell before it could roll off and was burned all over. Still smoking and with its skin almost consumed, the beast ran from the mill and through the borough out into Shaler township. A great crowd followed, with Mr. Seitz at the head on a pony, but they could not catch it.

HAD MANY BANK ACCOUNTS.

Colonel Willard Glazier Was a Depositor in Savings Banks of Fifty Cities.

ALBANY, N. Y., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The late Col. Willard Glazier, the Labrador explorer, who was also widely known as an author and lecturer, left money in savings banks in more than 50 cities in 15 states. Almost his entire fortune of $134,550 was deposited in savings institutions.

Col. Glazier had money in 18 savings banks in New York city alone. The amounts average about $1,500 in each place and vary from $300 in a bank at St. Paul to $4,695 89 deposited in a bank at Pittsburgh. The estate will be divided among Harriet A. Glazier, widow of the explorer, and his daughters Alice and Helen M. Glazier.

YOUNG THEODORE A BOXER.

He Joins an Athletic Club of Boston Noted Among the Followers of the Fistic Arena.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., looked over all the athletic clubs in and around Boston and Cambridge and elected to join the Douglas Athletic club of Chelsea.

Young Roosevelt decided in favor of the Douglas Athletic club because of its boxing and he was voted into membership at a special meeting. He is now eligible to attend all of its literary, social, dramatic and athletic meetings.

Mrs. Westinghouse Gives a Dinner.

LENOX, MASS., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Mrs. George Westinghouse gave a dinner this evening for Baroness Karl von Dem Bussche, wife of the charge d'affaires of the German embassy. Among thise invited were Mrs. Benjamin Thaw and the Misses Rachael Aiken and Macbeth of Pittsburgh, who have been at Erskine park for the last week.

BREAKS RECORDS ON TRIP ACROSS THE PACIFIC

Miss Alice Roosevelt Crosses the Great Ocean in Less Than Eleven Days.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 23.—The Pacific Mail Steamship Company's liner Siberia arrived at this port today direct from Yokohama in the record-breaking time of 10 days 19 hours and 23 minutes, the fastest previous trip between the two places having been made by her sister ship, the Korea, in 11 days 11 hours and 5 minutes.

The Siberia's time is 28 minutes more than that of the Empress of India's record from the orient to Puget Sound, though the distance covered was about 275 miles greater.

There were many distinguished passengers on the Siberia, among them being Miss Alice Roosevelt, United States Senator Newlands and wife of Nevada, United States Senator Warren of Wyoming, Representative Longworth of Ohio, E. H. Harriman, president of the Southern Pacific Company, and Miss Mabel Boardman and Miss Amy McMillan, the traveling companions of Miss Roosevelt.

Miss Roosevelt took occasion to deny she received a proposal of marriage from the Sultan of Sulu, or that she dived, in her traveling costume, into the swimming tank of the Korea on the outgoing journey, or that Congressman Longworth dived after her on a dare. Miss Roosevelt was asked if the story of her betrothal to Congressman Longworth was true. She would not make any direct answer. Congressman Longworth was also asked the same question. He would not affirm or deny it.

DESIRES FOUR TRACKS.

President Cassatt Will Submit a New Plan at Meeting of Pennsylvania Directors.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—At a meeting of the directors of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company Wednesday a number of important questions are likely to be submitted for their consideration. Many of the problems that are to be discussed result from the recent inspection of the lines by President Cassatt and the directors.

It is understood that it is President Cassatt's desire to have four tracks on the whole line between New York and Pittsburgh. Additional tracks are to be laid as soon as the directors authorize the operation. To make this division a four-track road there will be some heavy work necessary.

SHOOTS WOMAN AT HOME AND COMMITS SUICIDE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Mrs. Frances Scheitlin, aged 35, the wife of Rudolph B. Scheitlin, an electrician at the navy yard, and William A. Botomy, aged 38, were found dead late this afternoon by the husband in the Scheitlin home. A revolver, from which three shots had been fired, was on the floor. The police believe that Botomy shot the woman and himself. Botomy had visited the house several times recently, but had been warned by the husband to stay away.

WITTE IS NAMED AS PREMIER OF RUSSIA BY CZAR

SENSATION CREATED

New Countess, Who Is of Ordinary Birth, Received by the Empress.

AMBITION FOR WIFE REALIZED

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 23.—It was persistently reported in the clubs and in government circles late tonight that the emperor yesterday had appointed Count Witte premier, with the portfolio of minister of finance. All the papers tomorrow morning will give prominence to the report.

Count Witte has definitely come into imperial favor and the shrewdest observers consider it certain that he will shortly be in active direction of the government as premier and head of a responsible cabinet.

Since his return from the United States Count Witte has boldly ranged himself on the side of the Liberals, and has not only advocated complete liberty of speech, of the press and of assembly as a necessary corollary of the coming douma, but has urged the extension of the powers of the douma along the lines demanded by the reformers, as well as a broader franchise so as to admit of fuller representation from the representatives of labor and the cultured classes.

The emperor, to whom the count personally outlined his views, displayed much sympathy with them, and, it is learned, favored a number of ministers suggested by the count, including Gen. Trepoff, assistant minister of the interior, who now ranks as one of the most broad-minded of his majesty's counsellors, and who is understood to be working harmoniously with Count Witte.

The reception by the Countess Witte by the empress today is considered a singular evidence of the emperor's determination to confide his fortunes to the hands of Count Witte. No other interpretation is placed upon it in court circles, where the reception of the countess created a tremendous sensation. The countess is a Jewess of ordinary birth and has never been received at court. When M. Witte was appointed minister in the nineties the emperor was reported to have said to him: "Remember, you are not married." The fixing of his wife's social status, which has been one of Count Witte's ambitions, must rank as one of the triumphs of his life.

The decrease of the influence of the grand dukes, perhaps, made it easier for his majesty to turn to Count Witte. The resignation of Grand Duke Vladimir, the emperor's uncle, as commander-in-chief of the military district of St. Petersburg, however, has not yet been accepted. In tendering his resignation the grand duke wrote to the emperor as follows:

"I have served our grandfather, your father and yourself, but now that your majesty has disgraced my son I no longer have the heart to serve you."

ELEPHANT CAUSES SUIT.

Steals a Woman's Watch and Bonnet and She Asks Heavy Damages of Owner.

POPLAR BLUFF, MO., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—A warrant was sworn out this morning for the manager of a circus and Tip, one of the elephants, for the theft of an $800 diamond set gold watch and the destruction of a Parisian bonnet, the property of Mrs. Ella Goltz of Portsmouth, O., visiting friends in this city.

Mrs. Goltz was feeding Tip with peanuts when he put her watch in his trunk, following the theft by stowing away her bonnet. A suit for $3,000 damages was brought, the manager's offer to pay for the watch and bonnet being spurned.

WILL CALL BIG LEADERS.

Tammany Chieftains Will Be Asked to Testify Before Insurance Commission.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—It was stated today that Charles F. Murphy, leader of Tammany Hall, and Patrick McCarren, leader in Brooklyn, will be called to testify before the insurance investigating committee.

The purpose of summoning them is to discover whether they know anything about the affairs of the New York Dock Company, which owns wharf and warehouse property in Brooklyn. The Mutual Life Insurance Company owns about $3,856,000 of its securities

MATHUES HAS NOTHING TO HIDE FROM PUBLIC

Gives Out List of Depositories Holding the Sinking Fund.

SOME OF IT HERE

Is Satisfied the State Would Not Lose a Cent by the Failure of Any Bank.

SCHOOL MONEY BEING PAID

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU. HARRISBURG, Oct. 23.

"There is absolutely nothing to be concealed about the management of the state treasury," said State Treasurer Mathues this afternoon. As evidence of this, the treasurer gave out the exact amount of the state deposit in the suspended Enterprise National bank of Allegheny and authorized the publication of the complete list of the depositories of the state sinking fund.

Mr. Mathues arrived in Harrisburg at 1 o'clock and departed for his home in Medina at 5. During the four hours he was here he was in almost constant consultation with Cashier Pearce and other officials of the treasury. Before his departure he informed a group of newspaper men that he was willing to answer any questions or give any information desired concerning the state treasury.

Over a Million in Enterprise.

Asked how much money of the state was on deposit in the Enterprise National bank on the day its doors were closed, Mr. Mathues replied:

"We find the exact amount to have been $1,030,000, of which $63,000 belonged to the general fund and the remainder to the sinking fund."

The attention of the state treasurer was called to an alleged statement of directors of the Enterprise bank that the bonds given might not fully protect the state from loss on this deposit.

"I cannot see how there can be any question but the state is amply protected by the bonds held," he replied.

"Since I took office in May, 1904, I have withdrawn $110,000 from the Enterprise National, and at no time has the state deposit in the institution been increased. I drew out $60,000 soon after I entered the office and $50,000 on July 31 last."

Bonds Are All Good.

"We have today in the sinking fund $4,152,028.33 and about $9,000,000 in the general fund," said Treasurer Mathues. "The sinking fund is deposited in 134 banks and trust companies of the state, and the general fund in 150 banks and trust companies, and the state is protected in every deposit by a bond or bonds, which, to my mind, are perfectly safe. These bonds were all gone over by Ward B. Bliss, before he died, and myself, and I am perfectly satisfied the state would not lose a cent by the failure of any bank holding a state deposit."

"It has been said that a bank in Lancaster, which failed almost a year ago, has not paid the state; is that correct?" was asked the state treasurer.

"Yes. It was the City Savings Fund and Trust Company of Lancaster and it held $65,000 of state funds. We could collect it now if we wanted to embarrass the bondholders, but we are giving them time, at the same time we are drawing interest on the money, and it is being paid and will be paid up the day of final settlement.

Passed on by Board.

"Here is something I wish you would put plainly—all bonds as security for state fund deposits are not approved alone by the state treasurer. Before a dollar of state money can be deposited anywhere the bond given by the bank or trust company must be approved by the board of commissioners, which consists of the auditor general, secretary of the commonwealth and the state treasurer. This applies both to money from the general and sinking funds."

"Do you apprehend any trouble among other depositories of state moneys growing out of the Enterprise bank affair?" was asked.

"I haven't the slightest idea concerning that, but so far as the state is concerned, I am not worrying, for we are safe."

"Is it correct that former State Senator William H. Andrews had an understanding whereby he influenced the depositing of a large sum in the Enterprise bank, in return for which his mining and railroad affairs were financed by it?"

As to Andrews Loans.

"I had no knowledge whatever that Andrews was getting money out of that bank. I never deposited any mony because of his schemes and never furthered them to my knowledge. I am not supposed to know what a bank does with its money. It is my duty when a deposit is made to see that the state is protected and that I have always done."

"It is alleged the school fund is being held back in order to allow favored banks the use of the money?"

"That is not so. No request has been made by any school district in the state for money that has not been paid. We seldom get through paying the school warrants until after November. There are 2,600 school districts in the state, and we have paid 2,400 of them, leaving but 200 to be paid."

According to the statement of the sinking fund, given out today, the sinking fund, as it existed at the close of September business, contained $4,152,028 33, on deposit at 2 per cent interest in the following institutions:

ROBERT M'AFEE MAKES POSITIVE DENIAL OF CASTLE'S CHARGES

HARRISBURG, Oct. 23.—Robert McAfee, secretary of the commonwealth, tonight issued the following signed statement:

"My attention has been called to an article in the Philadelphia Press of October 21, which purports to be a report of a speech made by Mr. Homer L. Castle at Milton, in which he is alleged to have said:

"'After a bank examiner had turned it down for the reason that it had no ascertainable value, Mr. McAfee, now secretary of the commonwealth, practically forced the bank to keep this loan on the pain of instant withdrawal of the entire deposit.' If Mr. Castle made this statement he said what had no foundation in fact. I did not force this bank or any other bank to keep this loan or any other loan. I did not so force the bank either 'practically' or in any other manner. I did not threaten the withdrawal of that entire deposit or of any deposit or of any part of any deposit. I had no power to compel the withdrawal of any such deposit. I know nothing about the loan of $65,000 on the strength of a $100,000 deposit of state funds or about the transaction to which he refers and no such occurence ever took place.

TEAM OWNERS SUPPORT ORR.

Will Stand by New York Truck Owner and Insist on the Open Shop.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—At a conference between Thomas Orr, the truck owner, whose drivers are already on strike, and the union, no settlement was reached today. The union's demand for a closed shop caused a deadlock in the conference.

Mr. Hunter issued a statement tonight declaring that the association was in favor of "the open shop" and had the support of the merchants of New York. This indicates that the Team Owners' association will stand by Thomas Orr in his fight against local No. 708.

HAVE CONFIDENCE IN F. J. TORRANCE

Directors of Enterprise Bank Feel Certain Any Notes of His Will Be Liquidated.

ARE SECURITIES MISSING?

"I hope, and so does every director of the Enterprise bank, that the name of Francis J. Torrance is on notes now in the hands of Receiver Cunningham. I have known Mr. Torrance intimately, in a business way, for years, and know that he is a wealthy man. More than this, he is absolutely honest. If the Enterprise bank holds any notes of Mr. Torrance's they will be paid. I do not know that there are such notes in the bank, but for the sake of the bank and its depositors I hope there are. If all outstanding notes were as good as the supposed ones of Mr. Torrance we would feel very secure."

This statement was made yesterday by one of the directors of the Enterprise bank. Last night a representative of The Gazette called at the Torrance residence in Western avenue, Allegheny, and Mr. Torrance was shown a copy of the foregoing statement. Through Mrs. Torrance he made the following statement, the first that has come directly from Mr. Torrance since his name was connected with the affairs of the Enterprise bank:

Mr. Torrance's Plain Statement.

"You can print as coming from me that I have no personal notes in the Enterprise National bank. My indorsement is on a small note of the Woods Run Industrial Home of which Mrs. Torrance is one of the managers. My indorsement is also on a note for $1,200 of a business man living in Brighton road. He is amply able to take care of it. If there are notes of the Santa Fe Railway Company and the Pennsylvania Development Company in the bank I have no knowledge of it, but any paper of these companies found in the Enterprise bank will be lifted when the proper time comes."

Mrs. Torrance says her husband is improving slowly, but is still extremely nervous. Dr. L. H. Williard said last night that Mr. Torrance would have to remain in bed for some time yet. He is not allowed to see visitors or to read newspapers. Mr. Torrance said on the day he was informed that notes bearing the indorsement of the New Mexican enterprises were held by the Enterprise bank that:

"If any such paper of either the Santa Fe Central or the Pennsylvania Development Company is held by that bank, it must be lifted at once."

Examiner Cunningham Still Silent.

Bank Examiner Cunningham adheres to his policy of silence and denies that he has made any of the many conflicting statements that are credited to him. If the bank holds notes bearing the signature of Mr. Torrance, Mr. Cunningham will not say so. He reiterates that no statement will be made by him to anyone but the comptroller of the currency at Washington.

It is now said that large sums of money loaned by Cashier Clark on notes for long periods, got the institution into an embarrassed condition and that in order to bolster up the bank's affairs Clark rediscounted these notes at various banking institutions in the country. To secure loans for the bank, or himself, it would be necessary to transfer the security or collateral surrendered to him at the time the original transaction was made, to the other bank.

A number of those who borrowed money from the Enterprise bank have been referred to the Bank of Pittsburgh when they called to make payment. It develops that the Bank of Pittsburgh took a number of the small notes of the Enterprise bank, re-discounting them according to the usual practice of the larger banks in dealing with the smaller ones. According to the last statement of the Enterprise it had about $200,000 of such re-discounted notes.

Suicide Upset Many Plans.

It is evident that some of the men who had been extended these credits had counted on renewing their notes in part at least, but the sudden change in conditions at the Enterprise made this impracticable. The paper belongs to the receiver and it is his order that it shall be collected. An officer of the Bank of Pittsburgh said yesterday the notes were excellent, the money being loaned to small tradesmen, contractors, etc., and that all seemed to be able to make new banking connections and take care of their paper in good shape. The Bank of Pittsburgh is now collecting the paper in full as it comes due and after reimbursing itself for the amount it had advanced is returning to the receiver the amount due the Enterprise bank. It is believed that all this paper will be cleared up by December or January.

Similar transactions in bills payable seem to have been negotiated by Cashier Clark within the past few months, and the two last statements of the bank lend credit to the report that Cashier Clark realized he was not well fortified on his outstanding paper. Last May the Enterprise bank had rediscounts amounting to $142,650, which is rather large for a bank the size of the Enterprise. But on August 25, when the last statement was made, this sum had been increased to $202,850. This is taken to mean that the bank had secured additional loans on discounted notes to the amount of $60,000 within three months.

Missing Notes and Securities.

Just where all this paper was placed, and which institutions hold the securities first turned over to the Enterprise is not known to anyone but Examiner Cunningham. The story goes that some persons who had secured loans from Cashier Clark on good collateral had within the past week called at the Enterprise bank to make a settlement, and had been informed that for the present this could not be arranged. The story is further that Mr. Cunningham offered no explanation to any of the persons concerned, for the reason that so far he has been unable to ascertain the real history of some of Clark's transactions.

This would leave these persons in the position where they owe the Enterprise bank money and must pay it, and yet are unable to obtain the securities or collateral given to the Enterprise for the first loan. Until it is known where Clark placed his notes, none of the securities turned over in rediscounting operations can be recovered.

Stifel Makes Denials.

Director Charles P. Stifel denied yesterday that there had been any meeting of the board of directors on Sunday, and said so far as he knew, the directors have no intention of bringing suits against certain persons alleged to have been criminally leagued with Cashier Clark in dealing with the bank's funds. Fred Gwinner, Jr., son of the president of the bank, laughs at these stories of contemplated legal action on the part of the directors, and said yesterday he had never heard of any such proposed action, except in the newspapers that are insisting that such suits are to be instituted.

Bank Examiner Cunningham denied yesterday he had retained Walter Lyon as attorney and did not know how such a rumor had its origin. Mr. Lyon is attorney for the enterprises owned by W. H. Andrews, Francis J. Torrance, Arthur Kennedy and W. C. Hagan.

A receiver was appointed yesterday for the National Cable and Wire Company, of which the late T. Lee Clark was president. J. H. Hunter was named receiver in common pleas court No. 2, and a preliminary injunction was granted to restrain the company from disposing of or encumbering the assets for the benefit of any particular creditor.

Lack of Working Capital.

The bill sets forth that the company was organized with a capital stock of $10,000, which was later increased to $500,000. None of the common stock has been marketed but preferred, valued at $151,400, has been issued and is outstanding. The company is said to be doing a business of $50,000 annually, but because of a lack of working capital is unable to meet certain obligations that have been pressing for payment since the death of Cashier Clark. Hill and Klein, the complaining stockholders, own 150 shares of full paid stock. The answer of the National Cable and Wire Company was filed yesterday and represents that the company is insolvent and is incapable of meeting its present and accruing liabilities. The defendants joined in a petition for a receiver.

CASTLE TELLS OF PRUDENTIAL

Director at Time of Its Failure, but Thinks Circumstances Differ from Enterprise.

ADEPT AT SIDE-STEPPING

PITTSBURGH, October 21, 1905.

Editor Gazette:

Would you kindly ask Homer Castle, through your columns, to tell us something of the closing of the Prudential Trust Company's bank. He appears to know a great deal of the inner workings of banks and he, being a director of the above bank when it closed its doors, may give us some information. Respectfully,

DEPOSITOR.

When Mr. Castle was shown the above letter he was busily engaged in filling a scrapbook with the newspaper articles in which he has figured recently.

"I shall be glad to give any information I may have on the Prudential's closing," he said. "What do you want to know?"

"What caused the bank to fail?" he was asked.

"The over-speculation of the president, Thomas A. Watkins, in a street railway enterprise in West Virginia," said Mr. Castle.

"Were you a director of the bank?"

"I was."

"Did you have any knowledge of Mr. Watkins' over-speculation?"

"I did not. In fact I knew nothing about the bank's money having been used in that way."

"Mr. Watkins did not present the matter to the board?"

"No; at least, he did not present it to me. I rarely attended the board meetings."

"Who are legally responsible for the use of a bank's money?"

"Why, the directors."

Calls Santa Fe Central a Joke.

"Then you admit your responsibility so far as one director is responsible, for the misuse of the bank's money?"

"Well, I can escape from that partly. I was a director only a year—the last year before it closed. The money had been invested by Mr. Watkins before I was put on the board. However, during the year that I was director I knew nothing of the bank's money being in the enterprise."

"Is not the case of the Prudential very analagous to the Enterprise National bank, since both of them closed their doors through an officer having put the bank's money into a railway scheme, and without due authority?"

"Yes, partly. But this street railway was a good plan, while the Santa Fe Central is not good—it's a joke. The Mercantile Trust Company, which was appointed receiver of the Prudential Trust Company, secured authority from the court to go ahead with the construction of the street railway. The plan had failed and the railway gone into the hands of a receivership because there was not enough money behind it to complete the project. Now the road has been completed and is operating. I think there will be a distribution some time this fall of a good part of the depositors' money. In time it will all be paid back.

"Side-Steps" the Issue.

"Now if I am to be quoted at all on this matter I want to be quoted correctly. I want to say that there is no evidence of criminal actions in the case of the Prudential, while The Gazette and the Chronicle Telegraph say there is in the Enterprise."

"Your scrap book contains the clippings from The Gazette and Chronicle Telegraph about the Enterprise, doesn't it?"

"Yes."

"Will you please show where any charge of criminal conduct was made concerning Mr. Clark's relations with the bank?"

Here Mr. Castle began to "side-step" awkwardly and hastily. He hemmed and hawed for a little while, and then altogether exonerated The Gazette, while he said he objected to the other paper printing something objectionable to him, on account of the alleged bad character of certain persons with whom Mr. Clark had dealings, entirely disconnected with his bank affairs.

"Did the Prudential have any state moneys on deposit?"

"It had at one time a small amount, but at the time it closed it had none. There are no state moneys tied up at present in the receivership."

SAYS RAILROADS HERE REFUSE RATES ON OILS

Pittsburgh Refiner Tells Inter-State Commerce Commission Some Facts About Rates.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 23.—H. H. Willock of the Waverly Oil Company of Pittsburgh furnished additional evidence to the interstate commerce commissioners this afternoon. He testified that the division freight agents of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company at Pittsburgh would not furnish a through rate and would never furnish information as to why the pro rata rate will not be extended to them.

Mr. Willock explained that in many instances he had to wait so long for rates from division freight agents at Pittsburgh that the business in New England was lost. The companies, he declared, do not specify rates to New England points, but when goods were shipped the tariffs charged were so excessive as to effectually check any competition with the Standard Oil company.

Mr. Willock stated that for many years he got a rate of 10½ cents on oil via the Pennsylvania road to Philadelphia, and from there to New England points by way of a steamship company, and were notified suddenly that this rate was a mistake. He also said that the Boston and Philadelphia Steamship Company is willing to pro rate.

FOLLOWS SON TO DEATH.

Crazed by Young Man's Suicide Father Ends His Life During Funeral Service.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Crazed with grief over the death of his son, who committed suicide by illuminating gas last week, Herman Schultz shot himself through the head today while the funeral service was being read over the body of his son, and fell prostrate across the coffin dead.

Mrs. Schultz and her three daughters fainted and the funeral of the son was postponed that both the father and son might be buried together.

Attorney Goes to Consult Phipps.

Attorney Thomas D. Chantler has gone to New York to consult with Henry Phipps in connection with the suit threatened by the promoters of the public bath and washhouse, to secure a donation of $10,000 which Mr. Phipps is alleged to have promised to make. Mr. Phipps arrived home from Europe Sunday night, and D. T. Layman, a local representative of Mr. Phipps, yesterday said he may get word this week when Mr. Phipps will come to Pittsburgh.

Singer Is Killed by Train.

Albert Paukert, aged 60, one of the oldest and best-known members of German singing societies, living at Thirty-sixth street, was killed instantly last night by a train at Bennett. Paukert, who was a member of the Eintracht singing society and the Bloomfield Liedertafel, had attended a celebration of the founding of a Millvale singing society. While crossing the railroad tracks at Bennett he was run down by the train. His body was cut in two.

PENROSE CALLS CASTLE'S BLUFF

DIRECTOR MARTIN QUITS POST

The Pittsburgh Gazette Bureau,
Press Building,
PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.

Senator Boies Penrose tonight declared that the Republican state ticket and the Philadelphia county ticket would be elected by substantial majorities. He expressed the opinion that the voters of the state have not been influenced by the unsupported charges of Homer L. Castle.

"Really I do not know how I could more emphatically deny Castle's statements than I already have," said Mr. Penrose. "So far as I am personally concerned there has not been the slightest basis for Castle's allegations. Categorically I have declared them falsehoods. They were made for political purposes. This, I think, the people understand. Castle knows now, if he did not know when he made his original charge, that none of my paper has ever been in or passed through the Enterprise National bank. If he were honest he would admit that he is a victim of misinformation. This, however, I do not expect him to do until circumstances force such an admission."

After predicting that Plummer would be elected by a majority upward of 100,000, Senator Penrose discussed the campaign in Philadelphia:

"Reports show that the Republican city organization is not only intact, but that it is as aggressively confident of victory as it ever has been. I have no hesitation in declaring that the Republican ticket will be elected, and it will have a substantial majority. The issue—Wanamaker vs. the Republican party—is not a new one. The Republicans have defeated Wanamaker in every fight in which he has opposed them. They will do so this time and every time that Mr. Wanamaker attempts to control the party which he has spent so much money to wreck."

Because Mayor Weaver insisted upon turning his department into a political recruiting station, Dr. Edward Martin, director of health and charities, today resigned. Dr. Martin, who is one of the most eminent surgeons of Philadelphia, also being a millionaire, accepted the office with the understanding it should be free from politics.

Mayor Weaver last week appointed Harry Mackey assistant director, and Mackey began to discharge employes who would not line up for the City party. Dr. Martin's resignation is unique. It follows:

"Some time in October, beginning of the Twentieth century:

"Dear Chief—This my resignation. Times are too strenuous for my simple peasant soul. This from the sad and glad sawbones.

"EDWARD MARTIN."

Mayor Weaver has accepted the resignation. He says he is sorry.

Chairman Edwards tonight said the City party would carry 26 of the 42 wards sure, and he expects to carry six others.

CHESTER D. POTTER.

WORKING FOR RECORD.

Rail Mill at Braddock Promises to Eclipse Illinois Steel Company's Great Run.

Only seven more days remain of the month's record run being made at the rail mills of the Edgar Thomson steel works, Braddock, and at present the tonnage is 4,500 ahead of the record for the proportionate number of days in operation. This means practically a day and a half's work to the good. The month's record is 75,000 tons and is held by the South Chicago Iron and Steel Company. It was made last spring, beating the record of 70,000 held by the Edgar Thomson works. The Braddock rail mills hold all the other records, and the officials determined to win this one back. Superintendent Dinkey says that there is every prospect that at least 75,000 tons will be rolled by October 31. The work is being done under high tension. The higher officials are on duty a greater part of the 24 hours, and the mechanical department is busy night and day keeping the machinery in repair.

SITUATION IS NOW SERIOUS.

All Trade and Industry Threatens to Close for Lack of Coal and Transportation.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 24.—The railroad strike situation has now entered on a highly serious phase. The movement is spreading rapidly to all the railroads of the empire, and apparently cannot be stopped, while in many cities it is communicating itself to the mill and factory employes. The general strike in all branches of labor which the socialists planned for the end of this year is seemingly bursting forth of its own volition.

Minister of Finance Kokovovsk yesterday received a telegram which said that a continuation of the strike for a week longer would force every factory in the Moscow region to shut down owing to lack of coal, whether or not the factory hands took part in the strike. The same condition of paralysis threatens all the trade and industry of Russia unless the strike is speedily settled.

INSURANCE AGENT IN JAIL.

Charles McFarland Accused by Two Persons of Forgery and False Pretense.

Charles McFarland, an insurance agent, was lodged in jail yesterday on two charges of forgery and false pretense, brought before Alderman James V. McMastera. The bail required in each case was $500, or $2,000 in all.

The informations were brought by Dr. J. R. Munford and James A. Wilson, general agent of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, each making information for forgery and false pretense. It is alleged that the defendant signed other persons' names to applications for insurance and kept money which did not belong to him.

Magistrate Punishes a Negress.

Annie Saunders, a negress, who keeps a rooming house at No. 419 First avenue, was sentenced 60 days to the workhouse yesterday by Magistrate Kirby on a charge of harboring Carrie Cornelius, aged 15, of Clifton park, Allegheny. The girl and the Saunders woman were arrested late Sunday night at the rooming house. The Saunders woman alleged the girl was left with her by Harry Holden of Braddock, who said she was an orphan and friendless. The girl's father said she left home some weeks ago, but after locating her she was persuaded to return. The girl was committed to the Home of the Good Shepherd.

New Board Ready to Work.

City Bacteriologist E. G. Matson has returned from Harrisburg, where he conferred with officers of the new state board of health in regard to the changes proposed in looking after the health conditions throughout the state. Dr. Matson stated the new board is ready to work and has an appropriation of $200,000 a year and a contingent fund of $50,000 to fight epidemics. Among the new rules of the state board is one requiring that a certificate be secured before a body is buried. The rule relates to every city, town and village in the state.

Expert Goes Over Figures.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Expert Accountant Charles McWerson resumed the witness stand today, before Special Examiner Richard Wyman, in defense of Oberlin M. Carter. Figures compiled by Bank Examiner Johnson, and upon which Carter was sentenced by a courtmartial to five years imprisonment in Fort Leavenworth, were reviewed in detail by McFerson.

Cost of Wilkinsburg Improvements.

The total estimate by the borough engineers, Fresse & Sperling, of the cost of lowering the streets and sewers in Wilkinsburg, made necessary by the construction of the proposed subways under the Pennsylvania railroad tracks, was submitted to the borough council last night. The total amount will be about $70,000, exclusive of property damage.

WARM WELCOME IN OLD MOBILE

President Roosevelt Speaks to Cheering Multitudes in Alabama.

TELLS OF NEEDS FOR NAVY

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

MOBILE, ALA., Oct. 23.—All Mobile tonight lent itself to the reception of President Roosevelt during his two hours' stay in Mobile this evening. There was general closing of business houses and along the route of the procession from the Union station to the stand in Bienville square, where the reception ceremonies took place, residences and stores were covered with decorations of lights and bunting in the national colors.

The sidewalks and streets along Government street were packed with humanity, school children singing national songs as the procession passed. Cheer after cheer welcomed the nation's chief.

The President reached the stand at 5 o'clock, where he was received by a reception committee of 500 citizens. His seat was on an elevated dais in a chair which was built by the students of a technical school in Japan. Back of the chair was an enormous stuffed bear bearing in its mouth a floral independence bell and above its head a white dove holding a streamer on which was the inscription, "Blessed is the Peacemaker." The bear was killed in a hunting expedition by his majesty, Alexander II. of Russia, in 1857, according to the inscription on a bronze plate on the base of the mounting, and was presented by Czar Alexander to Prince d'Ebodie. The house of Ebodie became extinct in the 80s and the effects in the palace of the prince were disposed of by public sale. The bear was purchased by Hannis Taylor, then minister of the United States at Madrid.

Souvenir from Citizens.

Oliver J. Semmes, son of the confederate admiral, Rappael Semmes, then presented to the President and pinned on the lapel of his coat a handsome souvenir badge as the gift of the people of Mobile.

The formal welcome was then delivered by Col. Edward Lafayette Russell, who said:

Your coming among us has been a source of inspiration to our people, who are familiar with your record as a soldier and a citizen. Your wise statesmanship, coupled with your public acts and public declarations, have given them confidence in your sincerity of purpose and patriotism. Since you have been President you have demonstrated by your administration of our federal affairs that you are loyal and devoted to our free institutions, coined out of the blood, sacrifice and treasure of our ancestors. Such is the faith of our people in you as a patriot that they believe you would cheerfully surrender your life rather than endanger the sacred trust that has been confided to your patriotic keeping.

President Roosevelt was cheered as he arose to speak. He thanked the people for their magnificent reception and spoke a special word of greeting to the confederate veterans, who formed a portion of his escort.

Referring to the Panama canal, the President said he did his best to bring about its completion for the benefit of the whole people, but particularly for the benefit of the gulf states. Originally he said he favored the Nicaraguan route, but when it was demonstrated that it must be the Panama canal or nothing he favored the Panama route, as he wanted to see a canal built, and one will be built. Notwithstanding the efforts of certain people who are striving by their circulation of false rumors or other methods to delay or defeat the construction of the canal, the President said they will be disappointed, for there is going to be a canal. Health conditions on the Isthmus, he said, are better now than ever before. The President said:

"If we build the canal we must protect it and police it ourselves. We must therefore bring up and keep up our navy to the highest point of efficiency.

"In the event of war the American people must rely mainly upon volunteer soldiers. While it is comparatively a simple act to turn a man into quite a good soldier, you can neither improvise a battleship or the crew of a battleship. It is not necessary that we should have a particularly large navy, but it is necessary that ship for ship, it should be a little the best in the world."

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Oct. 23.—President Roosevelt's special train arrived in Montgomery at midnight, exactly on time. The President will spend the night just outside the city, his train being sidetracked. The train will leave at 7 o'clock tomorrow morning for Tuskegee, where it is scheduled to arrive at 8:30 a. m.

Young Italian, Tramping from San Francisco to Italy, Is Picked Up in New York.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Alfred Decardo, aged 22, no home, told Magistrate Whitman in Essex Market court today that he had walked from San Francisco to this city on his way to Italy to see a sweetheart who was dying. Magistrate Whitman sent him to the charities department.

Decardo was arrested last night on the charge of building a fire in the street. He said that he had been there an hour trying to keep warm.

"I arrived two days ago," said Decardo, "from California. My father got a letter one day saying that a young girl whom I loved was going to die before long. We had been playmates and we both grew up with the idea we would some day be married. Though we had but little there was something that urged me to try for it, and one day I started out. I expected here to go aboard a steamer to work my way across to Italy."

HARRIMAN DROPPED OUT.

Could Lets Him Out of the Directory of the Rio Grand Western.

SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH, Oct. 22.—The annual meeting of the Rio Grande Western Railroad Company was held today. The meeting was attended by Vice President Schlacks, Chief Counsel Valle and Treasurer Colton, holding proxies for nearly all outstanding stock.

The board of directors was re-elected with the exception of E. H. Harriman, who was dropped in favor of A. H. Calif of New York. George J. Gould resigned several months ago from the directorate of the Union Pacific and other Harriman lines, and Mr. Harriman's retirement as director of the Gould properties followed.

HERO IS MODEST.

Railway Brakeman Who Extinguished Fire and Saved Car of Powder, Remains Unknown.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—A brakeman who refused to tell his name, fought a fire on a car loaded with powder, near the factory of a local gun concern today.

The brakeman knew there was no time to call the firemen, and, seeing a locomotive near seized a water bucket and filling it from the tank poured bucket after bucket of water on the flames. When nearly exhausted he subdued the fire, which had almost burned through the woodwork.

COX PROMISES MAJORITY

of it referring to Cox are being printed for circulation throughout the county. Chairman Smith of the county campaign committee says he believes it will make from 3,000 to 5,000 Democratic votes in the county. However, these estimates are based upon nothing more substantial than wishes. What is more reliable is that there are up to this time registered in Hamilton county about 56,000 voters, of whom not more than 10,000 are known Democrats and doubtful according to the organization's poll.

There are two registration days, but from these figures it is scarcely possible to change the result with the additional registration. Cox's lieutenants keep close tab on every voter in the county by means of a card index, and in this way they are able to give a very accurate forecast of any election. Hence when Cox sends word to the headquarters of the state committee that Hamilton may be relied upon for 20,000 majority for Herrick the figures are taken at par value. The Taft speech continues to be almost the sole topic of conversation in political circles and every worker in both parties is trying to figure out what effect it will have on the situation.

Republicans Expect Good Result.

Prominent Republicans here are inclined to believe it cannot fail to do good for Herrick. They realize that the persistent cry of bossism raised by the Democrats up through the state has aroused a considerable prejudice against Cox and the Cincinnati organization. And, the allegation that Herrick owes his nomination to Cox has impressed a good many Republicans who have been wavering between their prejudice and party fealty.

These weak-kneed brethren will be quite likely influenced by the argument of Secretary Taft that there is no more reason in accusing Herrick of being a Cox man because Cox is supporting him, than there would be in saying that Roosevelt is a Cox man because the Cincinnati machine supported Roosevelt last year. This is a logical argument that will doubtless release a great many Herrick votes that have been tied up in uncertainty.

On the other hand, it is estimated that down here in Hamilton county the speech will do the Republican cause no harm, even though the organization finds it a bitter pill to swallow. Those Republicans who are off the reservation this year have already hit the trail and are not expected to return. Those who will stand by the ticket will do so regardless of what is said against Cox or the organization. Consequently, Cincinnati Republicans, endeavoring to make an accurate and cold-blooded estimate of the effect of the speech, believe the party will not suffer from it.

Herrick Will Win Easily.

Estimates of Herrick's plurality in the state vary from 25,000 to 100,000. One newspaper here publishes a table by counties showing that Herrick will carry the state by 87,000. Another paper estimates Herrick's majority at 51,000, from a poll of counties made by correspondents throughout the state. The difficulty of making an accurate guess at the result is appreciated, when it is considered that both parties admit large defections in their ranks, but both claim greater gains than losses. However, the Republicans are daily gaining confidence, and are now looking forward to a decisive victory.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Secretary of War Taft, who arrived in the city this morning, expressed himself as being somewhat surprised at the many inferences from his speech at Akron on Saturday.

"I only said what I thought and have nothing to retract," said the secretary. "It appears to me that the people of Ohio should re-elect Gov. Herrick on account of his excellent administration of the affairs of the state. I would vote for him if I had an opportunity, and it appeared to me that his claim for re-election does not rest entirely upon the fact that he is a Republican. I cannot see why the objections to Cox's methods in Cincinnati should have any effect upon the state election."

NIGHT COURSES OPEN NOVEMBER 20

Five-Year Instructions Are Offered Students at Carnegie Technical Schools.

REQUIREMENTS FOR ENTRANCE

The Carnegie Technical schools' regular night courses in the school of applied science will open on Monday, November 20. Five year courses are offered to students desiring to pursue studies preparing them for service in any one of the following vocations—architectural, civil, electrical, chemical, railway motive power, foundry and mechanical practice. All students, irrespective of the course they may select, must pursue the same studies during the first two years; the course of instruction being designed to give a broad fundamental knowledge of the principles underlying the applied sciences. Specialized instruction leading to a specific vocation will be offered only to those students who, in the first year, give satisfactory evidence of their capacity to pursue the more advanced studies outlined in the remaining years of the course.

Applicants for admission to these courses must be at least 16 years of age and show evidences of a natural aptitude for the work. They will be examined in the following subjects:

English—Ability to express thought in clear, concise and accurate English.

Mathematics—Arithmetic and algebra as far as quadratics.

Drawing—Plane geometry or mechanical drawing.

Science—Elementary physics. The examinations for entrance will be held at the school buildings on Monday, November 13, at 7 p. m.

Instruction the First Year.

During the first year instruction will be given in mathematics, drawing, physics, chemistry, strength of materials and English. The general training given in these subjects during the first two years is intended to prepare students for more advanced and specialized studies during the remainder of the course, and serves in addition to disclose their fitness for specific vocations, thereby enabling them to select that occupation in life for which they have the greatest capacity. The system of instruction aims to train the reasoning faculties; to develop the power of practically applying scientific principles and of utilizing, in the industrial fields, the knowledge acquired in the school. Energy, inlative and individual capacity are recognized as of paramount importance, and emphasis will be laid upon the necessity of forming habits, character and associations, which will make these traits of permanent productive value.

What it Costs to Attend.

For residents of the city of Pittsburgh a tuition fee of $5 a year will be charged. For all other students the fee will be $7 a year. This fee must be paid on or before Friday, November 17, 1905. A breakage fee of $3 in addition to the above must be deposited by each student, the unused portion of which will be returned at the end of the school year. Each student is expected to own his own drawing instruments, which may be procured from the school at cost price.

Applicants will report at the school building for examination on Monday, November 13, at 7 p. m. Regular classes will commence on Monday, November 20. Classes will be held on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings of each week, from 7:30 to 9:30. There will be no session of the school on legal holidays, and a week's recess will be given at Christmas. The school year 1905-1906, will end on May 4, 1906. Owing to the limited space available for teaching only a comparatively small number of students can be admitted to the night classes for the school year 1905-1906.

Special Night Courses.

Special night courses for students of an advanced type will be opened during the coming winter. The titles of these courses and the dates when they will be started will be announced later. In advance of the bulletins describing these special advanced courses, the schools make the following announcement which will be supplemented by a more detailed statement to be issued at a later date.

There is offered in the department of architectural practice a course in architectural drawing and design for night students. An atelier will be established under the personal supervision of the professor of architectural practice. The atelier will open on the evening of November 20, and will offer courses in architectural drawing to the younger men, and a course in architectural design to those who give evidence of sufficient experience to profit by it. The applicant's eligibility for admission will be determined by personal interview with the professor in charge. Work in the atelier is planned to meet the needs of men who are employed in architects' offices and is intended to prepare students for more advanced work in the design and construction of buildings. The regular problems and competitions of the Society of Beaux Arts Architects will form part of the winter's work. Written applications must be made for this course and the applicant must be at the school for a personal interview on Wednesday, November 15, 1905, at 7 p. m.

First Class Organizes.

For residents of the city of Pittsburgh the tuition fee for this course will be $5 a year; for all other students, $7 a year. Each student must use his own drawing instruments, which, if desired, may be procured from the school at cost price.

Applicants will report at the School building for personal interview with the professor of architectural practice on Wednesday, November 15, at 7 p. m. The class will commence on Monday, November 20, and will meet on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings of each week from 7:30 to 9:30. There will be no session of the school on legal holidays, and a week's recess will be given at Christmas. The school year 1905-1906 will end on May 4, 1906.

The departments of mechanical, electrical and chemical practice have in course of preparation announcements of special advanced night courses which will begin in January, 1906, dependent on the buildings and equipment being ready for student use.

The full curriculum of the day school was announced yesterday, when the 120 students assembled for recitation. The students are divided into five classes, A, B, C, D and E, there being 24 to a division. Physics, chemistry, mathematics, industrial economics and strength of material will be taught during this term.

At a meeting of the class yesterday afternoon the following organization was effected: President, Fred S. Hunt, Munhall; vice president, Clarence Overend, Pittsburgh; secretary, Frederick E. Foster, Boston; treasurer, Robert Parsons, Rutland, Vt. Nothing was done toward forming any kind of an association, but it was stated that later in the term a hockey team and glee club would probably be organized.

For students who have had practical experience and whose occupation prevents their attendance at day school there is offered this winter a special night course embracing instruction in three subjects, mathematics, physics and English. No student can be admitted to this course without a personal interview and the number is limited to the available teaching space. Tuition fees for special night students are as follows. For residents of Pittsburgh, $5; for non-residents of Pittsburgh, $7.

C. C. HERR ARRESTED.

Real Estate Agent Indicted for Offense Alleged to Have Been Done in Atlantic City.

Clifford C. Herr, a real estate agent at 614 Homewood avenue, was arrested yesterday in Wilkinsburg by Detective Lally on a bench warrant issued by Supreme Court Justice Swayze of New Jersey. Herr has just been indicted for embezzlement alleged to have been committed in Atlantic City. William Wilson, an Atlantic City detective, is here in connection with the case.

The allegation is that Herr, who last spring managed the Hotel Warren in Atlantic City, embezzled $2,000 from a Mrs. Winters. Herr said last night that he was innocent of any crime and that Mrs. Winters was interested in the hotel.

SIX WOMEN ARE FIRE VICTIMS

Mrs. Emma Soulsby of Allegheny Is Fatally Burned by Gasoline Explosion.

OTHERS TRY TO SAVE HER

Using gasoline to clean clothes and the gasoline being exploded by the flame of a gas stove, Mrs. Emma Soulsby was badly burned yesterday afternoon at her home, 529 Avery street, Allegheny, and will die. Five other women, who attempted to save her life, were also burned, one seriously. The victims are:

MRS. EMMA SOULSBY, aged 25, fatally burned; removed to Allegheny hospital.

MRS. FRANK BOHN, aged 65, burned about the hands and face, back and left arm sprained; condition serious.

MRS. MARY SCHROYER, aged 60; hands burned.

MISS BERTHA HEBURG, aged 19; face and hair burned.

MISS PAULINE GOTTWALD, aged 20; face, hands and hair burned.

Mrs. Soulsby and her husband, George J. Soulsby, reside on the third floor of 529 Avery street. About 3 o'clock Mrs. Soulsby was cleaning clothes and using gasoline for the purpose. She was pouring the fluid from a can into a basin lying beside a gas stove. The flame from the gas stove ignited the gasoline and instantly there was a terrific explosion. The explosion cast burning gasoline over Mrs. Soulsby and the whole room.

Covered with fire from head to foot she ran down two flights of stairs and back through a hallway into the sewing room on the first floor occupied by Mrs. Frank Bohn, where Miss Bertha Heburg and Miss Gottwald were assisting Mrs. Bohn in making dresses. The frantic woman in her fright and agony leaped into the room screaming and threw her arms around the aged Mrs. Bohn.

Mrs. Bohn fell back over an ironing board with Mrs. Soulsby on top of her. The two young women ran into a closet to get some blankets to smother the flames, but a table overturned in the struggles of Mrs. Soulsby and Mrs. Bohn shut them in the closet. Maddened by her sufferings Mrs. Soulsby rushed into Avery street, screaming and begging for help. Mrs. Schroyer, who keeps a small store at 603 Avery street, just opposite the scene of the fire, and Mrs. Schwartz, who resides in the rear of Mrs. Schroyer's house, ran to the rescue of Mrs. Soulsby.

Mrs. Schroyer tore away the burning clothing from Mrs. Soulsby and Mrs. Schwartz helped the Misses Heburg and Gottwald wrap blankets around the unfortunate woman. They carried her into Mrs. Schroyer's store and called a physician.

An alarm of fire was sent in from box 114. The room in which the explosion occurred was gutted and the stairways burned. The remainder of the house was also damaged by water and smoke. The loss to the Soulsby family is $300, to the building $500 and other losses amount to $200. Miss Heburg, who was burned trying to save Mrs. Soulsby, lives at 28 Diana street, Miss Gottwald at 12 Rock street.

INSPECT PLANS FOR OLD BETHANY'S NEW LIBRARY

The executive committee of Bethany college of Bethany, W. Va., met yesterday in the rooms of the Pittsburgh chamber of commerce to examine plans prepared for a new library to be built at Bethany. A check for $25,000 donated by Andrew Carnegie for the library building has been in the committee's hands for some time. It was given with the condition that a like sum must be contributed from other sources before it could be made available. The following members of the committee attended the meeting: Hon. W. H. Graham, chairman; the Rev. Dr. T. E. Cramblett, president of Bethany college; Dr. Cadwallader Evans, W. A. Dinker, W. R. Errett, George H. Anderson, J. M. Kidd, W. C. Lyne, Pittsburgh; M. M. Cochran, Uniontown, Pa.; the Hon. Thomas W. Phillips, New Castle, Pa.

BOY IS FOUND WITH BADLY WOUNDED HEAD

A mysterious case of assault took place near Morton Saturday night which almost resulted in the death of Luther Gilbert, a 12-year-old son of Uriah Gilbert of Dravosburg. The boy was found unconscious and bleeding from a jagged wound in his head. Yesterday young Gilbert was unconscious most of the time. He is unable to give any coherent account of his injury. County Detective Englert is working on the case.

Library Students Are Assigned.

Students connected with the training school for children's libraries at the Pittsburgh Carnegie library have been assigned as follows: Miss Mary Frances Carpenter, made general assistant, children's department; Miss Mary M. Craig, Miss Adelaide L. Martin and Miss Ruth K. Field, made children's librarians in Cleveland public library; Miss Amena Pendleton, children's librarian of Brooklyn public library; Miss Elizabeth N. Robinson, children's librarian, Lincoln, Neb.; Miss Bolette Sontum, children's librarian at Wylie avenue branch; Miss Katherine H. MacAlarney, children's librarian at the Philadelphia free library.

Two Roads to Be Improved.

The grand jury in their returns yesterday made a favorable recommendation upon the bill to improve the Leechburg and Logans Ferry road in Plum and Penn townships.

McKEESPORTERS MUST WALK TO THE RIGHT

As the result of numerous collisions of pedestrians on Saturday nights in Fifth avenue, McKeesport, Mayor Falkenstein says it will be necessary for councils to pass an ordinance compelling pedestrians to keep to the right on the sidewalk, just as drivers are compelled to drive to the right.

"If the people would only help us the police would not have nearly so much trouble on Saturday nights," he says. "Don't zigzag on the streets. Keep to the right. I have known persons to have costly bundles jostled out of their arms and broken by the fall to the sidewalk. I wish I had the authority to impose a fine of $5 or $10 on any offender of this kind."

It Quiets the Cough

This is one reason why Ayer's Cherry Pectoral is so valuable in consumption. It stops the wear and tear of useless coughing. But it does more—it controls the inflammation, quiets the fever, soothes, heals. Ask your doctor about it, and do as he says.

"Ayer's Cherry Pectoral has been a regular life preserver to me. It brought me through a severe attack of pneumonia, and I feel that I owe my life to its wonderful curative properties."—WILLIAM H. TRUITT, Wawa, Pa.

SUN SPOT HAS DOUBLED SIZE

Observations Show That Apparent Area of Solar Cyclone Is 200,000,000 Square Miles.

IT WILL VANISH TOMORROW

Astronomers all over the country are taking much interest in the enormous "sun spot" or solar cyclone, in regard to which Dr. John A. Brashear wrote an article for The Gazette a week ago. Dr. Brashear is himself still following the phenomenon closely. In an interview yesterday he said:

I see by the newspapers my good friend Father Ricard of Santa Clara college has been making a series of measures of the great solar cyclone.

His measurements indicate that the disturbed area is now nearly twice as great as when it was measured on the opposite limb of the sun. Tremendous changes have taken place in this spot area during the past week and at this writing has little resemblance to its appearance last Monday.

In crossing the sun's meridian it must have sent its electrical radiations above or below the earth's orbital position, as I have seen no records of electrical disturbances, although faint aurora was noticed just as the eastern end of the sun spot crossed the central meridian.

The return of this great "spot" will be watched with interest. It will disappear on Wednesday to return, if not dissipated, in twelve and a half days, the period of rotation of the sun being rightly 25 days.

About 2 p. m. Saturday Mr. Ludewig and I were studying the above noted solar cyclone when we noticed another large spot entering upon the eastern limb of the solar disc, but of a totally different character from its colleague on the western limb.

Sunday morning it had advanced well on the sun's surface, and several observations indicated that it did not have the cyclone character of the old spot. However, instead of being broken into almost innumerable nuclei, one immense nucleus with its surrounding penumbra was alone visible.

Today but little change has been noted, except that east of the spot-area, now well advanced on the disc, there is an immense filo of faculae—"something on the sun brighter than the sun itself." This evidently shows that while the spot seems to be in a measure quiescent, it is the cause of great disturbance following in its wake.

It would be a magnificent sight could we see the great explosions of hydrogen, calcium and other gases thrown up from these solar storms. We can see them on the sun's limb, i. e., on its edge, by the aid of the spectroscope, in their true spectrum colors. And they can be photographed by the aid of that wonderful instrument, the spectroheliograph, but this latter instrument does not show the normal tints of these great solar flames. Preparations are being made at the new Allegheny observatory to do this work on a very large scale when perhaps we may learn more of these mysteries of our great luminary.

As this is near the time of the maximum sun spot period, we may expect these sun spot disturbances for several months to come, the period from maximum through minimum to maximum again being about 11 years.

It has been recognized for many years that when the sun spot period is at its maximum, the corona is at its minimum. All reports received from the various eclipse parties that were successful in seeing the total phase of the solar eclipse on August 30, indicate that the corona was less in extent by far than is was in the eclipse of May 28, 1900. I well remember the beauty and great extent of the solar corona during that eclipse. At that epoch the sun spot period was not far from its minimum.

Both spots were visible to the naked eye this afternoon, indeed, the dark nucleus of the new spot is perhaps the largest in area of any single nucleus I have ever seen. Though it was not measured, by estimation it must cover an area of 200,000,000 square miles. Only our great luminary gets up such exhibitions of its latent forces on a gigantic scale.

GRADUATES ORGANIZE.

Local Members of Delta Kappa Epsilon Form Western Pennsylvania Branch.

About 40 members of the Delta Kappa Epsilon society of this section met at the Union club last night and organized a branch association in which graduates of colleges and universities residing in Western Pennsylvania will be eligible to membership. This is one of the largest Greek letter fraternities in the country.

It was decided to send a delegate, who will be selected later, to represent the local branch at the national convention, which will be held on November 8 and 9 in New York city. Victor H. Metcalf, secretary of the department of commerce and labor; former Secretary of State H. A. Herbert, and Col. John J. McCook will be among the speakers at the convention.

Among local prominent members of the Delta Kappa Epsilon are Willis F. McCook, W. N. Frew and Oliver McClintock. The officers of the local association are Thomas D. Chantler, president; A. H. Anderson and W. A. Way, vice presidents; L. C. Bixler, secretary; R. P. Moon, treasurer.

PAY $5,724,566 TO RUN THE CITY

Taxpayers' Burden Shown in Treasurer Steel's Report to Controller Larkin.

$1,224,551 IS DELINQUENT

The taxpayers of Pittsburgh paid in cash for the expenses of the city government this year the sum of $5,724,566 23, according to the report on the financial condition of the city which was made yesterday by Treasurer John F. Steel to Controller Larkin. The report covers all collections made during the year, consisting of both property taxes and water rents.

It shows a net increase in the collections of $347,678 15 over last year, which is due to the fact that the tax rate is one-half mill higher this year than last.

Treasurer Steel's statement shows that the fees of the delinquent tax collector will be extremely fat next year. The city treasurer announces that he has turned over to the delinquent tax collector for collection accounts aggregating $1,224,551 15. On all delinquent taxes a penalty of 5 per cent is added, of which the collector himself retains 3 per cent. From the taxes that went delinquent this year Andrew Fulton, or his successor, next year will reap a profit of $36,736 in fees.

The treasurer's statement to the controller shows that, while the total assessment of property taxes amounted to $5,961,549 42, the cash collected amounted to nearly $1,000,000 below this figure. The sum of $877,042 77 went delinquent; exonerations to the amount of $4,688 62 and discounts amounting to $112,795 61 were allowed.

Over one-third of the amount of water rents assessed this year were not collected, and the unpaid accounts were turned over to the delinquent tax office. The total collections of water rents amounted to $757,543 81. Water rents to the amount of $347,506 38 went delinquent. The exonerations amounted to $23,999 97.

The increase in the collection of water rents over last year amounts to $13,006 74. The statement shows that the expenses of the city government under the present administration have been increasing each year, and that since the last triennial assessment, which was made under the present administration, the assessments upon real estate were so radically increased that over $1,000,000 of taxes fall delinquent each year, and upon this a penalty of 5 per cent must be paid to keep the property from being sold under the hammer.

Besides the $5,724,566 23, which they have already paid this year into the city treasury, the taxpayers will have paid the total sum of $6,949,117, or practically $7,000,000, to maintain the present city government when the taxes classed as delinquent are paid for 1905.

$1.25 for regular $1.75 Long Kimonos of fine flannelette. Well assorted pretty stripes, solid border to match.

$1.50 for $2.50 Kimonos, made of excellent quality of flannelette—navy, light blue or red grounds with Japanese designs. A very attractive garment.

$2.25 for Robes made of German flannel, pink and white, and blue and white stripes. These robes have large pleats back and front; round divided collar, rolling cuffs; finished with satin ribbon; cord and tassel at neck and heavy cord and tassel confining waist.

$1.00 for Eider Dressing Sacques, made of ripple cloth; collar bound with satin, ribbon tie string, or with worsted shell stitch finishing entire garment. Fastened with frogs.

$1.00 for Dressing Sacques of German flannel, pink, blue, gray stripes, collar, sleeves, front and around bottom of garment, finished with embroidered scallops; back of waist shirred and finished with girdle.

75c for Dressing Sacques, flannelette, assorted stripes, large collar; finished at waist with stitched belt of same material.

25c for knee-length Knit Petticoats, pink and white, blue and white.

$1.00 for Flannelette Nightgowns, a dozen different styles from which to select. Different stripes or just plain white. Made with pleats or silk scallops, as preferred.

Evening Waists at $15.00.

A Moderate Price Would Be $20.00.

THE lady anxious to posses a fine waist will not have such another opportunity again this season.

These waists are the highest types of daintiness. They are evening waists, made of Baby Irish, fine lace yoke with medallions, short sleeves. The number is limited.

Football for Player and Spectator.

"That Football is brutal no one who is acquainted with the game will admit. All will concede that the game is rough, but roughness does not constitute brutality." Thus says Fielding H. Yost, the most eminent football player of the West, and author of "Football for Player and Spectator."

In this book the author writes about football much as any intelligent player talks about it. For those who have just a smattering of the rules of the game, as well as for close students, this cleverly illustrated book, and just as cleverly written, will strongly commend itself. Price $1.50, in Book Department.

The Boston Traveler says: "Yost's book on football is quite the most complete of any that has yet appeared. There is no doubt but that his book will have an immense sale from coast to coast."

Of course Yost is an authority on football, for he is one of the noted coaches of the country.

For sale in our Book Store, $1.50.

There is little except a plea in confession and avoidance to the petition of the meat packers. They claim lack of jurisdiction, and because the department of justice secured an injunction to restrain them from illegal practices, they claim immunity from criminal proceedings. It cannot be believed the packers can escape on such technicalities. A suit in equity cannot bar a suit for criminal conspiracy.

Especial marks of respect are to be paid the "Star-Spangled Banner" when played hereafter at United States military posts. An amendment to the army regulations prescribes a salute for the national anthem. It is an inspiring piece of music and a happy setting for the stirring, patriotic words of the song. The war department believes its rendition should receive the highest respect, even though the Prohibitionists consider it chiefly useful for parodying purposes.

The war department's suggestion that soldiers be given an opportunity to learn the art of swimming, wherever practicable, is in line with the recent action of the British army authorities. One of the lessons of the South African war was the necessity of soldiers knowing how to swim. In our own army we have the illustrious example of Gen. Frederick Funston, now almost forgotten. While the majority of soldiers may never have occasion to employ the art in the course of daily duties, swimming is a valuable accomplishment for every man and excellent physical training.

Jeremiah Simpson, former member of congress, is dead. May his ashes rest in peace. He was one of the picturesque characters that came into national view from the breezy west. An adopted son of Kansas, a soldier in an Illinois regiment during the civil war, a native of New Brunswick, Mr. Simpson had a strong foundation of common sense and kindly humor under the veneer of woolly Populism on which he gained election to congress. He played his part with more credit than did the great army of Kansas freaks who danced themselves into favor on the political grave of John James Ingalls.

A meeting was held yesterday to organize citizens for the suppression of the "white slave" traffic in this city. The police administration steadily refuses to do anything to enforce the law enacted for the purpose of punishing this traffic. Here is an opportunity for the Post, which holds up its hands in pretended holy horror over the accusation that J. Lee Plummer voted for a bill to protect this iniquitous traffic. That bill was abandoned when its effect was pointed out, but the Edlis bill is law. Why does the Post not use its influence with its party, in control of the police, to have the law enforced here as well as in Philadelphia?

According to the report of the interstate commerce commission, issued yesterday, 886 persons were killed and 13,783 injured by railway accidents during the 12 months ending June 30. This is an increase over 1904 of 11 in killed and 4,123 injured. It has recently been shown how tables of mortality on foreign railways have been cleverly doctored and figures made to lie, but, nevertheless, it is apparent the loss of life on American railways is unnecessarily large by comparison. Particularly that vast number not classed as employes or passengers. Trespass on railroad tracks must be penalized in this country as it is in every other civilized country.

It has pleased the Post to reprint from Col. Alexander McClure's interesting letter, in the Sunday Gazette, a portion referring to the transfer of the state treasury, May, 1880, from Amos C. Noyes to Samuel Butler. Yet the Post carefully refrained from calling attention to the fact that Amos C. Noyes was the only Democratic treasurer ever elected by the people of Pennsylvania and that Samuel Butler, who refused to accept the accounts until all shortages were made good, was a Republican. Blake Walters, the speculating cashier who committed suicide, was also a Democrat. That one Democratic treasury administration, the last, is a fearful example of what might happen if another Democrat is ever elected to that office.

Rules for the prevention of accidents to pedestrians, suggested by the president of the Pittsburgh Automobile club, might well be committed to memory by every chauffeur. They are simply common sense suggestions that right of way belongs to the pedestrian, that automobiles should be run more slowly at night and should not pass street cars without giving warning, etc. But reliance should not be placed entirely on the judgment of the chauffeur. The police have a duty to perform in enforcing the law. Yesterday at dusk an automobile sped along Center avenue for a mile or more at a speed of not less than 30 miles an hour. This on a busy thoroughfare at the busiest time of the day.

Action Is Necessary.

Robert McAfee, secretary of the commonwealth, has made positive denial of the charge preferred against him by Homer Castle in a speech in Milton. The Gazette believes Mr. McAfee tells the truth. This, however, is not enough. Mr. McAfee owes it to himself, owes it to the business interests of the state and owes it to the public to prosecute Homer Castle for his reckless and defamatory utterances. Castle has been going about the state making charges by wholesale that tend to weaken public confidence in the banks; he has been free with attempts at character assassination. He has been allowed to pursue this course too long. He should have been prosecuted in the beginning. Secretary McAfee cannot afford, now, to hesitate.

There can be no question there was some rotten banking in the case of the Enterprise National of Allegheny, with which Castle professes remarkable intimacy of knowledge. This sort of banking is not common, happily, and it is time to meet the insinuations that it is general. Castle has invited legal action for the purpose of giving his auditors the impression that his statements cannot be refuted. It is the duty of Mr. McAfee to accept that challenge, prosecute to the limit and The Gazette is confident of his ability to prove the charge unfounded and malicious.

By way of example of the character of the Castle fulminations the Post yesterday printed an interview with him in which he revamped an absolutely false story of a debt of Former Senator Quay, alleged to be discharged by the sale of a senatorship in the congress of the United States. That story was circumstantially denied when first floated. The denial was published in the Post among other papers and the editor of the Post knows it is absolutely false. Of such, however, is the whole campaign of misrepresentation and calumny made in the hope of making a Democrat state treasurer.

May Let Contracts.

Secretary Taft's announcement that portions of the Panama canal work may be let by contract is the first official recognition of one of the most practical methods for having that gigantic task accomplished. There are many contracting firms in this country competent to take charge of any single section of the big waterway. Secretary Taft apparently agrees with former Chief Engineer Wallace in the opinion that Culebra cut is too big for any private corporation to undertake. Possibly. Yet it is probable two contracting firms could be found, each to undertake half of it.

American experience has taught the general efficiency of the private contract system, as compared with political management of public works, great and small. The Panama canal should prove no exception to the rule. Primarily the letting of separate contracts will assist greatly in solving the labor problem. A contractor may get labor where he pleases and large contractors usually know where to find the labor they need. Moreover, contracting firms have staffs familiar with the handling of men and machinery on just such work—men who are invaluable and hard to get.

Certain parts of the work, aside from the Culebra cut, must be done by the government, directly through its own agents. Some contracts have been let for auxiliary work. The public will likely take kindly to the suggestion of letting out other portions in the same way—always with due regard to the use of American materials and supplies.

An American Trait.

In one of those excellent speeches which are a feature of his southern tour, President Roosevelt said the other day: "There is one thing which has struck me more than anything else in my journeys from the Atlantic to the Pacific, from the Canadian line to the gulf, and that is, in meeting the different audiences they are fundamentally alike; that wherever you go in this country the average American is a pretty decent fellow, and all that is necessary in order to make him get on well with the other average American is that they should know one another." President Roosevelt might have gone a little further and said that Americans do know one another better than do the fellow citizens of any other nation. This ease in getting acquainted is a distinctively American trait. Observe a group of half a dozen men in the smoking compartment of a railway car. Not one has ever seen the other before, yet in five minutes they will all be chatting together sociably, exchanging not only stories, but views and opinions of mutual profit. Citizens from different sections of the country find in politics, business and current topics many subjects capable of interesting discussion, and the contact of mind with mind is good for all concerned.

A different picture is presented on the other side of the sea. Our English cousins will travel together all day in one of their cell-like compartments and exchange hardly a word. Each newcomer is regarded with a hostile stare by those already in possession, as though he were an impudent intruder. The typical Englishman is hedged about by his ever-present dignity. He is afraid of speaking to a stranger for fear he might not belong to his "class." Northerner, southerner, easterner and westerner, in this country, always unite on the ground of common nationality. It was remarked of our volunteer soldiers in Cuba that they were quick to act together, even without officers to set the example. This ability to "get together" is a valuable American trait which is a powerful factor in the national development.

Taking Up Issues.

C. B. Price, county commissioner, has punctured the yarn about how he and Commissioner Evans tried to increase the county salary list. The propositions came from the county engineer and were withdrawn by that gentleman when the situation was explained. Commissioners Price and Evans had no more to do with the matter than Commissioner Clark and Controller Cunningham, and there was no difference of opinion among them.

Now there is an effort to trump up alleged road schemes for political capital. As a matter of fact the road administration has been so good it is especially commended by the Democratic-Citizens platform—that document having been drawn before Commissioner Evans declared for the Republican county ticket. The truth is the discredited Bigelow-Verner-Hays aggregation is desperate, and having no legitimate claims to support is trumping up imaginary issues. The administrations that disgrace Pittsburgh and Allegheny and the record of broken pledges cannot be concealed and will not be forgotten.

Comfort Comes First.

The newest and largest ocean steamer has just arrived at New York on the conclusion of her maiden voyage, and though it was an exceedingly stormy passage, such as may be expected at this time of year, not one of the 1,600 passengers, we are told, suffered in the slightest degree from seasickness. This immunity was due not so much to the great size of the vessel, though that is a factor, as to her method of construction, which insures steadiness at the expense of speed. Some eight days were consumed from Cherbourg, which was not a quick passage. Boisterous weather was experienced throughout, and yet we are told: "At times one scarcely knew whether the ship was moving or not, there was so little vibration. It was hard to realize we were not in some great hotel on land."

A decade ago the cry was for swift ships that would lessen the distance between Europe and America. Intending passengers compared the records of rival steamers and took a pride in traveling on the champion flyers. Slow steamers were patronized by those who could not afford to travel by the ocean greyhounds. The change in popular preference, which is now for comfort and safety rather than excessive speed, has brought about a revolution in shipbuilding. Each new vessel contains some improvement designed to prevent pitching and rolling. Travelers, realizing the benefits resulting from a comfortable ocean voyage, are becoming more sensible. Meanwhile the desire for speed on land is increasing, but it is a more reasonable tendency. Railway traveling, at its best, is by no means as enjoyable as ocean voyaging, and we are generally glad to get it over with as soon as possible. The new style of vessels should materially increase the popularity of ocean travel.

A local contemporary is greatly agitated because a clerk in one of the Harrisburg departments signed the petition to invalidate the Lincoln ticket. It does not, however, try to explain the connection between the Hon. William J. Brennen and the Republican state organization.

A meeting held in Chicago to advocate the suppression of unnecessary noises made such a row that people living near by called in the police. This reminds one of the hot debates that nearly cause free fights at the peace congresses.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS ON WAYS OF WORLD

Why Do We Invite Distress and Disaster Instead of Weal and Health.

By ERASMUS WILSON.

Life is for work, not toil alone with hands;
For he is rich who works with love—'tis he who understands.
—Francis Day.

Since everyone may be happy—comparatively so, at least—why are so many unhappy and miserable?

This ought to be a subject of inquiry for all who have any interest whatever in the welfare of the state, the church or the world in general.

But it is not, and most surprising that it is not, when all are complaining that things social and political are going to the everlasting bow-wows, or tending in that direction.

Even women, the dear creatures to whom men turn when they have nowhere else to turn, or none else upon whom to blame their faults and failures, even these are busying themselves with bridge, and progressive, and fluffy, flowery functions, or discussing topics so dense or so foreign that it is no wonder their poor heads ache, and their feminine brains become dizzy and reel and wobble.

* * *

Just here is a subject fit for the woman's club devoted to the study of mental phenomena: What is making the feminine brain reel and wobble?

It is social conditions, of course, but what particular conditions, or class of conditions?

Why do men become drunken, risk their fortunes at the gaming table, and battle to the death for baubles of fame?

Why are wives neglected and homes wasted by men who have talents sufficient to achieve success in some of the many and various honorable callings?

Why is it that churches complain of slack attendance, even when high-salaried preachers hold the pulpit?

Why is it that boys come from school smoking cigarets and using vulgar and profane language?

Why is the saloon business more lucrative than the book business, or any of the more respectable mercantile branches of trade?

These are the questions of the hour, freed from the frills and fancies that usually surround them.

* * *

Have you ever satisfied yourself as to why men drink liquor, and keep on drinking it until it finally consumes their vitals and destroys them physically, socially and spiritually?

Indeed, it may never have occurred to you that there is a tangible cause for it, and yet you know there can be no tangible, or appreciable results without appreciable, tangible causes. If you don't know this then your schooling has been in vain, for knowledge concerning causes and effects is the aim and object of all schooling.

Drunkenness is the crowning sin, as well as the crowning folly of civilization, and as such demands and is worthy of the most careful and thorough study and investigation by those who have the welfare of the state, the church and the home at heart.

If you are a Christian, or a worthy citizen of a Christian nation, you have all these at heart, for it is by and through these that mankind is lifted to higher social levels, and the world made better.

Let us reason together, compare notes, and swap ideas, so that we may reach rational and right conclusions.

Here are a few notes by one who has long had the drunkard under observation:

"Everyone knows something of the effects of whisky along the lines of vice and crime. But men who drink to excess are not all vicious, and comparatively few are criminals.

"Everyone knows of the poverty and misery that follows in the wake of drunkenness. But men who drink are not invariably poor; neither do they all neglect their families.

"Inebriety in itself is not a question of morals or economics. It is a question of physical condition. It may lead to different complications with different individuals. But there is one point that must be common ground with all men who drink to excess, and that is the physical effect.

"Unquestionably the crime and misery that are justly attributed to whisky have much to do with the false ideas concerning it. These things are too often looked upon as the whole of inebriety, instead of as one of its factors. And the man whose potations are not characterized by such manifestations is apt to think it is because he drinks more moderately, rather than to attribute it to its true cause of a difference in temperament.

"He doesn't like to be mentioned in the same connection with the man who drinks to excess, and if his family or friends venture to suggest that liquor is getting too strong a hold upon him he resents it very quickly.

"It is unfortunate that whisky is not more uniform in its visible results. For it is hopelessly alike in its real effect on every person who drinks it. Whether use is commenced as a social diversion or a physician's prescription, if it is continued it will lead to disease and suffering."

* * *

For many years, even ages, drunkenness has been regarded as a vice rather than a disease or consuming folly. And so settled had this become in the public mind that physicists, investigators, and speculators rarely gave the matter a thought.

It seems to have been left to the late Dr. Keeley to break up this settled order of things and to set people thinking along different lines.

Nor has it taken careful, practical observers long to satisfy themselves that dipsomania, or the desire for liquor, is a physical disorder, or becomes one if the first symptoms are not heeded and proper precautions taken to prevent the further development of the disorder.

Seeing that the sin and the folly of drunkenness are so general and that there are strong evidences that they are in a great measure physical disorders instead of moral vices, and that there are proofs in plenty that this disorder has been cured by practical remedies of a scientific nature, does it not behoove all of us who are interested in the welfare of our fellows to investigate this phase of the subject and tell what we learn about it?

* * *

Does it ever occur to members of men's clubs, women's clubs, preachers, teachers, lecturers, writers, and the rest of industrious mankind, that most of their teaching is impracticable, and most of their work impractical?

What has your club accomplished; that is, has it anything tangible to show for its work? Are the efforts being put forth by it calculated to arouse interest in the minds and hearts of those whom it proposes to benefit? It isn't much use, as you very well know, trying to help those who don't want to be helped, or who won't help themselves when given a chance to do so.

Do your sermons interest those who most need to become interested in the matter you present? If not has it never occurred to you that your effort is mainly wasted?

Are you, as a teacher, successful in interesting pupils in themselves? That is the first thing to be done, for children are naturally selfish, and more concerned about themselves than about others.

When the day is ended, and you are sitting in the quiet of your home, do you ever recall your day's doings and figure out its net results of good for yourself, your neighbor, the church, the state, the home?

FORECASTERS HAVING THEIR OWN TROUBLES

All Calculations in New York Likely to Be Upset—Hearst Making a Strong Fight.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Political forecasters are having their troubles this year. With three tickets in the field, all calculations are likely to be upset, if not in the general results, at least in the size of the majority by which the winning ticket goes through. Only a few days ago no one thought that McClellan would have less than 75,000 majority over all the other candidates. Now it would appear Tammany would be thoroughly satisfied with a plurality over the second man. The odds on the election of McClellan are still almost prohibitive, but that situation may be forced by the wise men of Tammany who thus seek to give the impression of their ticket being a sure winner. But the Hearst men are doing wonderful work, and the reports of disaffection in the Tammany ranks continue to come in, and it is hard to tell just what is going to happen, until the votes are counted.

None of the real politicians who are working for party supremacy are willing to admit there is any fear of the election of the Municipal Ownership ticket, and most people one meets seem to look upon the Hearst campaign as a joke, but there is undoubtedly an undertone of feeling among the workers of the city in favor of municipal ownership, and the workers could elect any ticket they like should they stand together. The result is that Tammany is now going after the labor vote, not by making any particular promises, but by attacking the plans of the Hearst people. McClellan is trying, in his speeches, to show that Mr. Hearst could not possibly keep his promises, even if he was elected. In this way, he hopes to bring the laboring men back to the fold of Tammany.

More Curfew Arrests Made.

The tenderloin police arrested eight lone women last night, despite the speech of Commissioner McAdoo yesterday telling them to be careful, and of course, they picked up some who are undoubtedly respectable. Nor does the fact the magistrates promptly discharge all the prisoners the following morning have a deterring effect. The only possible effect of such assinine arrests is to cause a reign of terror among respectable women who are compelled to be out at night. The other kind consider an occasional night in prison as a part of their regular life.

Saw Policeman Collect Money.

That the police of the tenderloin district collect a regular toll from the women of the streets, is believed by everyone who has taken thought of the question, and that is why respectable women are arrested in an effort to discredit the whole order of Capt. Dooley. A certain gentleman of my acquaintance saw one of these women hand money to a policeman in Broadway a few mornings ago. The incident occurred at 4 a. m., and the only precaution taken by the officer was to step into a dark corner, but one not so dark that the transfer was not seen. Knowing this incident to have occurred, one must be convinced that it is not sporadic, but a part of the system of graft.

Some Matrimonial Ideals.

After announcing that the whipping-post is too good for some husbands, Dr. Charles Edward Locke gives us some points on the ideal husband and wife. The husband should be "gallant, courteous, trustful and deferential; he should trust his wife with his purse as well as with his cooking; he should study to be gentle and kind." On the other hand, the wife should be "loving, contented, provident, domestic, hopeful, progressive and patient." When such a man meets such a woman, Dr. Locke is certain marriage will not prove a failure. But how many of them are there in the world? That is a question the good dominie does not attempt to answer.

"Tom" Paine Farm Is Sold.

The old home of "Tom" Paine, the revolutionary writer, is to be cut up into town lots to allow further expansion from the city of Greater New York. The farm is near New Rochelle, within easy striking distance of the city, and the syndicate expects to make a good profit. The farm consists of 115 acres, a parcel of land given to Paine by the state of New York in appreciation of his work during the revolution. The amount paid for the land is said to have been $140,000, slightly more than it was worth 100 years ago. The only fear now is that the town will become another "Painesville."

Things Done to Footpads.

A couple of footpads who tried to hold up an old man over in Jersey, soon discovered that the outward signs of age are sometimes deceptive. In this case one blow from the prospective victim's fist put one of the robbers to sleep, and it didn't take very long to polish off the other. After finishing the job, the old man called an officer and had the two unconscious robbers carted to jail. This morning they were very much surprised to discover they had picked out a former sparring partner of Jem Mace as an easy mark.

Two More "Fagins" Caught.

Two more alleged Fagins who, the police say, belong in the gang that was recently rounded up by Capt. Murtha and his men of the Eldridge street station, were arraigned today in the Essex Market police court. They were Nicholas Thomas, alias "Nick the Blonde," and George Gordon. Several boys who were lately caught picking pockets told the police that "Nick the Blonde" had taught them how to turn the trick. They said he had a large number of other boys on his staff. The accused were held in $1,000 bail each.

AN APPRECIATION OF THE SMOKY CITY

Writer Who Sees the Beauties of Pittsburgh Through Its Smoke and Grime.

Douglas Story has a very bright article in the November number of Smart Set, under the caption of "The Insignificance of Small Talk," in which he undertakes to cite the peculiarities of the conversation of certain cities, and the humors of the people who come from them. He especially singles out Newport, that has no right to a place within the catalogue of cities. "Its manners," he says, "are the manners of Deauville and Hamburg, of Nice and Naples. But it is a metropolis of dinners, and one must be prepared to speak the language of Newport from the moment one unfolds his napkin. The distinction of Newport rests in the absence of the responsible men of the nation from its cottage hospitality. One meets there the wives and the children, the callow and the gray-headed men of leisure of Fifth avenue, the diplomats from Washington, the foreigners provided with introductions. These are the inhabitants of Newport in the season."

The Absentees.

"The strong men of the country are in Wall street or in Homestead, on the ocean or in the mountains. As a consequence the table-talk of Newport differs from that of any of its cities of origin. The Pittsburgh native forgets iron, and the New Yorker is ignorant of stocks in Newport. One chatters of polo and automobiles, of the latest marriage and the coming scandal. It is as though one sat at Monte Carlo or Baden. The masculine element of the New York or Chicago table is absent, and the talk takes its color from the women—of dresses, equipages, the accustomed chit-chat of the boudoir. Yet is the small-talk of Newport more European than elsewhere in America, more concerned with the doings of duchesses and the peregrinations of princesses. The man of the world needs little schooling to interest his neighbor in Newport.

Different With Pittsburgh.

"It is strangely different with Pittsburgh. There exists a superstition in the United States that Pittsburgh is the ugliest city in the country. So confident has been the assertion that even the poor dwellers therein have grown to believe the libel, so today there is not one photographic view of the city to be obtained in any store in town." (This is a mistake of the writer, but it does not mar what he says subsequently.)

"From his landing the British alien is mockingly advised to visit the Smoky City if he would revive memories of his native fogs and soot showers. He is taught to believe in a dirtier Sheffield, a more disagreeable Glasgow. But Pittsburgh is not an ugly city. It is one of the most picturesque towns of the United States. It is not clean, but neither is Naples.

"It is a town of sudden hillocks, of hecks and hows, with no straight lines and scarce a level hundred yards in its entirety. Its grades are accidental, natural, built up of its smokestacks and its primal topsyturvydom. No Swiss chalet ever perched more confidently on the moraine of a glacier than do these Pittsburgh houses on their khaki-colored kopjes. Each corner brings a new surprise, and every street is a long succession of corners. Were they grass-green instead of grimy, Pittsburgh might rank with the famous beauty spots of Switzerland, Norway and the Rhine.

Beauty Comes With Nightfall.

"Like Aden, Pittsburgh gains in beauty with the nightfall. Then the sloppy streets, the dusty turf, the refuse heaps and the awful advertisement boards are hidden from sight, and the lights gleam out at amazing angles above, below and all around one. House lamps dangle like Chinese lanterns straight above one, blast furnaces belch forth their ruddy spume beneath one's very feet. Climbing impossible inclines, the electric cars gleam like glowworms, and down by the river's edge the steel works glitter as a witches' carnival. It is an orgy of light, and those who have once seen it will never again call Pittsburgh ugly. The smoke Pittsburgh undoubtedly has, in an artistic sense, aids it materially. It gives to the view the haze artists love, which to the inhabitant of the clear-eyed east is unobtainable. In the Atlantic states the brilliant day seeks out every detail to the horizon. There is no shade, no distance. The landscape is a chromograph, hard, brittle.

Distances Mellowed.

"In Pittsburgh distances are mellowed, the jagged ends of vistas are molded off in the smoky blackness and everything is idealized. One may stand in the Carnegie art gallery before a painting, the work of a Pittsburgh boy. It is full of tone, of atmosphere. No artist from the garish east could have painted it, lacking the Pittsburgher's appreciation of hazy softness. The best of American art has been in sculpture and in portraiture, and has been evidenced in Europe. The clear brilliancy of the typical American day is destructive of art, and men with the instinct must seek refuge in other lands if it would find expression. Pittsburgh is probably the last city in the United States one would designate as a nursery of artists, and yet it has put forth its due crop of painters. There are higher qualities in smoke than the merely utilitarian mind has compassed.

"So it is that in Pittsburgh one may speak of other things than iron and steel rails. One's neighbor dilates upon pictures, and the man across the table is busy with the technic of music. It may be the phrasing is crude and inelegant, but the appreciation and understanding are there. Pittsburgh differs from Boston in that it loves music; Boston patronizes music."

"The Rebel Yell."

The President on his journey will become fairly familiar with "the rebel yell." It is a searching cry, and comes from the heart. Had he been old enough, he would probably have made its acquaintance 40 odd years ago, when it was in its lusty youth. Then, as a Union soldier, he would have charged it. Now, it tickles his friendly ear and gives him only pleasure. He will hear it wherever he goes. It is the same in Virginia as in Louisiana, in North Carolina as in Florida. It is all the better for not being a product of machine politics. One hears it at its best when the occasion is industrial or patriotic rather than partisan and when it is spontaneous and does not show the influence of the drillmasters of the stump. Roosevelt is the sort of man to like that sort of cry.—Washington Star.

GREAT-GRANDMOTHER'S QUILT.

Infinitesimal squares and stars
Of faded pink and green and blue,
Upon a ground of yellowed white,
And every stitch so fine and true!

Five thousand stitches at the least
(In one wee square I count three score)
Those gentle, patient fingers wrought—
And goodness knows how many more!

A pretty quilt—it must have warmed
Its maker's heart with modest pride
When in the spare room, bright and new,
'Twas seen by all the countryside.

Like some quaint perfume, faintly sweet,
It breathes across our modern ways
Of quiet mind and tranquil toil,
The calm content of old-time days.

Ah, great-grandmamma—crowned soul!
(Afar?—or near?—who understands?)
With moistened eye and reverent lip
I kiss the work of your dear hands.
—Emily Hewitt Leland in National Magazine.

STORIES FOUND IN THE LOBBIES

Interesting Happenings Concerning the People Who Are Traveling.

"I'm Jack Riley, and if I am crazy I'm a fool."

But his actions seemed to indicate just the opposite. The long, lank backwoodsman was slightly intoxicated. Just enough to make him want to let people know that he was about. He was a well-enough meaning fellow, no doubt, but when he walked into the Baltimore & Ohio station from somewhere out across the hills toward Mt. Lebanon, set his canvas telescope down beside one of the benches in the waiting room and made his announcement, he could not be expected to do otherwise than attract attention. He sat down after announcing his entrance and soon began balancing his walking stick on one of his fingers. Then he began whistling, and suddenly he broke out with "Always in the way." By this time the station officer was at his side and asked him to keep quiet. He did so without a murmur. When the through train to Baltimore was announced and he was asked whether he didn't want that train, he replied that he did not; he wanted to go to a local point. He amused himself with his cane until his train appeared, occasionally chatting with anyone who felt so inclined. The man was dressed almost as the typical backwoodsman—slouch hat, velvet vest, old-fashioned cutaway coat and boots. He went to the train as quietly as any other passenger. His presence at the station caused several persons to linger until after he left.

Farewell Banquet for Holliday.

Something of the high esteem in which Col. W. D. Holliday, the retiring assistant general freight agent of the Wabash system in this district is held, will be shown next Saturday evening at the Duquesne club. At that time all of the traffic managers of the numerous industrial concerns in Pittsburgh will gather at the club banquet hall to do honor to one whom they have learned to love and respect. It is said that the gathering of traffic men will be one of the most representative of the general industrial interests of Pittsburgh that has been assembled for a long time. The testimonial shown by the industrial traffic men is but a small portion of the high appreciation in which Col. Holliday is held. He has been in close touch with the industrial companies, and has done much toward getting the Wabash into line for the immense tonnage that will be enjoyed out of the Pittsburgh district.

Bridge Business in Good Shape.

James A. Huston, Pittsburgh district manager of the American Bridge Company, left for Chicago last evening on the Pennsylvania limited. Mr. Huston said that business in bridge construction and in structural material is very good, and while no large orders have been booked in Pittsburgh recently the shops are kept humming with orders received. He says that the strike of structural bridge workers is not affecting the output of the plants. It was reported that F. M. Ryan of New York, president of the International Association of Bridge and Structural Iron Workers, was in the city yesterday for a conference with the American Bridge Company officers, and left last night for Chicago, but nothing regarding his doings in the city could be learned. Mr. Huston said that Mr. Ryan had had no conference with the bridge company people, so far as he knew.

A Word About Travelers.

The Rev. Cooke Warner of Christ church, Warren, O., who was visiting in Pittsburgh, returned to his home over the Pennsylvania lines last evening.

Col. James E. Barnett of the Tenth regiment, N. G. P., of Washington, Pa., was registered at the Monongahela house while attending to business in the city yesterday.

M. Arkawa, a professor in the University of Tokyo, Japan, and C. Inouye, also of Japan, left for Washington last evening after having spent a week in Pittsburgh as the guests of a Japanese friend.

✦ ✦ ✦

R. C. Dulin of McKeesport yesterday returned from a two months' tour of the west, during which he met one of his six brothers, whom he had not seen for 45 years. Mr. Dulin's brother is a wealthy ranch owner and the meeting took place in Spokane. The brothers have not been together since the civil war, three of them having been soldiers. Arrangements have been made for them to hold a reunion at Minneapolis next year, during the G. A. R. encampment in that city.

PEOPLE WELCOME THE MERCHANTS

Enthusiastic Ovations Are Given at Every Stop of the Special Train.

BANQUET AT JOHNSTOWN

SPECIAL TELEGRAM FROM JEROME J. NORDMAN, Staff Correspondent.

JOHNSTOWN, Oct. 23.—After whirling through the rich industrial country of Western Pennsylvania, from whose every milestone there seemed to breathe a word of sincere welcome, the magnificent 10-car Pullman train bearing 160 members of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association on their fifth trade extension trip came to anchor in a sea of enthusiasm here tonight.

Beginning with a torchlight procession through the streets and concluding with a dinner in the Franklin building, at which 320 covers were laid, Johnstown extended a hospitality that was boundless.

Incidentally, a spirit of reciprocity was shown when Congressman James Francis Burke of Pittsburgh, one of the after-dinner speakers, took occasion to nominate "Bob" Murphy of this city as the next governor of this commonwealth. Mr. Murphy, who followed with a short address, evaded the suggestion.

Among other speakers were Mayor Charles Young of Johnstown, President Lloyd and Secretary Wardrop of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association; W. W. Bailey, editor of the Johnstown Democrat; A. M. Scott and George D. McIlvaine of Pittsburgh and James N. Mufr, superintendent of Johnstown schools. A. H. Walters acted as toastmaster. The Merchants and Manufacturers' quartet and a local orchestra furnished an excellent musical program.

Committee Meets Train.

The visitors were escorted here from Blairsville by a local committee consisting of George K. Klein, Frank Hoerle, George W. Moses, E. B. Entevisle, Clarence Ferguson, H. W. Mattern, J. A. Church, Frank R. Callihan, R. R. Thomas and W. S. Capler.

While the social features of the trip are the first considered, much business is being done, and its diversity is shown in the fact that in Latrobe one visitor sold a bill of diamonds to a new account while another sold butchers' tools.

Services opened at 8:45 this morning in front of the First Reformed church in Irwin. B. F. Jones, representing the local merchants, delivered a short address entitled "Take the Money." He told of an Irwin bank which had so much money that a thief came up from Pittsburgh and took it. He said there was more money in Irwin now. President Lloyd and Secretary Wardrop responded. They did at all points visited.

A committee of business men from Jeannette accompanied the train to their city where a band was in waiting and a march taken to Elks' hall. Here A. P. Landis delivered the welcome and John F. Ely, president of council, presided.

Serve an Elegant Lunch.

Announcement was made that Otto Richter, proprietor of the Marian hotel, had come all the way from New York to prepare a lunch for the visitors. The lunch and Otto were visited and everybody was glad he came home.

At Greensburg a band led the way to the St. Clair theater. When the curtain arose a pretty stage picture was presented with several gentlemen seated in semi-circle.

E. J. Perry, mayor of the town, was interlocutor; Secretary James W. Wardrop was an end man, and Attorney A. M. Sloane held down the Greensburg end on the opposite side of the stage. All made speeches.

At Latrobe the visitors were marched to the City hall and at the door were told that all rules were suspended. The only rule exhibited appeared on huge placards on every wall, declaring "spitting on the floor is prohibited." In the absence of the burgess, J. B. Weaver extended a warm welcome.

At Derry James E. Lowry presented the visitors with a gold medal key on behalf of the merchants. The program shows that Blairsville has a population of 5,000. That's true. They were all at the station.

T. D. Cunningham expressed a warm welcome from the base of the McKinley monument which was erected from contributions of school children.

Indiana Gives Welcome.

Indiana offered a rousing and sincere welcome. The band was assisted in creating enthusiasm by a delegation from the Indiana Normal school. Mayor Walter Jackson delivered the welcome from the steps of the American house. He told of the fact that all the "knockers" had been driven out of town and to celebrate this event he presented President Lloyd with a gilded hammer which he asked to be thrown into the waters where the Monongahela and Allegheny rivers meet, to be submerged forever more.

He followed this with a presentation of a gold key. E. C. Gilbert, county Republican chairman, and J. A. Crossman, headed a committee who showed the visitors a true and sincere welcome. During Mayor Jackson's address he referred to the beauty of the women of this town. A newspaper man who wanted to inquire into the truth of this declaration was nearly lost from the party.

While exchanging opinions with two fascinating damsels the train pulled out for Johnstown and left him behind. Fortunately the flagman on the rear of the train stopped the special in answer to the wild gesticulations of several hundred people who ran down the track endeavoring to have the train stopped. The train was stopped a half mile from the station and the war correspondent climbed aboard.

GOVERNOR FOLK BURNED OUT.

Executive Mansion at Jefferson City Destroyed by Early Morning Fire.

JEFFERSON CITY, MO., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Gov. Folk, his wife and guests were driven from the governor's mansion here by flames early today. All were routed in their night clothes, and several had narrow escapes from being overcome by smoke.

The governor had been entertaining friends over Sunday, and all were asleep when the fire was discovered by a watchman at 3 o'clock. The mansion was damaged to the extent of $10,000.

PRESIDENT LOUBET ARRIVES IN MADRID

MADRID, Oct. 23.—President Loubet arrived here at 2:30 p. m., and was accorded a magnificent reception. King Alfonso met him at the railroad station, and salutes were fired and enormous crowds gave him an ovation. M. Loubet was conducted to the palace and later visited the royal family. He will be entertained tonight at a gala dinner at the palace. The city is entirely given up to festivities in honor of the distinguished visitor.

Terms Do Not Suit Americans.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 23.—J. Pierpont Morgan, Jr., and George W. Perkins were presented to Foreign Secretary Lamsdorff by Secretary Eddy today. No industrial concessions will be granted in connection with the big Russian loan which is being negotiated. The Americans do not seem to be particularly pleased with the terms offered.

Green Must Go to Washington.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The supreme court of the United States today decided that State Senator George E. Green of New York must come to Washington for trial on the charge of conspiring with George W. Beavers and others to defraud the government in the purchase of supplies for the postoffice department.

SECOND CHARGE FOR CUNLIFFE

Another Commitment Lodged Against Him for Getting Away With $750 and Upwards.

GERVAISE GRAHAM PROTESTS

Another charge was made against E. G. Cunliffe, the express robber, yesterday, and a jail commitment was added to the one on which Cunliffe is already imprisoned. The new accusation charges him with larceny, as does the old one, but there is a big difference in the bail stated on each commitment.

The first case against Cunliffe was brought by R. J. Campbell, route agent of the Adams Express Company, who charged Cunliffe with stealing the package containing $100,000. The bail is $50,000. The second charge was made yesterday by C. H. Hiner, local manager of the express company, who swears Cunliffe stole $750 and upwards. This is money which he took directly from the safe of the company. The bail required in this case is $1,000.

Cunliffe can get as long a sentence on the charge of stealing $1,000 as on the first charge, and it is to take all precautions that he may get as big a punishment as the express company can procure for him that the second charge has been made.

Cunliffe seems to feel very comfortable in jail, and if he realizes the extent of his crime and that at least six years' imprisonment is confronting him, he is not showing it. He misses cigarets, however. For 20 years he has made his own cigarets out of pure tobacco and rice paper, and he thinks it unjust that prisoners in the jail are allowed to smoke a pipe, no matter how strongly it reeks of cheap tobacco, and that the rankest kind of a vile toby may be puffed.

Gervaise Graham of Michigan avenue, Chicago, maker of cosmetics, has written to the police protesting against the reported intention of the detectives to prevent Cunliffe from getting any sleep so that in desperation he would be forced to reveal the hiding place of the $10,000 which the express company has not been able to find. Mrs. Graham is behind time, for whatever could be sweated out of Cunliffe by preventing him from sleeping has already been revealed to the detectives. The woman writes that she is herself a sufferer from insomnia and she knows the "loss of sleep to be the awfulest agony that can be endured." She reminds the chief of police that one of the "cunning tricks" of the Chinese is to prevent prisoners from enjoying sleep until they died of the torture; that in the name of the law the practice cannot be followed in this country, and then adds: "I appeal to you in the name of civilization."

From his cell yesterday Cunliffe issued a statement denying that he had been subject to abuse by the detectives in their efforts to secure from him a confession. He insists that he was at all times treated with courtesy and kindness.

JAPAN'S EMPEROR REVIEWS HIS VICTORIOUS WARSHIPS

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

TOKYO, Oct. 23.—The naval review today passed off without the slightest hitch. It was a most impressive sight, not, however, on account of the class and number of the ships, but as a conglomeration of fighting craft fresh from the war and crowned with victories of unprecedented magnitude. Three hundred and eight warships were drawn up in six lines. The emperor, on board the armored cruiser Asama, led by the protected cruiser Yaeyana and escorted by the gunboats Tatsua, Chihaya and Manshu, passed along the front of the first line, which was headed by the battleship Shikishima, Admiral Togo's flagship.

The emperor received in audience on board the Asama Admiral Noel and the captains of the British and American warships present (the battleship Wisconsin and the cruiser Cincinnati.) All sorts of large and small vessels in the bay and all the available points of vantage along the shore were densely covered with eager spectators.

STEEL RAIL PRODUCTION SURPASSES ALL RECORDS

Next Year Bids Fair to Show a Further Increase and All Mills Are Crowded.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The production of all kinds of steel rails in the United States will total 2,600,000 tons for the calendar year. The gross value of the output will be about $72,800,000.

Last year the total rail production was 2,284,711 tons, worth gross, $63,971,908. This was a decrease of 23.8 per cent in production compared with 1903.

Next year the steel rail production will approximate if it does not exceed 3,000,000 tons. The price will remain at a minimum of $28 a ton, so that the gross value, not counting exports, will be around $84,000,000.

At this time the booked orders for rails for 1906 delivery are around 1,800,000 tons. Most of the mills of the Steel Corporation are booked from six to eight months ahead and many of the independent mills will be out of the market until May or June of next year.

Head of Mt. Union College to Speak.

The first in a series of mass meetings for Allegheny citizens will be held at 8 p. m., next Tuesday in the Arch Street Methodist Episcopal church, Allegheny. Dr. A. B. Ilker, president of Mt. Union college, will speak on "Our Duty Toward the Unchurched Masses of Our City." The meetings will be preliminary to a big central mass meeting at which an important social, religious and industrial enterprise for Allegheny will be organized.

Changes Value of Shares.

DOVER, DEL., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—A certificate of amendment was filed here today to the Harris & Adams Co. of Pittsburgh, Pa., changing the par value of shares. The company was first incorporated April 20, 1905. The incorporators are: Samuel R. Harris and W. E. Adams, both of Pittsburgh, and William Pyle of Wilmington, Del. The business of the concern is to do a general contracting business and decorating of the same.

HENRY PHIPPS PAYS BIG RENT

Pittsburgh Steel Magnate Occupies Lord Crewe's House in Aristocratic Street.

NEEDS PAINTING BADLY

(Special Correspondence to The Gazette)

LONDON, Oct. 16.—In a severely plain Georgian mansion Henry Phipps, Pittsburgh multi-millionaire and former partner of Andrew Carnegie, is now settling down for a term of residence in town. If he were in the United States it is doubtful whether he would give a second glance to such an ordinary looking building—especially if it needed paint so badly as does this one—but seeing that Mayfair is small and Americans desiring houses therein are numerous, Mr. Phipps cannot afford to be too particular.

The new headquarters of the Phippses belongs to the earl of Crewe, and is in the most desirable part of Curzon street—a thoroughfare often called London's Fifth avenue. Unlike his American neighbors of distinction, however, Mr. Phipps is sheltered from observation of the curious by a 12-foot brick wall, and the tourist from Pittsburgh who wants to see how his fellow townsman lives will have to face a lodge keeper of discretion. As Lord Crewe has owned the place only three years, it is better known as the house of the Stuart-Wortley family.

It was built in 1763, long before Mayfair was a fashionable place of residence, and after generations of occupancy by the Stuart-Wortleys it cost his lordship of Crewe $450,000. During the last few years the value of the property in this grimy little street has steadily increased so that although no information is forthcoming as to the actual amount Mr. Phipps pays in rent, it is safe to assume it runs into five figures. The ordinary dwellings in this neighborhood let for $10,000 to $15,000, just for the "season" and Crewe house is an aristocrat among them.

Exactly across Curzon street from Mr. Phipps' new home towers Sunderland house, whose curtainless windows now reveal empty rooms and furniture all swathed in hollands to await the return of the duchess of Marlborough from America. The Marlborough residence is the most imposing building in the street and is one of the finest private residences in London.

A few steps up Curzon street toward Park Lane are Mrs. Adair's town house, and the residence of the Bradley Martins. Down the other way toward Berkeley square are several other houses occupied from time to time by Americans of prominence, while just back in Bruton street, is the well-known residence of Mrs. Frank Mackay.

UNITED STATES TREASURY HOLDS $748,425,923 GOLD

National Circulation Has Increased Until the Per Capita is $31.08—Highest Mark Reached.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—In his annual report United States Treasurer Treat says that the continued increase in the circulation is a matter for just pride, and has attracted the admiration and attention of the financiers of the world. During the year the general stock of money grew $79,805,729, making a per capita circulation of $31.08.

There was a continued increase in the proportion of gold and national bank notes in circulation, and no other government has ever held so much gold as the $748,425,923 in the United States treasury in the middle of October.

Expenditures during the past two years exceeded receipts by more than $64,000,000, accounted for by the purchase of the Panama canal property.

Is Stricken While at Work.

While his wife and child were watching him at work in a potato field yesterday morning, Robert Rosenburg, a gardener of Chartiers, near McKees Rocks, was stricken with paralysis and died a few moments later. Rosenburg was aged 41. He is survived by his widow and one child.

The Death Roll.

Mrs. Frances C. Merchant.

Mrs. Frances C. Merchant, widow of the Rev. Dr. A. J. Merchant, died at the family home, Meadville, Pa., at 1:30 o'clock yesterday afternoon. For seven years Mrs. Merchant had resided in Meadville, her husband before his death being pastor of the State Street Methodist Episcopal church and presiding elder of the Erie conference. Deceased was born in St. Clairsville, N. Y., 69 years ago, being married to Dr. Merchant in 1857. For nearly 30 years Mrs. Merchant had resided in what is known as the Erie boundary, being a resident of Greenville, Pa., for a number of years. Interment will take place tomorrow afternoon in the Greenville cemetery. Mrs. Merchant is survived by three daughters, Mrs. J. M. Thoburn, Jr., Allegheny; Misses Gertrude and Jessie, at home, and one son, F. W. Merchant of the Pittsburgh Post.

Michael J. Mahoney.

Michael J. Mahoney, aged 43, a business man of McKeesport, died yesterday at his home in Locust street, that city, after an illness of five months. Mr. Mahoney was born in Ireland and came to this country 17 years ago, locating in McKeesport, where he conducted a fish market for years. He was a member of St. Peter's Roman Catholic church and also belonged to the Ancient Order of Hibernians, the Heptasophs and the Knights of Columbus. He is survived by his widow, mother, two brothers and five sisters. The funeral will be attended by members of the organizations to which he belonged.

T. Frank Siebert.

T. Frank Siebert, aged 23, only son of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Siebert, died Sunday afternoon at his parents' residence, 124 South Winebiddle avenue. His father, F. W. Siebert, is well-known in this county, having for many years been chief clerk to the county commissioners, and is now at the head of the deed registry department of that office. T. Frank Siebert was born in this city and educated in the public schools here. For the past few years he has managed his father's outside interests, being in charge of real estate holdings in the city. He is survived by his parents and one sister, Sadie, at home.

Mrs. James Walsh.

Mrs. Ellen Walsh, aged 68, died yesterday morning at her home in North Braddock. She was the wife of James Walsh and was born in Ireland. When 15 years old her family moved to Baltimore, and after her marriage she and her husband moved to Braddock. She was a member of St. Thomas' Roman Catholic church. Besides her husband she is survived by three daughters, Miss Clara B. Walsh, matron of the Hotel Duquesne; Mrs. W. T. Sherwin of East Pittsburgh, and Miss Katherine Walsh of 3301 Fifth avenue, Pittsburgh.

Mrs. Henrietta Hahn Mendell.

Mrs. Henrietta Hahn Mendell, aged 72, widow of C. H. Mendell, died Sunday at the residence of her son, C. H. Mendell, Jr., 239 Brighton road. She was born in Germany and came to Allegheny 49 years ago. One year later she was married to C. H. Mendell. She was a member of the German Evangelical Protestant church of Juniata street, Allegheny. Three children, Charles H., Conrad and Louise Mendell, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Wagner, of Pittsburgh, survive.

Mrs. Mary Jane Davis.

Mrs. Mary Jane Davis, widow of William Davis of Bedsville, is dead at her home in Dinsmore avenue, Crafton. She was born in Somerset in 1843. Before her marriage she taught school in Westmoreland county. She has lived in Crafton since the death of her husband in 1887. She leaves three sons, Ralph A., Carl E. and James P., all at home. She was a member of the Crafton Methodist Episcopal church.

Obituary Notes.

William Clark is dead at his home in Worthington. He was born near Freeport, Armstrong county, in 1822. Seven children survive him. He also leaves three brothers.

Mrs. Lucy A. Townsend, wife of E. L. Townsend died yesterday at Greensburg. She was 49 years old and is survived by her husband and one daughter, Harriet S. Townsend, at home.

William W. Hunter, manager of the American Bolting Company, died Sunday at Youngstown, from pneumonia. He was born in West Virginia in 1859. Besides his widow he leaves three children.

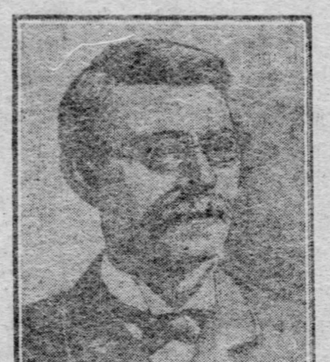
JERRY SIMPSON DIES AT OLD WICHITA HOME

Popular Populist Congressman's Long Battle With Disease Ends Peacefully.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

WICHITA, KAN., Oct. 22.—Jerry Simpson died at 6:05 o'clock this morning. Mr. Simpson was conscious up to five minutes before death. The end came without a struggle.

Ex-Congressman Simpson was born in New Brunswick on March 31, 1842. At 14 he began life as a sailor and during 23 years followed that pursuit, commanding many large vessels on the great lakes. In the civil war he served in the Twelfth



Hon. Jerry Simpson.

Illinois infantry. He came to Kansas in 1878. Originally he was a Republican, but later became a Greenbacker and Populist. He was a member of congress from 1891 to 1895 and from 1897 to 1898, being nominated the last time by both the Democrats and Populists. After he left congress he moved to Roswell, N. M., where he engaged, up to the time of his death, in stock farming. He returned to Kansas a month ago and entered a hospital. His condition became hopeless 10 days ago and since then the patient was kept alive principally by force of will. His widow and son, who came here at the time of his death, survive him.

Death was caused by aneurism of the aorta. Burial will take place at Wichita. The Masonic order will have charge of the funeral.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—"The Sage of Medicine Lodge," as Jerry Simpson was called, was one of the most unique characters in the history of congress. He was swept into the Fifty-second congress by a wave of Kansas Populism. His legislative accomplishment consisted in turning popular eastern sentiment regarding Populism from scorning ridicule to respectful consideration during his service of six years in the Fifty-second, Fifty-third and Fifty-fifth congresses, when he was swept out by another Kansas wave.

VIEWERS GO OVER FILTER SITE IN AUTOMOBILES

Difference of Over $300,000 in the Price Between Director Bigelow and the Owners.

The members of the city board of viewers, appointed by the county court to take testimony and fix the amount that the city shall have to pay for the additional 77 acres condemned for use as a part of the filtration plant at Aspinwall, left the city hall in automobiles yesterday afternoon to view the property personally. There is a wide difference of opinion regarding the value of the property.

The owner is the Delafield estate, the heirs of which reside in Philadelphia. The estate claims, and has introduced real estate men on the stand as expert witnesses to insist, that the property is worth not less than $500,000. Director Bigelow is determined that not more than $300,000 shall be paid for the property.

The viewers desired to personally acquaint themselves with the property and its possible value to the city. They, therefore, decided upon the inspection yesterday and will resume the hearing of testimony tomorrow.

Wants a Fortune for Injuries.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—William Klein, well known as a theatrical lawyer, who was badly injured in the railroad smashup on the Pennsylvania railroad near Harrisburg, Pa., in which his client and traveling companion, Sam Shubert, and other persons lost their lives, today began a suit in the supreme court against the Pennsylvania Railroad Company to recover $200,000 for personal injuries.

Ugly Charge Against a Janitor.

An information was made last night before Alderman E. C. Negley by Mrs. Mary Williams, 312 Park avenue, charging William C. Richards, janitor of the Park Avenue Presbyterian church, with a criminal assault upon her 13-year-old daughter, Birdie. Richards is 44 years old, married and has eight children. He was released on $500 bail for a hearing tonight.

Will Explain Spending of Cash.

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Officials of the Illinois Life Insurance Company have been called upon by the state insurance department to explain a transaction involving the alleged payment of some $65,000 in 1903 at a time when a measure was pending before the Kansas legislature providing for the taking over of the Kansas Mutual Life Insurance Company by the Illinois concern, say the entire affair will be cleared up Wednesday.

PACKERS SPRING NEW PLEA ON GOVERNMENT

Claim Indictments Cannot Be Found on Testimony Forced from Them.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—Declaring that testimony the packers were compelled to produce before the secretary of commerce and labor was used by United States District Attorney Morrison in obtaining an indictment against the packers, and alleging that inasmuch as the same issues as mentioned in the indictment were raised and disposed of in an injunction writ issued by Federal Judge Grosscup, the packers who are under federal indictment here charged with illegal conspiracy attacked today again the famous so-called "Beef Trust" process.

A special plea in bar and an additional special plea in bar were filed by counsel for the packers.

The special plea sets up assertions concerning investigations by the commissioner of corporations, and alleges that the defendants were compelled to testify and to produce certain books and other data, and that thereafter the matter was submitted to the President of the United States and finally to the United States district attorney here, and that the district attorney used the material in seeking indictments against the defendants. Because of these alleged facts, the defendants ask that the indictment be dismissed.

Samuel A. McRoberts, agent of Armour & Co., filed a separate special plea, in which he seeks immunity because he testified before the grand jury, which afterward returned an indictment against him. Under a federal statute, it is alleged, no person shall be prosecuted in the case in which he testified if he is compelled to testify against himself. This plea is held to be good by many, and, although it will be vigorously attacked by the government, it is declared there is a likelihood of the quashing of the indictment in the case of McRoberts. The other pleas are not held to be of great importance by the government. District Attorney Morrison has not decided what action to take in regard to them.

WOULD INJURE CUBA.

Washington Government Points Out Disadvantages of Island Republic's Treaty With England.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—It can be reiterated on the highest authority that although convinced that the proposed Anglo-Cuban treaty is distinctly injurious to Cuba's interests, the Washington government has never indirectly or directly questioned Cuba's full right to negotiate such a treaty with Great Britain or with any other foreign country.

When asked by Cuba for an expression of opinion regarding the proposed treaty with Great Britain, the Washington government outlined the disadvantages, which would accrue to Cuba under such an arrangement. It was pointed out that it would preclude this country from giving to Cuba any further commercial concessions.

Piles Cured

Suffering for Years, and Bed-Ridden From Piles, a Contractor of Marion, Indiana, is Cured by Pyramid Pile Cure.

Trial Package Mailed Free to All Who Send Name and Address.

"I was troubled with piles for several years before I would let it be known. But at last they became so severe that I could not walk and I had to take my bed. I tried everything and anything the doctors prescribed, and took their treatments for a long time. But nothing ever did me any good. I had seen your ad in different newspapers, so I got a 50-cent box and began using them. From the very first I got quick relief and by the time I was starting on my third box I saw I was cured. I have not been troubled with them since. Now you can use this as you please, because it is genuine. Yours, T. A. Sutton, Stone and Cement Contractor, Marion, Ind."

Instant relief can be gotten by using the marvelous Pyramid Pile Cure. It immediately reduces all congestion and swelling, heals all sores, ulcers and irritated parts.

The moment you start to use it your suffering ends and the cure of your dread disease is in sight.

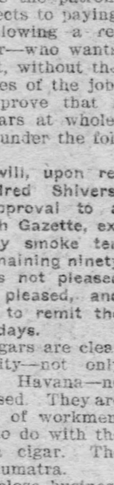
The Pyramid Pile Cure renders a surgical operation foolhardy. Don't hack to pieces those tender muscles which must be intact if a satisfactory cure is to be obtained.

The Pyramid Pile Cure is put up in the form of "easy-to-use," specially made, suppositories. They are soothing, painless, instant and certain.

A trial treatment will be sent you at once by mail, in plain, sealed wrapper, without a cent of expense to you, if you send your name and address to Pyramid Drug Co., 4908 Pyramid Building, Marshall, Mich.

After you receive the sample you can get a regular size package of Pyramid Pile Cure at your druggist's for 50 cents, or if he hasn't it, send us the money and we will send it to you.

When you speak of a "ten-cent cigar" you mean a cigar that costs you ten cents.



This same cigar is to the manufacturer a "$40 per M.," or 4c cigar; to the jobber a "$50 per M.," or 5c cigar; and to the retailer a "$60 per M.," or 6c cigar.

Intrinsically that cigar is worth as much when the manufacturer appraises it at $40 per M., as it is when the retailer hands it over his counter as a "ten-cent straight." The difference between 4c and 10c is what it costs to get the cigar from the manufacturer to you along the old-fashioned trade turnpike with three tollgates.

Now, suppose you go to the maker of your cigars and say to him: "Sell me my cigars at wholesale and I'll take them home myself across lots."

"Oh, no," he will reply, "that wouldn't be fair to the retailer who has bought my cigars to sell at retail price."

I am a maker of cigars who has never sold a cigar to a jobber or retailer to sell again. Hence I am under no obligations to "the trade." I invite the patronage of the man who objects to paying for the privilege of allowing a retailer to sell him a cigar—who wants to buy his cigars at cost, without the arbitrarily added expenses of the jobber and retailer. To prove that I actually do sell my cigars at wholesale prices I offer them under the following conditions:

MY OFFER IS:—I will, upon request, send one hundred Shivers' Panatela Cigars on approval to a reader of The Pittsburgh Gazette, express prepaid. He may smoke ten cigars and return the remaining ninety at my expense if he is not pleased with them; if he is pleased, and keeps them, he agrees to remit the price, $5.00, within ten days.

The fillers of these cigars are clear Havana of good quality—not only clear, but long, clean Havana—no shorts or cuttings are used. They are hand-made, by the best of workmen. The making has much to do with the smoking qualities of a cigar. The wrappers are genuine Sumatra.

In ordering please enclose business card or give personal references and state whether mild, medium or strong cigars are desired.

CARSON TO SPEAK ON SOUTH SIDE

Attorney General Will on Friday Night Address a Big Republican Mass Meeting.

M'KEESPORT RALLY SATURDAY

Attorney General Hampton L. Carson will make an address Friday night at the Republican mass meeting to be held in Turner hall, South Thirteenth street. While here yesterday to argue a case before the supreme court, Mr. Carson assured the managers of the county campaign he would return Friday.

Other speakers at the meeting will be Charles A. O'Brien and Percy A. Shanor. This rally is being held by all of the South Side wards under the leadership of John Bradley.

The executive committee of the Republican city organization at McKeesport, of which Col. W. E. Thompson is chairman, last night completed arrangements for the mass meeting and parade to be held in that city Saturday night. The meeting will be in the open air in the Diamond square in Market street, providing the weather does not interfere. The committee will engage the auditorium in Walnut street and in case of rain the meeting will be held there. It is expected to have J. Hampton Moore, national president of the State Republican clubs, Congressman J. Francis Burke and Congressman A. J. Barchfeld as speakers. There will also be local speakers, among them Mayor Falkenstein.

The Citizens party organization in McKeesport has been completed by the election of J. J. Bedell, president of common council, as president; Percy Blood, secretary, and Daniel G. Donovan, treasurer. President Bedell was authorized to appoint all committees and to arrange for all the ward meetings and their leaders.

Homestead Republicans will have a mass meeting tomorrow evening in the Fifth Avenue opera house, Homestead. Among the speakers will be James Francis Burke, A. J. Barchfeld, Perry A. Shanor, and the Rev. A. W. Fuller.

A Republican mass meeting will be held in the Hazlewood schoolhouse, Twenty-third ward, Pittsburgh, this evening at which the speakers will be James Francis Burke, Capt. John A. Reed, William M. Benham and Hugh C. O'Donnell. Other meetings this evening: Allen school house, Thirty-first ward, William Dodds, Perry A. Shanor, John A. Fairman, Jervis K. Campbell and Robert E. Stone. Bane public school, Twenty-seventh ward, John W. Moreland and J. P. McKee.

A meeting of the campaign and executive committees and the Republican candidates was held yesterday afternoon at Republican county headquarters. Reports from all of the legislative districts were received. These without exception indicated that the trend of sentiment is for the Republican ticket.

T. J. Shaffer has been flopped again. He attended the Republican mass meeting at the opening of the campaign. Last night the Citizens announced Shaffer would make fusion speeches.

The objection of the fusionists to the Republican county ticket appearing in the Lincoln party column will be heard in common pleas court No. 2 this morning. The machine men have raised a number of technical objections to the papers.

The Orphans will hold a meeting at their Grant street headquarters tonight. Ward chairmen and workers will be present. The joint committee will meet at noon to arrange for a mass meeting to be held Saturday night.

Col. J. M. Guffey will endeavor to put a little life into his Democratic organization this week. On Thursday he has arranged to have all state committeemen and county chairmen of the eastern end of the state meet him in Harrisburg. Saturday the western men have been summoned to a conference in Pittsburgh.

The Republican county campaign was opened in Bellevue last night with a monster mass meeting in the borough hall, under the auspices of the Bellevue borough committee, of which William B. Kirker, candidate for prothonotary, is chairman. Nearly all the county candidates were present and delivered 10-minute addresses. Chairman Kirker explained that the meeting was not intended as a mass meeting, but just a little family affair to give the people a chance to meet the men who aspire to the different offices.

SAYS HE IS DEVOTED TO PROHIBITION OF LIQUOR

Homer L. Castle Speaks at the Butler County Court House—A Tribute to the President.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BUTLER, PA., Oct. 23.—Prolonged applause was elicited by Homer L. Castle throughout his speech in the Butler county court house tonight. The court room was packed to the doors. Republicans, Democrats and Prohibitionists united in their applause and at the finish thronged about the speaker. The meeting was preceded by a serenade by the Sixteenth Regiment band. The Rev. Archibald Robinson of the United Presbyterian church was chairman of the meeting.

The Rev. Jacob C. Nicholas of Grace Lutheran church opened it with prayer, the Rev. Robinson introduced Mr. Castle as an old friend of long years standing. Mr. Castle said: "I am here to tell the truth. First, I want it to be understood that I am devoted to the prohibition of the liquor traffic in every shape, manner and form, but I am here to speak on an immediate duty."

Mr. Castle then paid a glowing tribute to President Roosevelt as "the most brilliant, brainiest and unbossable president in the nation's history." He said further Pennsylvania has the resources to become and should be the greatest state in the greatest nation of the world. Instead, politically, Pennsylvania is a byword because a gang of outlaws have her by the throat.

MOURNS LOSS OF POODLE.

James Murphy Accused of Stealing Animal During Landlady's Absence.

James Murphy, who gives his home address as Indianapolis, and who has been stopping at 35 Tunnel street, was arrested yesterday by Special Officer Patrick Golden as a suspicious character.

Mrs. J. Roberts, who keeps a rooming house at 2217 Fifth avenue, complained to the police that Murphy had taken a hand mirror and a French poodle, valued at $100 from her house during her temporary absence yesterday afternoon.

The officer who arrested Murphy trailed him several hours, but could find no trace of the poodle, though several dealers in birds and pets said they had refused to buy an animal which answers the description of the missing poodle. Murphy will be given a hearing today.

BOGUS RENT COLLECTORS TRY NEW SCHEME, BUT FAIL

Two sharpers attempted to work the people of Oakmont yesterday with a scheme by which they expected to collect the rent of tenants. The men, who were strangers in the borough, visited several houses and told the tenants their house had been sold, and hereafter they would collect the rent. Their game worked well until they called upon Rudolph Brown and told him his house had been sold. Brown notified the men that he owned his house and that he would call the police unless they left the borough at once.

New York Lawyers Favor Jerome.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Members of the New York bar, irrespective of politics in national and state affairs, have formed an organization favoring the re-election of William Travers Jerome district attorney of New York county. Find Girl's Body in a River.

CHARLESTON, W. VA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—At St. Albans, this county, this morning the body of Miss Laura Wheeler was found floating in Coal river. It is believed she took her life by leaping from a high bridge near her home. She had been despondent as a result of poor health.

LOCAL EQUITABLE AGENCY WILL HEAR MORTON'S FIRST OUTLINE OF POLICY

HON. PAUL MORTON.

The first public utterance of Paul Morton as president of the Equitable Life Assurance society, in outlining his policy, will be made at the dinner November 1, celebrating the 25th anniversary of the Pittsburgh agency.

Inasmuch as the Pittsburgh agency is not only the largest which the Equitable has in volume of business, but also the largest in the world, it is considered especially fitting that this should be the place and time in which President Morton will speak.

All the policyholders of the Equitable in Western Pennsylvania, as well as a large number of other prominent people, will be invited to meet Mr. Morton on the afternoon of November 1 at the Equitable offices on the second floor of the Frick building. The annual meeting and dinner of the Pittsburg agency will be held, probably at the Schenley, that evening. Much interest has ben aroused by the announcement that Mr. Morton will make an address and not only life assurance men, but financial men and policyholders the country over are alive to the importance of the occasion.

TRAVELING MAN KILLS HIMSELF AT CHARLEROI

Stranger Believed to Be from Cincinnati Ends His Life in a Hotel Room. Laudanum Bottle Found.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CHARLEROI, PA., Oct. 23.—The police are trying to unravel the mystery shrouding the suicide here this afternoon of William Mosier, a traveling man, with headquarters in Cincinnati. Mosier, who was about 65 years old, came here Tuesday of last week and registered at the Hotel Charleroi, without giving his residence. He made few acquaintances and appeared at times to be depressed. A shot was heard in his room this afternoon and when a hotel employe tried to open the door it was found to be locked. It was forced open and Mosier's dead body was found stretched upon the floor, his clothes soaked with blood from a bullet wound.

His 32-caliber revolver contained one empty cartridge. It is believed the man drank laudanum before firing the shot, as an empty bottle marked laudanum was found in one of his pockets. The body was taken to Reeves' undertaking rooms and an inquest will be held in the morning.

MOB STOPS TROLLEY LINE.

Citizens, Incensed at Increase of Fare, Force a Cessation of the Road.

CANAL DOVER, O., Oct. 23.—A mob of several hundred people gathered in the streets of New Philadelphia this afternoon and threatened violence to the men operating the cars of the Tuscarawas traction line because the management of the road had doubled the rate of fare between the two towns. During the day persons who had refused to pay the increased fare were ejected from the cars.

The management has suspended operation of the line until an understanding with the county commissioners regarding the rate of fare to be charged can be arrived at.

COMPLETE RELIGIOUS CENSUS OF NEW CASTLE

NEW CASTLE, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The work of tabulating the returns of the religious census taken here last Thursday was partially completed today. More than 20,000 people were seen and their religious preferences tabulated. The census shows that the Methodists predominate. Out of the more than 30,000 people 51 per cent attend church at least once a month and but 27 per cent are regular attendants at Sunday school.

Man Drinks Carbolic Acid.

GREENSBURG, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Joseph Watters, 48 years old, died in agony this evening at the home of his daughter, having drunk two ounces of carbolic acid this afternoon. Family troubles and remorse are said to have been the cause of the suicide. His suicide in the second in three days here.

Soon Follows Her Son to Great Beyond.

SHARON, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Mrs. Joseph Myare, 55 years old, died today from typhoid fever, one week after the death of her son from the same disease. She is survived by her husband, one son and one daughter.

ROBBERS BEAT TWO WOMEN.

Mercer County Residence Entered and Ransacked by Three Masked Men.

SHARON, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Mrs. Margaret Wheeler and her sister, Mrs. J. Donaldson, who live together at Henderson, Mercer county, awoke early yesterday morning to find three masked men standing by their bed. One held a revolver and commanded them to keep quiet under penalty of death. When the women attempted to rise they were severely beaten.

The man with the revolver stood guard while the two others ransacked the house, finding $8 in silver, but overlooking a roll of bills amounting to $350. As soon as the robbers left the house the two women aroused the neighborhood and a posse started in pursuit, but no trace of the trio could be found.

BERRY AT ALLENTOWN.

Fears His Insurance Premiums Are Being Used to Secure His Defeat.

ALLENTOWN, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—At a Democratic mass meeting held in the court house here tonight, candidate for the state treasury, Berry, was the special speaker of the evening. He said in part:

"I think I speak the truth when I say that there has been a revival of civic virtue all over the country."

Touching on the insurance exposures, Mr. Berry stated that he was not certain that the money that he had paid for the protection of his family was not being used to defeat him in this campaign.

SYNOD DELEGATES ATTEND A CAMPFIRE

GREENSBURG, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Gen. and Mrs. Richard Coulter and Maj. Richard Coulter entertained the commissioners to the synod of Pennsylvania of the Presbyterian church who are veterans of the Mexican and Civil wars. The affair was a campfire without the formality of a set program. Gen. Coulter was at the head of the famous "Old Eleventh," one of the Pennsylvania regiments which was in the thickest of the fighting from 1861 to '65, and told many stories of his campaigning. Other veterans told experiences of camp and battlefield.

PANIC IN A CHURCH; THIRTY PEOPLE HURT

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, O., Oct. 23.—By the explosion of a gas machine in the Methodist Episcopal church at Good Hope, O., last evening, Janitor Charles R. Bell was fatally injured, and 25 people were hurt in the panic. The explosion occurred as the services were opening. The janitor was unconscious when found. In the stampede for the doors about 30 people were trampled and hurt, some perhaps seriously. The building was badly damaged.

And Message Came Too Late.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The police today received word from Pittsburgh to stop the marriage of Miss Frances Thomas, aged 17, and Thomas Joyce, who had eloped with her. It was too late, for the two had secured the license and had been married before the message was received.

R IN SPEECH HANKS GAZETTE

ght Lorimer Tells Audience How Voice from Pittsburgh Heartened Him.

A FINE BIBLICAL SPECTACLE

A large audience greeted Wright Lorimer at the Nixon theater last night in his biblical drama, "The Shepherd King," based upon the story of David. It was a most enthusiastic audience, as well as a large one, and after the third act it insisted upon a speech. Reluctantly the star responded, but his speech was well worth the efforts the audience had made in demanding it. He told of the trials and discouragements he had encountered when first he produced the drama in New York, two years ago; how the critics had sneered at his attempt to present a play that was clean and noble in tone, and how sage friends had said that in two years he would be playing something like "Sapho." Only one voice of encouragement came to the actor in his hour of doubt—"only one voice to hearten me in my effort and to revive my waning courage," said the actor, "and I can never forget that this voice came from Pittsburgh—it was the voice of your Pittsburgh Gazette." The speech, one of the longest ever delivered here by a player, captured the audience, as the acting had done, and Mr. Lorimer stands enrolled as a Pittsburgh favorite from his first appearance here.

The Gazette rejoices that anything it may have said heartened this ambitious and promising actor to persevere in his efforts to produce a drama of high moral tone and literary quality. There are too few such plays upon the boards today. Mr. Lorimer's drama is full of technical weaknesses; it shows the 'prentice hand at many points; but it is so thoroughly in earnest, so elevated in its general atmosphere, that one is inclined to overlook these crudities and compliment the author-actor upon having aimed so high and hit so near the mark.

It must be confessed that the first act is very dreary and the third act very stagy. Entrances and exits are managed by the clumsiest devices—somebody shades his eyes with his hands and looks off the stage, or a trumpet is blown, and the character wanted steps forward. The plot is in many places incoherent; the story lacks unity and sometimes continuity; threadbare devices, like the villain or the siren listening at right 3, are worked to death; thunderstorms arise to order; the dialogue abounds in incongruities like "Kind sir," which is hardly a biblical salutation—but through it all the author-actor's purpose and latent capability shine redeemingly. Perhaps the worst sin against good taste that can be charged against him is that he follows the sublime words of the 23d psalm with a cheap and tawdry love scene. But such an effective handling of a dramatic situation as was shown at the end of act 2, in the scene leading up to the death of Goliath, lets us hope great things from Mr. Lorimer.

This scene, and Charles Kent's acting as King Saul, were the chief excellencies of the performance, unless we add as a third the really magnificent stage settings and gorgeous properties. Mr. Kent appeared here last as Judas in "Mary of Magdala," and while his Saul smacked strongly of that other impersonation, it was individual and forcible enough to make it a notable piece of work. If the audience had applauded good acting as vigorously as virtuous sentiment, Saul would have had no reason to be jealous of David.

Mr. Lorimer acts conscientiously, somewhat too conscientiously. He says "Peace be with thee" as if he was calling a policeman. He postures too much and lacks repose. But there is a sincerity and an intelligence back of these crudities that may make him a great actor when he has learned the restraint of art.

The remainder of the cast ranked from fair to very poor. They declaimed in agonized voices and sawed the air with majestic gestures when they were not sinking upon their knees or making absurd faces. Helen Holmes portrayed Princess Michal as an arrant flirt, and Nellete Reed played Princess Merab like a circus lady with a shady past.

For the staging, the costuming, the lighting, only words of praise can be uttered. The drama is well worth witnessing if only as a spectacle, and as a protest against the vulgar inanities that have so long disgraced the boards.

Alvin—"Nancy Brown."

"Nancy Brown" and her infectious giggle—they're both here, and right welcome they are. George Broadhurst, who collaborated with Frederic Rankin in the book of this tuneful, little opera, has done better things in his time, but nothing has made a more favorable impression. The simple little refrain that is never silent throughout the entire piece has that element of catchiness that endears it to all hearts. When it was first offered in Pittsburgh—that was two seasons ago at the Alvin when Marie Cahill was the star in the cast—it took only reasonably well, because society in those days was too busy with the Nixon. Nevertheless, the best people could not refrain from giving due credit to the tunefulness of the Broadhurst composition. The same opera comes back with the Marie Cahill "paper" and Miss Mary Marble in the title role. It's unfortunate that the managers cannot afford their own paper and give Miss Marble the credit that is due her. She makes a "Nancy Brown" that suffers little in comparison with Miss Cahill, and she has the support of a good company. It is not as strong as the original because it has a chorus weak in numbers. The principals, with one or two exceptions, are good. Miss Marble has the "giggle" to perfection, and while her voice has no peculiar qualities of strength and sweetness, she is a very fetching "Nancy Brown" just the same. William C. Mandeville, who plays the Bey of Ballyhoo, has the true comedian's skill in making the best of a foolish little song and with Miss Marble and Robert E. Hariy, he captures the audience with "The Katydid, the Cricket and the Frog." Ben Ledge, it seems, ought to have more chance for singing. His position is really pitiable, and he doubtless has a lot of surplus energy that goes to waste. David Andrada makes a capital English swell. The other members of the cast are all that are required to make a very creditable popular-priced attraction. It is to be deplored that the Alvin has not been able to maintain the same standard previously this season.

Grand—Vaudeville.

An exceptionally well balanced bill of the light and laugh provoking sort entertained a packed house at the matinee and evening performances at the Grand yesterday. As a comedy sketch offering Wilfred Clarke, assisted by Miss Theo Carew & Co., presents an adaptation from the French called "No More Trouble." It was full of laughs for the audience and drew a couple of curtain calls. Belle Hathaway's baboons and monkeys appeared in a series of tricks which doubtless many of the audience missed, for the byplay of several little "monks" in white sailor suits tearing around the stage brought out screams of laughter. Shortly afterward Elmer Tenley, with his monologue turn, came on made up like the grandpa of all the "monks," and his talk convulsed the audience. As a clever and artistic dancing act it is doubtful if that of the four Fords has any equal, while Leona Thurber and her pickaninnies delighted the crowd. All the other acts are worthy of the good bill, and include the well known Italian trio of opera singers, the juggling McHanns, the great Lynch in a dancing oddity, W. E. Whittle, ventriloquist; the Gregsons, Crawford and Gaston and Chascino, the cleverest of shadowgraphists.

Empire—"Girl of the Streets."

Entertainment at the Empire is varied this week by the appearance of the "Girl of the Streets." The name suggests the character of the melodrama, which was exciting enough to please a large crowd at the up-town theater last night. It deals with the worst slums of the city in which the very dregs of society are the actors. In the plot, which is similar to that used in dozens of other melodramas where the girl is kidnaped, hidden away, made to suffer and to marry the the villain in order that he may get her fortune or her child, there are enough wild scenes of the under world introduced to make the play much the most exciting that has visited the Empire for weeks. Since its appearance in this city last year, the production has been considerably improved, among the changes being the fight scene in the first act, the racing of a full fledged automobile across the stage in a runaway scene and the Harlem river scene. The cast is well selected to bring out the worst sides of the most degraded criminals. Laura Alberta stars in the role of Kit, at once the accomplice and betrayer of the villain, George B. Paddison, who makes that part a conspicuous success. His mother in crime, Rachel Barr, is a character whose equal for real ugliness in face and manner is seldom seen on any stage. A decided addition to the cast is Baby Collier, who is an unusually clever child performer.

Gayety—"New York Stars."

It is nearly 20 years since the New York Stars have begun to entertain variety patrons in Pittsburgh. In that long lapse of time there have been almost innumerable changes in the company, but at the Gayety this week the same high standard of burlesque and vaudeville is maintained. It is the best performance that has been given in the Gayety since the new Sixth street playhouse was given over to variety entertainment. If the New York Stars depended on the chorus and their burlesque features for the success of the show, the same superlative degree could be used in the opposite direction, and the company would have thin houses during the balance of the week, but it happens that the olio saves the day, and saves it heroically. In the two burlettas, given at the opening and closing of the performance, there is poor music, and the women do their work in a mechanical sort of way. The olio is strengthened by Kitamura's troupe of Japanese acrobats, which is one of the best vaudeville features ever shown here. The juggling acts which are given are peculiar only to the little brown acrobats, and with this is seen some startling contortion work. Heading the vaudeville bill is Campbell and Caulfield. They have a lot of musty old jokes, but make some restitution in their singing of Irish melodies. The Faust trio of acrobats have some novel features, but nothing that claims being on the sensational order. Katie Allen Fox sings well and dances with charm, but somehow fails to win the approval of the audience. No better musical comedians than the Majestic Musical Four ever appeared in Pittsburgh. Raymond and Clark are something more than the "rapid-fire conversationalists" which they are advertised. They are a pair of the best comedians on the variety circuit. Their jokes are new, and yesterday they kept their hearers convulsed with laughter as long as they remained on the stage.

Academy—The Mascottes.

The Mascottes, one of the real fast and lively shows of the burlesque circuit, is at the Academy for the week. In the opening piece the comedians are called "Mike Mulaney," "Dan McCabe," "Maggie McCabe," "J. Dunn" and "Tim Mullaney," which naturally means lots of red hair, red whiskers and ready-and-rough fun. The play is called "Irish Daddies," and it is good enough to keep the audience in a continuous uproar. As a special olio attraction the management has engaged the St. Onge brothers in a bicycle act, which held the audience at times in breathless interest. The rest of the bill includes Gordon and Vidocq in a sketch; Wilbur Held, singer; Barrett Brothers, comedians; Lillian Murtha and the Batchellor Sisters in songs and dances. More fun and nonsense is served up in the closing burlesque, "The Electric Hotel."

Bijou—"My Tom-Boy Girl."

With all its blood-and-thunder environment and tawdry furnishings, "My Tom-Boy Girl" and petite Lottie Williams have a few grains of merit. It is no fault of the dainty little comedienne that her performance does not take well. She works hard and is as effervescent as a bubble, but Charles E. Blaney has much to answer for. Everybody loves the girl who is a tom-boy and everybody would love Lottie Williams, but with the trash that Blaney has dished up it is a difficult matter to trace the character he tried to portray. In the hands of an intelligent playwright, Miss Williams could be given something that would be more than creditable to her talents. She has only ordinary support. The bright spots in the piece are invariably spoiled by horseplay or worse. Miss Williams needs a new playwright.

NEW SHOWS PRODUCED.

Four Noteworthy Productions Make Their Appearance.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—The independent theatrical managers led by David Belasco, the Schuberts and Harrison Gray Fiske, had a brilliant inauguration of their new Washington house tonight, when the Belasco was opened with Miss Blanche Bates in the title role of the latest Belasco play, "The Girl of the Golden West."

The audience was an unusually brilliant one and representative of Washington society. Both Mr. Belasco and Miss Bates were given a hearty reception.

Olga Nethersole made her reappearance in America tonight after an absence of over three years, inaugurating her tour at the New National theater with the first performance of the "Labyrinthen," an English version of Hervieu's French drama "Le Dedale."

CHICAGO, Oct. 23.—"In the Bishop's Carriage" had its first metropolitan presentation tonight at Powers' theater, and it scored a success. "The Nazarene," a new Biblical and historical play, received its first metropolitan production at the Studebaker theater tonight, and was enthusiastically received by a large and representative audience.

"Way Down East."

Box office predictions index a large business for "Way Down East," which will be given at the Alvin next week. The piece will be presented by the same big company and will be staged precisely in the same manner as at the Academy of Music, New York city, where it has just closed another 10 week's run. The story of "Way Down East" concerning a girl whose love ruins her life, and whom love brings back to life, is familiar to all. It is a story human in its humor and doubly human in its pathos.

Mrs. Fiske's Engagement.

Mrs. Fiske has increased her already large following among American theatergoers by her success as "Leah Kleschna," in which role she will be seen at the Belasco next week. Those who have admired her "Tess" and "Becky Sharp" and other portrayals, find new cause for admiration in her present character, the central figure in the strongest play Mrs. Fiske has ever had. The sale of seats opens Thursday morning.

Belasco—"Babes in the Wood."

"Babes in the Wood" began its second week auspiciously at the Belasco last night. Miss Cheridale Simpson supplanted Miss Williams in the part of Robin Hood, and was warmly welcomed by the audiences. The processions and choruses are working very smoothly now, and the tuneful numbers and pretty stage pictures called forth much applause.

Mme. Kalich Makes Her Debut.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(Special)—Madame Kalich made her debut as an English speaking star under Harrison Grey Fiske's management at the Manhattan theater, in Maeterlinck's "Monna Vanna," before a brilliant audience that crowded the playhouse. The new star received a cordial and flattering welcome. The play was hailed as of great interest and power.

Nat Goodwin in a New Play.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—Nat C. Goodwin appeared at the Broad Street theater tonight, for the first time in "Wolfville," a play from Alfred Henry Lewis' book of that name, the dramatization being by Clyde Fitch and Willie Steel. Mr. Goodwin has not been seen in rough and ready clothes since the days of "Mizzoura."

Open Another Belasco House.

DETROIT, MICH., Oct. 23.—The Lafayette theater, which has recently been leased by the Shuberts of New York, was opened tonight as an independent playhouse.

OVER 1,200 PRESENT.

University Extension Society's Audience Charmed by Prof. Moulton's Powers of Mimicry.

Crowded houses continue to greet Prof. Richard G. Moulton at his lectures before the University Extension society of Pittsburgh, in the First Presbyterian church. Last evening's attendance was equal to that of the preceding lectures. The subject of the lecture was "King John," and it was the lecturer's powers of mimicry and description which held the audience's attention.

The attendance last night was over 1,200. The next lecture of the series, "Richard the Second," will be given Monday, October 30, in the First United Presbyterian church, Fifth avenue.

LYMAN E. COOLEY APPROVES CANAL

Chicago Waterways Engineer Discusses Plan to Unite Lake Erie and Ohio River.

CUT $1 FROM TON OF PIG IRON

Lyman E. Cooley, the distinguished Chicago waterways engineer, who was the projector and chief engineer of the Chicago drainage canal, has contributed an exhaustive article on the Lake Erie & Ohio River ship canal.

Mr. Cooley strongly approves the project. He rather favors a deeper canal than that proposed, claiming that the cost of construction does not increase in proportion to capacity. He says in part:

It is entirely feasible to build a ship canal from Lake Erie to the Ohio river at a probable cost of $32,000,000 for lake vessels of 2,000 tons cargo, and for $50,000,000 to make it sufficient for the largest lake vessels, say, of 10,000 tons' cargo—a capacity greater than the vessels in the Pacific trade prior to Jim Hill's Great Northern liners. The interest on the cost, together with operation and maintenance, will be about 6 per cent, or the 2,000-ton canal must earn $2,000,000 yearly to be justified and the 10,000-ton canal must earn $3,000,000 per year. If such receipts can be obtained from tolls, wharfage, water rights, etc., then it will pay a company to undertake the enterprise. If such direct revenues cannot be had, but the canal will directly and indirectly benefit the interests which it serves and appreciate the value of property in the communities adjacent, to the above extent, then the canal would justify the expenditure, in part or in whole, by a taxing district, much after the style of the sanitary district of Chicago, and much for the same reason that the Manchester ship canal is justified. Again, if the canal fails to reach either status it may still be justified as an object of general public expenditure if it contributes to wealth more than its cost.

What a Waterway Means.

A waterway necessarily follows the valleys of the Mahoning, the Beaver and the Ohio; it will stretch well up the Monongahela, already improved for barge navigation into the mountains of West Virginia, and it will utilize the lower Allegheny; it may even go up the Youghiogheny to the coke fields, at least as a barge development. This means improved water courses, a rectification of water fronts and increase in space much needed for industrial development in many localities; it means new localities, equally accessible to water and rail as are the old. It does not mean that the present investment must wear out, as at Manchester, before the industrial situation is transferred to the waterside—before the waterway can develop its logical relations—for the industries are already there and only need to improve their water fronts and provide facilities for utilizing the new transportation.

There is no other situation in the world which invites so immediately and so completely the utilities of a great waterway, and it would be well if the design were more all-embracing and far-reaching, more calculated to dominate the physical possibilities for the future, rather than to merely serve the present needs. An expanding horizon soon makes what is now in sight a mere step in progress.

The result will be to lessen the cost of the ore in ton of pig iron by one dollar, and the improved local water facilities in connection with fuel, flux and building material should reduce it still more, and there will be a ratio of saving in all the stages of manufacture. The saving in the cost of pig iron may be 15 per cent, more or less—a very vital factor in the world's competition.

Benefit Not for Pittsburgh Alone.

The rail haul on soft coal to Lake Erie ports is nearly one dollar a ton, and by some such amount the price of high-grade soft coal and coke should be reduced at upper lake points and much high-grade fuel, now all rail, should come by water. The benefits will not restrict themselves to the Pittsburgh district. The very argument of return cargoes will take fuel at reduced rates, as now, and will continue subordinate centers at western lake points, with cheaper building sites, cheaper food and cheaper all rail facilities to the consumer, advantages that will outweigh even the water route with reshipment for finished products.

A traffic of 20,000,000 tons at a toll rate of 10 cents a ton would pay the fixed charges, operation and maintenance for a canal between Lake Erie and the Ohio river, and such a canal would be adequate, say, for the largest lake craft, or a vessel with a cargo capacity of 10,000 tons. If it is worth doing at all it is worth doing right—doing in such a manner that it will not be outgrown before it can be finished and that the future will not regret our foresight, or, rather, the lack of it.

Were such a canal in existence today, with the collateral improvements in wharfage and in river development in the Ohio, Monongahela, Allegheny and Youghiogheny, it requires no tax on the imagination to suppose a present traffic of 20,000,000 tons.

It is not solely a question of iron ore and fuel. The finished products must be shipped, and if the lakes are made accessible to the sea there will be a vast market by the waterside, to which unbroken shipments can be made. There are building materials and merchandise in great variety, there are foods and there is lumber. All these will supplement the iron ore and the fuel for canal traffic.

NEW HOLIDAY IS CELEBRATED BY SOUTH SIDE YOUNGSTERS

The principal thoroughfares of the South Side this morning will look as if they had been buried under the avalanche of an Arctic snowstorm. "Paper night" has been celebrated, and the streets have been littered with tons of torn paper. It will be a week before the white wings in that district will be able to make the pavements and sidewalks assume their normal appearance.

"Paper night" is a holiday festival of mushroom growth. Nobody knows the significance of the custom—nobody knows the reason for its celebration. It happens eight days before Halloween, but in the observance of the festival there is no hint of the maskers' procession. Two years ago the boys of the South Side, without provocation, broke loose and covered the streets with torn paper. Last year they did not overlook the anniversary and last night—ask the police.

The youngsters did not go to the trouble of buying confetti. For weeks they have been tearing up old newspapers and had accumulated sacksful of the material. At dark they made a race out on the street. Paper was showered in all directions. Everybody who ventured out of doors got his clothes filled with the material. When the boys exhausted their supply of paper they turned to sawdust and when they found that they had no more sawdust they went home—and got licked. This is the unhappy sequel of a night of merriment. The curfew is inexorable.

MINISTERS' MEETINGS.

Several Papers Are Read and Discussed at the Weekly Gatherings of Pastors.

At the ministerial meetings yesterday several interesting papers were read and later their subjects were taken up for discussion. At the Presbyterian meeting in the First church the Rev. Dr. J. Kinsey Smith of the Shadyside church read a paper on the "Purpose and Power of Preaching." Dr. T. D. Barton Johnson of the East End read a medical paper on "The Social Evil From a Physical Viewpoint," at the Baptist meeting. A statement to the effect that the moral tone of domestic life is deteriorating was discussed by the ministers, and it is probable the same subject will be treated from the spiritual viewpoint at a future meeting.

Prof. George M. Sleeth, instructor in elocution at the Western Theological seminary in Allegheny, delivered a lecture on "The Science of Speaking" at the United Presbyterian ministers' meeting. Prof. Sleeth illustrated his lecture with classroom methods on the blackboard. At the Methodist Episcopal meeting the Rev. John L. Hillman of the Lincoln Avenue church read a paper on "Thomas Carlyle, a Review of His Teachings and an Analysis of His Character." The Rev. Louis Robb of Wilkinsburg read a paper on "Preaching Jesus Christ," at Grace Reformed church, where the Reformed ministers will hereafter hold their meetings every Monday morning. The Rev. Dr. John H. Prugh opened the discussion of the subject, which was warmly debated.

Plans for the revival which opens next Monday were discussed at the meeting in the First Christian church, Allegheny. It was announced that Gen. C. T. Sweeney of Columbus, Ind., former United States minister to Turkey, will be the first speaker at the meeting in the Nixon theater at 3 p. m. next Sunday. At the meeting of Lutheran ministers the Rev. U. A. Hankey of New Kensington read a paper on "The Inspiration of the Bible."

VATICAN STILL ANGRY AT FRENCH GOVERNMENT

Catholics Instructed to Not Participate in Loubet's Welcome at Madrid.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

ROME, Oct. 23.—The vatican authorities today decided to instruct Monsignor Rinaldini, the papal nuncio at Madrid, not to participate in any of the official ceremonies incident to the visit of President Loubet. This decision is looked upon as still emphasizing the bitterness felt by the holy see over what it considers the persecution of the church in France.

MADRID, Oct. 23.—Vast crowds assembled to witness the arrival of President Loubet here this afternoon. The city presents an aspect of extreme animation and beauty. The route of the procession crossed the entire city, King Alfonso and the French president driving in a royal coach between lines of brilliantly uniformed troops.

The police are taking extremely rigorous precautions against a repetition of the attempt on the lives of King Alfonso and President Loubet in Paris. Even the usual photographic equipment has been suppressed unless by special permit. The government press welcomes President Loubet, declaring that his visit means more than treaties and diplomatic notes.

WAITING FOR JAPANESE.

American Consuls Continue to Act at Russian Ports—New Minister Has Been Selected.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 23.—Acting on instructions from the state department Spencer Eddy, the American charge d'affaires, has sent telegraphic orders to the American consuls throughout Russia to continue to act for Japan until the regular Japanese consuls arrive. The American consuls had ceased to act for Japan when the ratifications of the peace treaty were exchanged.

It is understood that the new Japanese minister to Russia has already been selected and that his name will be announced within a week.

BUYING MEN'S CLOTHING IS MUCH LIKE TAKING OUT ACCIDENT INSURANCE

YOU may not know which Accident Company is the strongest, but you can name off-hand, one or two that are sound, safe and reliable. You may not know which house dealing in Men's Clothing is the very best, but if asked to name one that is safe, responsible and entitled to the fullest confidence, your off-hand answer would be "Kaufmann's."

And after the most careful thought and investigation, your answer would still be "Kaufmann's."

SOME OVERCOATS AT "THE BIG STORE"

The gentleman foremost in the picture wears a Three-quarter Length garment, frequently called a "Chesterfield." This is the overgarment most in favor with solid and successful men who do not care to "cut a dash"—the one that would be most in evidence at a bankers' convention. They come in fine American and imported woolens in black, Oxford and Cambridge gray, as well as neat mixtures, with or without velvet collars. Excellent line here at $15 and upward.

The other man in the picture wears a Top-coat—the "snappier" garment best liked by the majority of young men. They come in tan and olive covert cloths and black whipcords, and range in price from $8.50 to $35.

The other popular members of the Overgarment family are —

The "Paddocks," long-skirted and swagger, in black and gray American and imported woolens. Much favored by men who like something distinguished.

The Raincoats, light, long shower-shedding and not cumbersome. They're warmer than they look, for the "Cravenetting" process serves in a measure to keep the wind from penetrating the fabric. Excellent lines at $10 and $15, with finer ones up to $35.

MEN'S SUITS here cover the entire range of clothing needs, starting with all-wool garments 'way down at $6.50. Particularly strong lines at $10 and $15 in the best American woolens. Thence upward in fineness and price to the $20, $25, $30 and $36 lines with imported woolens and hand-tailoring throughout in the garments.

FIRST PROTEST AMONG BOWLERS

Unity Team Accuses the Ton Dus of Neglecting to Enforce the Rules.

GOOD GAMES ALL AROUND

BOWLING SCHEDULE TONIGHT

Pittsburgh Section—Hazelwood vs. Bloomfield, on Hazelwood alleys.

Allegheny Section—Sharpsburg vs. Federals, on Sharpsburg alleys.

Monongahela Section—Homestead vs. Munhall, on Homestead alleys.

South Pittsburgh League—Shiloh vs. Werdes, on Hilltop alleys.

Mercantile League—On The Club alleys.

Dispatch Duckpin League (Afternoon)—Seminoles vs. Hurons, on Wylie avenue alleys.

Liberty Valley League—Centrals vs. Hillsides, on Penn avenue alleys.

The Unity and the Ton Dus of the Pittsburgh section met in an interesting contest last night on the Southern alleys, and the Unitys won two out of three games. In the second game the Ton Dus went on a strike and won out as the Unitys were satisfied with their spare time they were having and consequently were railroaded to the strikers for a loss. The captain of the Unity team has protested the game on account of the management not furnishing a ring and scales for the measuring and weighing of balls. The protest will, no doubt, be sustained, as there is a strict rule by which all bowling managers must abide or their home team must suffer the consequences. For the Unitys Sliber had high average and Sam Helmbeucher high score, 216. Zimmerman did the most consistent bowling for the Ton Dus. Scores:

Unity—				Ton Du's—
Smith	175	126	308	Hirsch	179	158	115
Sliber	180	185	171	Zimmerman	175	187	151

The Diocesan Bowling league opened yesterday most auspiciously. On the St. Joseph Casino the St. Joseph team took all three games from the St. Charles boys. The winners came out ahead because they did the best work. Joe Milfelt was the star bowler, making an average of 188 flat. The St. Joes in the very first game rolled up a score of 910. Meyers had high score of 195. For the St. Charles team A. Holler, after a bad start, rolled two fine scores, and wound up with the best average for his side. Scores:

St. Joseph—				St. Charles—
Milfelt	152	189	193	J. Gillig	163	173	150
Epping	179	174	161	A. Holler	139	189	190

On the Cecelia alleys last night the Cecelias took two out of three games from the Alleghenys. The latter started off poorly, but increased their score with each game until they made 809, the highest of the match. Hemberger made the only 200 score and was the star bowler of the night. The old Cecelia players were a little off, especially Neidhart, who could get only 114 in the second game. Kleppick and Nix bowled a steady game, but went below their standard in the last game. Scores:

Alleghany—				Cecelia—
Hemberger	164	123	209	Neidhart	125	114	144

The Duquesnes opened the season at home last night and succeeded in winning the first game by the good score of 862. They lost the last two because Williams and Brown lost their form in the second game and McGlaughlin fell down in the third. The East Pittsburgh team used seven players. Hill had high score in the match, 197. Champion Votel did not bowl up to his standard, but made respectable figures all the same. Scores:

Duquesne—				East Pittsburgh—
McGlaughlin	165	177	164	Wolfe	163	167	168

In the South Pittsburgh league last night, on the St. Vincent alleys, the Senators won two out of three games from the Ormsby team. Adam Rober did the best bowling. He made high score of 212, the only 200 score of the match. His average was 187 2-3 and he made only two errors in the three games. The Ormsbys were nearly all a little erratic. Rebholz made high score of 168. Scores:

The Lumberman's league had a grand opening last night on the Club alleys, some very creditable scores being made by the wooden men. Later on, when the lumber is seasoned there will be some well kiln-dried scores made. The Forest Lumber Company had high score of 770 for the evening, and they succeeded in sawing two out of three games from the Nicola Brothers lumber yard. The Sellers drove three spikes in Wilson Brothers' ambition for a wooden wedding, and the Mead & Spear Company wouldn't think of taking all three games from the Enterprise hardwoods. The J. M. Hastings Lumber Company made sawdust out of the American Lumber Company by making a clean sweep of all three games, high score of the contest was made by Zahnke, 197, and was made in the Enterprise forest. The games and scores are as follows:

The Edgewood bowling team will play a match game this evening with the American Sewer Pipe Company team on the Edgewood alleys. The Farmers National bnak team is scheduled to play on the same alleys Friday, October 27.

At a meeting held at the Wilkinsburg alleys last night the Wilkinsburg Amateur league was organized, with the following clubs: Maplewood, Sterling, Wilkinsburg and Suburban. The season will open next Monday with a match between the Maplewood and Suburban clubs. The officers of the league are: James Fullerton, president; C. E. Cox, secretary; the captains of the four teams, executive committee. The season will run until April 15, and all the games will be bowled on the Wilkinsburg alleys.

In one game of a match last night on Venter's alleys, McKees Rocks, John McCune defeated Frank Krause by a score of 279 to 261.

The Harvards, formerly Lou Seibel's Colts, of the Penn avenue alleys would like to arrange a match for Wednesday night. Call up 2329 R Highland.

Members of the Millvale Independents are requested to meet on Houlahan's alleys this evening at 8 o'clock to attend an important meeting.

Captains of the teams of the Monongahela section should send a copy of all their scores to Secretary M. J. Dougherty, 461 Seddon avenue, Braddock, Pa.

New Association Football League.

CHARLEROI, PA., Oct. 23.—Twenty-nine delegates representing Brownsville, Stockdale, Fayette City, Duntevy, Charleroi, Black Diamond, Gallitin and Finleyville, met here last evening and formed the Monongahela Valley Association Football league. The following officers were elected: President, D. A. Oats, Charleroi; vice president, John Hughes, Stockdale. Games will be played every Saturday. A schedule committee was appointed. It is believed the sport will become popular.

Billy Phyle Is Married.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—It is announced that Billy Phyle, third baseman for the Ohio Works team was married at Jamestown, N. Y., to Miss Anna Keyes last Thursday. The bride is the daughter of a well-known contractor.

State Gets Glad Hand.

STATE COLLEGE, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The return of the varsity football team from New Haven this morning was the signal for a celebration by State's 900 undergraduates. Cannons were fired and the players were carried triumphantly across the campus to the steps of "Old Main" where, beginning with Capt. Yeckley, each man on the squad made a short speech concerning the late game.

Iroquois Rifle Club Tournament.

The eighteenth annual tournament of the Iroquois Rifle club will begin today with the members' ring match. Each man will fire 50 shots at 10 targets, five shots to a target. Only members allowed to shoot. The shoot will begin at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Tomorrow the all-comers' match and the bull's eye match will begin.

Ohio Pool Player Falls Dead.

MANSFIELD, O., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Fred Matthias of this city, formerly champion pool player of Ohio, aged 34, was found on the street today in an unconscious condition and died shortly afterward. The coroner is investigating, as it is thought that it was a case of suicide by poison.

Cup for Women Golfers.

W. B. Hambly offers a cup for women of the Pittsburgh Field Golf club to be played for next Friday and Saturday. Conditions: Nine holes, medal play, under handicap; best score to win.

AMONG THE KICKERS.

The Plymouth Indians challenge all 80-pound teams. Address Paul Digby, 46 Oneida street, Duquesne Heights.

The Linwood Seconds has open dates for 70-pound teams. Address John A. Thompson, P. O. box 62, Pittsburgh.

The Labellos challenge all 90-pound teams for Saturday. Address Joseph B. Sweeney, 1202 Allegheny avenue, Allegheny.

The Schenley A. C. would like to hear from all 80-pound teams. Address R. H. Breitenbach, 6385 Stanton avenue, city.

The Mohawks of Turtle Creek want a game with some 75-pound team for election day. Address P. O. box 509, Turtle Creek.

Linwood wants games with all 90-pound teams. Address George Brandenstein, 1004 Lincoln avenue, or call Bell Highland 9094-J.

The Bowmont A. C. is without a game for Saturday. Any good 75-pound team address William Covert, No. 695 Tower street, Allegheny.

Kenwood A. C., a 75-pound team, has Saturday open for home grounds. Call 2738 L Highland on Bell 'phone and ask for D. H. Crouse.

Rush and Fulton are coaching the Hillside A. C. football team. All 90-pound teams address T. B. Rogers, Park and Shetland avenues, city.

The Cornell A. C. would like to hear from any 60-pound team for October 28. Address Walter Singleton, 513 North Rebecca street, Pittsburgh.

The Brushton Mohawk Second will play the Boquets of Oakland on Saturday, at Brushton. Thanksgiving is open. Address Thomas M. Power, No. 18 Lawndale street, city.

The Olympics and Crescents met and the Olympics won 6 to 0. The two teams are rivals for the junior championship of McKeesport. In the last three minutes of play, Johnson, on the criss-cross play went around the end for a 60-yard run for a touchdown. Capt. Kinkaid kicked goal.

KISKI AND SHADYSIDE TO MEET

Will Play Annual Championship Game Election Day at Friendship Park.

BAN ON HIGH SCHOOL MEN

The Kiskiminitas Springs school and Shadyside academy football teams will play their annual game in Pittsburgh November 7, election day, at Friendship park. This game, which is the championship affair for Western Pennsylvania, Eastern Ohio and West Virginia, was scheduled for November 6, but the date was shifted so that the many former students and friends of these schools might attend the game.

Kiski won the championship last year, outclassing its field, and it again has a powerful eleven. Coach Young of Shadyside saw Kiski play Saturday. At a meeting at Shadyside yesterday he urged all the boys to go out for the team, saying that Shadyside must have a good team on the field in order to beat Kiski. The game with Shadyside will be Kiski's only appearance in Pittsburgh this season.

A faculty ban was put on Griffith and Leff, guards on the Pittsburgh High school eleven, yesterday when the reports were read. They fell below the necessary passing marks, and it will be two weeks at least before they make up their work and are permitted to play football again. Capt. Worrell was chagrined when the report was read. Worrell will probably play Challenor at one guard and try out the several guards for the other position. Yesterday's practice consisted of association football and signal work.

Manager Lang of the East Liberty academy eleven was at the practice and arranged to have his team play High school Wednesday of next week at Friendship park. High school has all its Saturday dates closed or East Liberty would have been favored with one.

The Pittsburgh college juniors won from the Pittsburgh High school sophomores yesterday on the Bluff, 28 to 0. The first half was warmly contested, the period closing with the score at 6 to 0. The linup:

YOUNGSTOWN MAY JOIN THE TRI-STATE LEAGUE

If Pittsburgh has a club in the Tri-State league next season, Youngstown or some other good baseball town in Eastern Ohio or Western Pennsylvania will be admitted to fill out the new circuit. If this arrangement goes through Shamokin and Wilmington will be dropped.

President Creamer of Philadelphia; Bockel of Altoona; Blough of Johnstown and Steckle of Shamokin were in Pittsburgh yesterday morning and conferred with local baseball men. Marty Hogan, manager of the Youngstown team, joined in the conference. Hogan is disposed to think favorably of bringing his independent champions into the league.

Local baseball men think a Tri-State club in this city would be a good thing, and it is likely the club will be financed by Pittsburgh capital. There will be a meeting of the Tri-State soon in Harrisburg and the new circuit will be completed.

SLIPPERY ROCK SURPRISES THE GROVE CITY TEAM

GROVE CITY, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Slippery Rock surprised the local collegians today with the closest defense it presented and the best the latter could do was 11 to 0. The locals were much crippled after the game at Franklin Saturday, and end plays were seldom tried, most of the gains being from short line bucking. Seanor, Crosby, McCullom and Davis led the playing. The line-up:

Grove City—11.		Slippery Rock—0.
Seanor	R. E.	Wilson
Fillner	R. T.	Hines
Dight	R. G.	L. Keister
McCullum	C.	Turner
Most	L. G.	Smith
Davis	L. T.	H. Keister
Martin	L. E.	Jackson
Kiskadden	Q. B.	West
Wolfe	R. H.	Broadbent
Crosby	L. H.	Eakin
Painter	F. B.	MacDonald

Touchdowns—Davis, Painter. Goals from touchdowns—Kiskadden. Referee and umpire, alternating—McClelland and Clution. Time—15 and 20 minute halves.

Macpherson Wins Cup.

Fight Pictures Are Perfect.

Old City Hall was made to ring last night by the sport-loving people of Pittsburgh, who applauded the fast work of Nelson and Britt as portrayed on canvas in moving picture. Everyone had a comment to make, but all agreed that the pictures were simply perfect.

SWENSON IS BEING TRIED AT QUARTERBACK

With conditions favorable for fast gridiron sport, Coach Mosse had the W. U. P. squad out for a long practice yesterday at Exposition park. Several changes were made in the line-up yesterday, and will likely be followed by others until the very strongest combination possible is developed. Swenson was shifted to quarterback on the varsity and the coach spelt much time instructing him in the new plays. The little Swede has shown good form at times during the past weeks of practice.

W. & J.

WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The first secret practice of the season for the Washington and Jefferson football team was given this afternoon at College field. The gates were barred to all except players and coaches. "All I can say is that the practice was unsatisfactory," was the remark of Coach Pinkarski this evening. Washington and Jefferson will be in shape for Georgetown Saturday at Pittsburgh.

Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Knowles' fumble two yards from the second team's goal line gave Blair, the track team star, an opportunity this afternoon, to register the longest run made on Soldiers' Field this year, and his daring sprint incidentally resulted in the second team scoring for the third time against the varsity since September 30. He carried the ball 102 yards and experienced little difficulty planting the ball behind the varsity uprights. The play occurred early in the scrimmage period, but the varsity got its revenge by smashing the second line repeatedly afterwards and piling up three touchdowns in 20 minutes. The outcome of the game with the Cadets has not discouraged Coach Reid or the undergraduates, who have the most implicit confidence in the team's ability to trounce Yale. The players claim the victory was not secured by mere luck.

The play of the varsity on the defense today was encouraging, but the fumbling was miserable and prevented the regulars from running up at least three more touchdowns. Whitman, Pruyn, Bartels and Knowlton were taken over to the varsity training table this evening as a result of their work today.

It was announced tonight that McLean, the right guard of the second team, was ineligible for the Yale game on account of the year residence rule.

Yale.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Yale's coaches today began a stiff week of drill to develop the football eleven as a defensive proposition, alarmed by last Saturday's failure to hold the strong Penn State college eleven. Secret practice today was half an hour of scrimmaging in which Coaches Hewitt and Bloomer, Hinkey and Rockwell were assisted by former Captains Rafferty and Chadwick, also George Goss and Glass. The varsity line saw only one change, Oates replacing Congdon at left end.

The coaches learned officially today that the faculty has declared Page, a freshman, ineligible because of a scholarship condition. It is probable, however, that Hockenberger will soon replace Erwin who has been found too erratic at guards.

Princeton.

PRINCETON, N. J., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—The Tigers had a short scrimmage of 15 minutes and appeared in their regular line up with the exception of Fryer, who took Brasher's place at end. Brasher played a hard game on Saturday and the coaches allowed him a complete rest this afternoon. Simons appeared at right half and satisfied the spectators by making the most brilliant play of the afternoon in a 30-yard dash around the wing. He is the greatest end runner in the Tiger squad and will likely afford some surprises in the big contests before the season is completed. While Daub and Bard are both good at circling the wings they are too heavy to make the speed and also lack the ability to use their hands in pushing off tacklers with the ease Simons does. At present E. Dillon seems to have the call over Tenney at quarterback.

Cornell.

ITHACA, N. Y., Oct. 23.—(Special.)—Further evidence that the Cornell eleven has at last got into its proper working trim was shown today from the fact that regardless of the contest with W. U. P. Saturday every varsity man was out ready for hard work. Remembering the large amount of ground that was lost in penalties for offside and for holding Saturday, the coaches gave the men considerable instruction in starting, being cautious that they were not over the line before the ball was gotten into motion.

AMERICAN LEAGUE BASEBALL CHAMPIONS ARE HONORED

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 23.—The Philadelphia baseball club which this year for the second time in four years won the American league championship, was tonight honored by a public celebration. A street parade, extraordinary in character and elaborate in display, formed a demonstration unique in the city's baseball history. The special guests, besides the officials and players of the American league club, were the Philadelphia National league club, the New York National league club, the officials of these organizations, President Ban Johnson of the American league and officials of the various minor leagues.

Semi-professional and amateur baseball clubs from Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Delaware were in line. Six newspapers under whose auspices the parade was given, were represented by floats. The entire line of march was ablaze with red fire and fire works, and tens of thousands of people watched the procession.

SHIP'S COOK OBEYS ORDERS TO REPEL ALL BOARDERS

Shoots Up Police Who Want to Learn of Battle With Mutinous Sailors and Stands Siege.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—Four men were badly wounded in a series of battles between the officers and crew of the lumber schooner Ida B. Gibson of Seaford, Del., and afterward between Milton Cordery, the cook of the Gibson, and the police early today.

The crew of the Gibson were compelled to pump the leaky craft all the way from Norfolk, Va., to New York. It was reported that the officers were compelled to use force to put down the beginning of a mutiny. On arriving at New York the Gibson tied up at Pier 55, East river, and the crew was paid off and discharged. At an early hour today Capt. Bradley, Frank Medley, the mate, and Milton Cordery, the cook, were leaving a house near the vessel when they were set upon by a dozen men. In the fight that ensued Capt. Bradley received severe stab wounds in the side and shoulder, and the cook was slashed about the face.

Capt. Bradley ordered the cook aboard the vessel to prevent anyone boarding her while he went to the hospital. About daybreak today Detective Henry Hadlich, William McManus, a night watchman, and two policemen tried to board the Gibson. Cordery fired, wounding McManus in both feet. Hadlich made a dash for the deck and was shot in the side with 30 buckshot. The police reserves were then summoned. When Capt. Bradley walked aboard, Cordery surrendered and was locked up. The Gibson was sinking and the captain went to the police station to demand the release of the cook to keep her afloat. He denounced the police and was hustled into a cell, despite his protests that his vessel would sink.

Frank H. Medley, the mate, was not seen after the fight. It is feared he was murdered. In court Capt. Bradley was fined $10 for interference with the police, while Cordery, the cook, was held without bail to await the result of the injuries to Detective Hadlich.

LOWE THINKS KELLEHER MET DEATH IN ACCIDENT

Deputy Coroner Does Not Credit Statement That Beech View Justice Was Assaulted and Killed.

Deputy Coroner H. E. Lowe yesterday made still further investigation into the death of Daniel J. Kelleher, the Beach View justice of the peace, who died on Sunday of a fractured skull, the injury being caused by a fall from the bridge at Beach View Saturday night. Lowe is convinced that Kelleher was not waylaid, robbed and thrown from the bridge. His investigations convince him that Kelleher, while waiting on the bridge for the return of a friend, followed his usual custom of sitting on the railing, lost his balance and fell to the ground 15 feet below. Lowe also learned that the report that Kelleher had left home with a large sum of money in his pockets was untrue, and that all he had with him was $8 and some change.

A deputy coroner is trying to find some trace of the two men who were seen with Kelleher at 8 p. m. Saturday, coaxing him to go with them. The authorities think that these men were friends of Kelleher.

Loukie Solohek, aged 23, was injured yesterday at Jones & Laughlin's mill on the South Side, and died two hours later at St. Joseph's hospital. Solohek was in a car loading iron into a bucket which was attached to a crane. The chain broke and the loaded bucket fell upon the car, hitting Solohek on the abdomen. Solohek lived at 3971 Carson street.

W. J. Hall, a slate roofer employed by Contractor E. J. Rother of Sheraden, fell from a building upon which he was working in May street, Sheraden, yesterday, breaking his neck and dying soon after. He was 50 years old and unmarried. He lived at the Federal hotel in Allegheny.

The 13-months-old child of J. Yanko of Dyke street died from scalds received Sunday by falling into a pot of boiling water.

John Quis, a miner, was killed in the Partridge mine at Santiago by being struck by a fall of slate.

Charles Palmer, a negro, died suddenly while sitting in a chair in the store of W. P. Harvey, East Pittsburgh, at 9:30 a. m. yesterday.

S HUSBAND SWORE FALSELY

Wife Accuses Thomas S. Herd of Procuring Their Marriage License Through Perjury.

NEGRO GETS SEVEN YEARS

Thomas S. Herd is accused by his wife, Nettie S. Herd, of committing perjury when he secured their marriage license. This is brought out in the testimony filed in the divorce suit instituted by the wife against her husband. Mrs. Herd says she is but 20 years old and lives with her parents in Bellevue. She was married March 22, 1904, without her mother's consent, and alleged that Herd procured the license by swearing she was 21 years of age when she was only 18. She says that at his suggestion she went to her parents' home, December 15, 1904, and that on December 22 their child was born. She says he called to see her four or five times until January 2, 1905, but since that time she has seen nothing of him. She also avers he began to abuse her soon after their marriage.

James Stewart filed a libel in divorce against Mary Stewart, charging her with infidelity and naming Joe Johnston as co-respondent.

Silas White, the negro, who, armed with two revolvers, created a reign of terror in the hill district a month ago by running through the streets firing at any person who happened to cross his path and seriously wounding Benjamin Matus, a white man, and George Russell, a negro, was sentenced seven years to the penitentiary by Judge Macfarlane in criminal court. White was convicted on a charge of felonious assault and battery for shooting Matus and entered a plea of no defense to a like charge for the shooting of Russell.

Says Trust Is Ended.

In the estate of Mary Birmingham, Judge William G. Hawkins of orphans' court filed an opinion on the question of whether or not an active trust created for the testator's two sons is merged and the trust ended by reason of the failure of the gift to charity of the remainder. The court says the purpose of the trust was to preserve the body of the estate for the benefit of the charitable institutions during the life of the sons. The bequests to some local charitable institutions fell because the will of the testatrix was executed less than 30 days before her death. The court says that the purpose of the trust having failed by the lapse of the gift to charity, the trust is at an end and the sons are entitled to the fund for distribution.

Judge Shafer overruled the demurrer filed by the Library Land Company and others to the return of Duquesne borough council to the mandamus proceedings brought against it for the approval of a plan of lots presented to the borough. The plan has been approved since the suit was entered, but the company insisted upon judgment on its demurrer to determine costs and damages. Judge Shafer finds the council was not given information, the court thought it was entitled to before approving the plan, and declines against the land company, saying the action of the council was not an abuse of discretion.

Three opinions were handed down yesterday by Judge Joseph Buffington in the United States circuit court in cases recently tried before him. The court refused a new trial in the case of Frank Barnum against the American Bridge Company of New York. In the case of the Penn Electric and Manufacturing Company against John M. Conroy and others the court finds that there was an infringement of a patent for frames, and in the case of the General Electric Company against the Garrett Coal Company, the court finds there was no infringement of a patent for a trolley stand for electric cars.

Refused Club a Charter.

Judge Shafer refused a charter to the Crescent Tariff club of Crescent township. No reasons were filed by the court, but objections had been presented by a number of citizens, in which they said the real object of the club was to be a drinking place.

The Lancaster bank, of Lancaster, O., filed a summons in assumpsit against William H. Hall, Jr., executor of the estate of C. L. McKee and others, for $10,000, which it alleges is due on notes made by Daniel McKee to the order of C. L. McKee.

Abrahato, Shnon and Jennie Perelstein filed answer to the equity suit of the Griswold Shoe Company, an action to restrain the defendants from using the name "Carter shoe."

The Otterbourg Medical Company has answered the rule of W. L. Kelly to show cause why judgment it secured against Kelly should not be opened. The plaintiff company avers it performed its part of the agreement, treating the defendant until he said he was cured. The plaintiff asks that the rule be dismissed.

Voorhees Valley filed a petition asking permission to change his name to Edward Johnson, by which he says he has been known for the past 15 years.

The following true bills were returned by the grand jury: Forgery, A. E. Faust, Martin Dezilin; embezzlement, Peter Schaunberg; riot, Mike Chirick; false pretenses, John Hohman, James McGarvey; entering a building, Ben Fields, Anton Korperson, Clyde Vladingham; felony, Joseph Koza, John Pohl; larceny, Laurence Dorgan, William Dufell, M. Berer, August Bruckner, Joseph Cohn et al., Rebecca Hughes, Fred Keller, Michael McCauley, Andrew Seney; receiving stolen goods, Louis Kapler; selling liquor illegally, William Robinson 2; aggravated assault and battery, Clarence Jennings, John Bryan, John Cassy, Charles Smith; assault and battery, John Lewis, J. O. Rives, Robert Scott.

William Willis of Stowe township, leaves his sons, Joseph and Winfield, $100 each and $25 each to Ethel S. and Claude W. Willis, his grandchildren. The residue of his estate goes to Edward C. Willis, his son. The estate is composed of stocks, money on deposit and a mortgage, and is valued at $86,000.

Elizabeth Staude leaves the bulk of a $200 estate to the E. P. Orphans home of West Liberty.

Executions issued: Elizabeth Blessmyer vs. Herman Heitecher, deceased, etc., $356; William Myer vs. John C. Rossell, $1,021.

TAX BOARD CASE IN COURT'S HANDS

Supreme Justices Hear Arguments on Constitutionality of Important Act.

ALLEGHENY COUNTY LIST UP

The question of the constitutionality of the act creating a board for the assessment and revision of taxes in counties having from 300,000 to 1,000,000 population is now up to the supreme court. The mandamus proceedings of Attorney General Hampton L. Carson to compel the judges of the three common pleas courts to appoint the board as provided by the act, was argued yesterday. Mr. Carson and Attorney R. H. Jackson appeared for the state, while former Judge Edwin H. Stowe argued on behalf of the judges.

Mr. Jackson said the act must be considered constitutional unless it be clearly shown to the contrary. It was charged that the act offends against article 14, section 2, of the constitution, which provides that county officers shall be elected, and that the members of the proposed board would come within the designation of county officers as fixed by section 1 of the same article. If they did come within this last section then the act could not stand, but Mr. Jackson argued that they did not. The constitutional convention, he said, had created a harmonious system of county officers and had thrown around it the protection of the constitution, so that subsequent legislatures might not destroy the harmony of the system. That they recognized that there might be officers within the counties that would not fall within the class designated as county officers was evidenced by section 2 of the same article, which fixes the qualifications of appointive officers.

Has Power to Create Officers.

The argument was advanced that certain officers were named in the constitution as county officers to protect them from being abolished by the legislature. The power was given to the legislature to create other offices of this class but it must be shown in terms as a "county office." Several decisions were quoted in support of this view, and the argument made that this act contains nothing that the legislature meant to fix a permanent system of assessment and revision protected by the constitution against change. It was also pointed out that the county commissioners do not make the revision of assessments as commissioners, but as a board of revision under the act of 1842, a separate office requiring a separate official oath.

Taking up the data contending that the act imposes on the courts duties that are not judicial, Mr. Jackson said that the act imposes but one duty, that of appointment. Under the constitution he said the legislature has the power to direct the filing of offices it creates, subject only to restraints as to offices that must be elected. The power has been exercised by the legislature for more than 50 years, and this alone, he held, ought to prevent the courts from interfering. Instances were cited from 1845 down to sustain this point. On the question of doubt as to the manner in which the three courts were to act in making the appointment it was pointed out that they had within three months past elected a county commissioner and that the practice was to meet in general session and elect by a majority of all judges, and that in Philadelphia the court of common pleas has elected a similar board since 1867.

Judge Stowe Makes Answer.

Judge Stowe, in his answer, said the courts had not refused to make the appointment from any disposition to avoid or decline any duty or responsibility which may be legally imposed on them as judges of the common pleas of Allegheny county, but for the reason that, in their opinion, the act is illegal and void under the powers conferred upon the legislature by the constitution; even if it were not so, the act is so vague and indefinite as to the manner in which the appointments should be made that they are unable to determine how they should proceed to make them.

The act was unconstitutional because it imposes a duty not judicial and which, even if it could be imposed on a single court, cannot be sustained when requiring joint action of two or more separate courts. It is unconstitutional because it creates the members of the board county officers, and they cannot be appointed but must be elected.

It is so uncertain as to the manner of selecting this board, Judge Stowe said, that the courts are unable to determine whether it is to be done by separate action of the courts as such, each acting for itself, or by joint action in general session, and whether the majority of the courts or of the judges is to determine who is to be appointed. Finally in his answer, ex-Judge Stowe said if the act should be held to be valid and that its meaning is to impose the duty of appointment upon the judges as individuals, designated by official instead of personal description, they are under no legal obligation to accept and perform it, such as can be enforced by this proceeding.

Legislature Without Power.

Judge Stowe held that the legislature was without power to impose this additional duty on the courts. In late years there had been a disposition to add burdens to the bench that they could not be compelled to carry. He referred to the liquor license law as an example of the ill-effects such legislation had on the judiciary. Such laws were bringing the judges too prominently forward in politics, the liquor license act in particular being responsible for a political movement that is seriously affecting the integrity of the bench. Judge Stowe cited numerous decisions, the earliest being given in 1792, where the power of the legislature to add such duties to the work of the judiciary had been declared unconstitutional, quoting from both state and United States supreme court records.

Attorney General Carson closed the argument, answering the points made by Judge Stowe with quotations from decisions to offset those presented by the judges' champion. His interest was largely because the decision in this proceeding will govern the action in other counties.

The appeal of Garrett and others in the proceeding over the Chester county Republican ticket was signed by D. T. Watson and A. P. Reid for the appellants and C. Wesley Talbot and George B. Johnston for the appellees. The question at issue is whether the county committee which filed the nominations was the legal representative of the Republican party, and the case turns on the interpretation of the rules of the Republican party in Chester county.

Allegheny County List Started.

A start was made on the Allegheny county list, three cases being argued. In the case of Mary G. Wright, appellant, vs. the Monongahela Street Railway Company, the question of the proper conduct of a motorman is raised. Mrs. Wright was driving out Forbes street in a trap and the horse frightened at a car. It reared and plunged when the car was several hundred feet distant and when the car approached made a final plunge which landed the trap in front of the car. Mrs. Wright was thrown out and badly hurt. She entered suit and was given a verdict of $655 50. A new trial was granted and the case now appealed. The appeal raises the question as to whether or not it was the duty of the motorman to stop the car when he saw the horse was trying to get beyond control.

The case of the Dollar Savings Fund and Trust Company, appellant, vs. the Pittsburgh Plate Glass Company, is an appeal from No. 3 court. The trust company loaned $7,000 on a note, taking a certificate of stock in the Glass company as collateral. This certificate proved to be forged and the trust company sought to hold the Glass company responsible. It was claimed that the Glass company had known for four months that this certificate had been abstracted from the stock certificate book, but had not given notice to financial institutions or the public of this fact. The allegation was made that the Glass company was negligent in that the certificate being so prepared that it could be easily completed, was not safeguarded, and in not giving notice as soon as it was discovered that the certificate was outstanding. A demurrer filed by the Glass company was sustained and this appeal was filed.

Nicola-Dilworth Case Argued.

The case of H. P. Dilworth vs. Frank F. Nicola, appellant, from No. 3 court, was partially argued and will be completed this morning. This is the case arising from the sale of the Point holdings of Mrs. Mary E. Schenley, through H. C. Frick, to the Pennsylvania railroad. Dilworth put up $50,000 of the first $100,000 paid by Nicola to Mrs. Schenley. In the court below an order was made directing Nicola to deliver to Dilworth an instrument binding Nicola to pay to Dilworth one-tenth of any profit accruing to Nicola from the transaction. Nicola appealed. His claims that no profits will be received for many years. That Dilworth is fully protected, that he has been paid back his hard money and has nothing in the enterprise but a hope of profit.

Judgments of non-pros were ordered in the cases of the Knickerbocker Trust Company vs. Pope, appellant; appeal of Glenn; Roth vs. Reiter, appellant; Carroll, use, appellant, vs. Kountz, et al.; Wilson vs. Dinan, appellant; Kuhn, appellant, vs. Frick Coke Company; Marshall vs. Schwan, appellant; appeal of Perkins. The cases of the Pittsburgh Valve Company, appellant, vs. Billingshofer, and the Wabash-Pittsburgh Terminal Railroad Company vs. the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad Company, appellant, were continued. The case of Haugh vs. Irwin, appellant, which has been on the list since 1896, was stricken off, with leave to move to have it reinstated.

Twenty-six Allegheny county lawyers were admitted to practice.

The List for Today.

The list for today is as follows: Coleman, appellant, vs. Brown, et al.; Wright, appellant, vs. Monongahela Street Railway Company; Spangler, appellant, vs. Baltimore & Ohio railroad; Park Steel Company vs. Allegheny Valley Railway Company, appellant; McDermott vs. Bennett, appellant; Johnston vs. same; McKee vs. Crucible Steel Company, appellant; McNeil, appellant, vs. Clairton Steel Company; McMullen, et al., vs. Reid, appellant; Grogan, et al., vs. Pennsylvania railroad, appellant; same vs. same; Brown vs. Crucible Steel Company, appellant; Mulvaney, appellant, vs. Pittsburgh Railways Company; in re grading of Tioga street, appeal of Rich, trustee; Dougherty vs. Pittsburgh Railways Company; Armstrong vs. McCutcheon, appeal of McCutcheon; Morris vs. same; Buel, Jr., appellant, vs. Bergman.

Amanda Foster, through Attorneys Metz & Grubbs, took an appeal to the supreme court yesterday in her suit against the Pittsburgh & Westmoreland Railway Company. This is the proceeding in which an effort is being made to prevent the railway from laying tracks on the White Oak Level road, which is one of the roads running out of McKeesport improved by the county. Another appeal filed was in the case of the Keystone Coal Company vs. N. Winslow Wilson, trustee in bankruptcy of the Continental Coal Company, an action from Somerset county.

License Transfers Are Granted.

Decisions were handed down by Judge Shafer in quarter sessions court in the applications for transfers of liquor licenses, heard Saturday. Five retail and one wholesale transfers were granted, and three retail transfers refused. The refused were: Andrew H. Simon to William Moreland, East Pittsburgh; Henry Graf to W. J. Harnett, Ninth ward, Allegheny; John C. Russell to Lucius Dadi, Baldwin township.

Those granted were: Wholesale, H. K. Snyder, to L. P. Yeager, Fifteenth ward, Pittsburgh; retail, John Hohman, change of location, Nineteenth ward; H. L. Berner to John Biesert, Thirteenth ward, Allegheny; D. B. Dublin to C. A. Baumgardner, Second ward, Homestead; John Danberger to Christian Simon, Third ward, Allegheny; W. J. Szelong to Martin Leonard, Fourth ward, Allegheny.

THE THREE RIVERS

At 9 o'clock last evening the marks on the gauge at the Davis island dam indicated a stage of 7.7 feet and the river was falling.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 23.—At 6 p. m. the Ohio river was 16.6 feet and rising. The advance boats of the coal fleets on the present rise arrived from the Kanawha today. The arrivals were the Lucy Marmet, Catherine Davis, Robert P. Gilham and Val P. Collins. The Pittsburgh fleet is due Wednesday. The boats coming are the Samuel Brown, Josh Cook, Jim Brown, James Moren, Tornado, J. C. Risher, Boaz, Ironsides, John A. Wood, Fred Hartweg, Gleaner, Raymond Horner, Tom Rees No. 2, The Roberts and Helen White. Nearly all the boats will turn back from here with empties, which are much needed at the mines. The Cincinnati and Pittsburgh Packet Company will commence the regular season in the Pittsburgh trade. Keystone State will leave on Thursday and will be followed by Queen City on Saturday and the Virginia on Tuesday. Cloudy and warm.

GALLIPOLIS—Eighteen feet and rising. Clear and cool.

MARIETTA—Fourteen feet six inches. Clear, pleasant. Bedford up, 6 a. m. Down with coal—Fred Hartweg, Helen White, 7 a. m.; Raymond Horner, Frank Gilmore, John A. Wood, noon; Boaz, Tom Rees, Sam Brown, 2 p. m.

GREENSBORO—Seven feet 11 inches and falling. Fair and warmer. Columbia down Tuesday; Woodward up.

GIL CITY—Three feet and rising. Clear and cool.

POINT PLEASANT—Fourteen feet and rising slowly. Down—Tacoma, Douglass Hall, J. T. Hadfield. Up—Greenland.

WARREN—Two feet eight inches and stationary. Fair and colder.

PARKERSBURG—Clear and warm. The French left for Creston. The coal fleet has been passing all day.

STEUBENVILLE—Eleven feet four inches and falling. Clear and cool. Up, Enterprise, Golden. Down, Brown, Clipper, Bertha, Iron Age, Coal City, Tom Lysle, W. H. Flint, Joseph Walton, Valiant, Rival.

WHEELING—Twelve feet and falling. Cloudy and cool. Departed, Bessie Smith, Parkersburg, 11 a. m.; Ben Hur, Parkersburg, 10 p. m. Down with coal, Charles Brown, Bertha, Iron Age, Clipper, Coal City, W. H. Flint, Joseph Walton, Tom Lysle, Valiant, Cruiser, Up, light, Clipper, Bertha.

LOUISVILLE—Stationary. In canal, 4.8 feet, on falls, 2.6 feet; below locks, 9.3 feet. Clear and cool.

MORGANTOWN—Seven feet 10 inches and falling. Clear.

TWO BARGES AGROUND.

Only Accident Reported from the Large Coal Fleets.

Only one accident has been reported from the large coal fleet which left the local harbors during the last three days. The Rival is reported as having grounded two barges at Safe Harbor, but this is considered very trivial.

From the fact that the boats were gotten away in such a hurry and so many of them at one time, the coal people consider themselves very lucky in having only two barges grounded.

Packet lines resumed activity yesterday and the wharves were crowded with passengers and freight. The Keystone State left for Cincinnati. Col. John L. Vance, president of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association, was a passenger.

The Kanawha will leave today for Charleston. The Ben Hur left yesterday for Parkersburg and the Columbia for Morgantown.

The Tornado left for Rochester and the Enterprise for Liverpool, where it will meet the Harry Brown and bring in a tow of empties.

THE CLUBS

Contributions to this department must bear the name and address of the writer to insure attention.

Mrs. Luckie Talked on Mormonism.

Mrs. Mary Luckie of West Chester, Pa., spoke before the Colloquium club yesterday on "Mormonism." Mrs. Luckie introduced a resolution at the meeting of the State Federation last week which dealt with the Mormon question, polygamy and the expulsion of Reed Smoot from the senate. Mrs. Luckie, with Miss Campbell of Germantown and Mrs. Price of Swarthmore, came to Pittsburgh on Saturday from Cambridge Springs, to be present at the series of conferences to be given in their honor by the several Equal Rights clubs in Pittsburgh, Allegheny, Wilkinsburg and Bellevue.

The meeting of Colloquium yesterday was at the home of Mrs. John W. Anderson, in Fifth avenue, and an interesting program dealing with the development of the esthetic side of Japanese life and its industries and commercial life was presented. Miss Sara Shaw spoke of the home, social life and the festivals of Japan; Mrs. Howard Morton told of the Hotel, the children's patron saint, and Miss Jean Lavona described some of the many domestic customs. Miss Edith Edeburn introduced the topic, "Industries and Commercial Life." Miss Grame Hamilton told of the manner of making Japanese toys, and Miss Berta W. McCracken described the cultivation and arrangements of flowers by the Japanese.

The club elected Mrs. John W. Pontefract a delegate from Colloquium to the joint committee for Pittsburgh playgrounds and vacation schools for two years. The club has two such delegates, one elected each year. Last year Mrs. Howard Morton was elected to serve for two years. The next meeting of the club will be held at the home of Miss Jane R. Murdock in Forbes street.

Reports from the Delegates.

Reports of the delegates to the meeting of the State Federation will form a part of the program of the meeting of the Woman's club of Wilkinsburg this afternoon. Mrs. William C. Anderson and Mrs. Charles D. Armstrong were both in attendance at the convention. The meeting will be held in the rooms of the Pennwood club, under the direction of Mrs. W. J. Martin. There will be a discussion of "Club Topics" by the question box secretary, Mrs. M. K. Salsbury.

Meeting of the Tourists.

The Tourist club yesterday listened to a report of the annual meeting of the State Federation of Pennsylvania Women in Cambridge Springs, given by its delegate, Mrs. John Cowley. It was followed by the program arranged for the day, given under the direction of the president, Mrs. Alexander L. MacLachlan. Mrs. John Pritchard read a paper on "The Native Races of the Russian Empire," the history of the nation being continued by Miss Louise Loy in her sketch, "The Regeneration of Russia Under Peter the Great." More than half the women present took part in the general conversation, the subject being "St. Petersburg." The music was specially enjoyable, consisting of songs by Miss Marion Gaston and piano numbers by Mrs. Elizabeth Bingham and Miss Beulah Wettach.

Monthly Kindergarten Meeting.

Miss Clara Davison of the Brushton school and Miss Helen Ewing of the Garfield school will make reports at the monthly meeting of the board of managers of the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Free Kindergarten association, to be held in the assembly room of the Kindergarten college, 2439 Fifth avenue, next Friday morning at 10:30 o'clock.

Ready for Winter's Work.

The educational work of the winter season at the Business Women's club commenced last evening, classes in the various domestic arts and sciences having been enrolled. Classes in English and the languages were also started, together with the physical culture work, which is to be made a feature of the work of the club.

Club to Give Reception.

Mrs. S. B. M. Hooker, president of the Sewickley Valley Women's club, has issued invitations for a reception to be given by the club at the Edgeworth club house on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. This will open the season for the club. Refreshments will be served and the afternoon will be given over to a social time.

Reports from Allegheny Playgrounds.

The annual meeting of the joint committee of Women's clubs for Allegheny summer playgrounds and vacation schools will be held next Tuesday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at the Allegheny High school. The election of officers will take place and annual reports will be presented.

Deferred Meeting of Sorosis.

The meeting of the Sorosis club, which was postponed from last Wednesday, will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock in the Hotel Schenley. The reports of the delegates to the State Federation in Cambridge Springs will be given.

Columbian Council President's Day.

The Columbian council of Jewish Women has issued invitations for the annual president's day reception, which will be conducted next Thursday afternoon in the Bellefield club house, North Craig street.

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN.

From the view point of the average man housework is very easy. The wife is right at home. She is her own mistress. She can sit down and rest any time. She can even go to bed for a nap if she feels like it. She can order her household affairs just to suit her own convenience. If she doesn't feel equal to doing work to-day, she can do it to-morrow. That's the beautiful theory of the average man.

Just suppose the Egyptian task-masters, when they made the required daily tale of bricks tax the uttermost of human strength, had said to the toiling slaves, "Don't hurry, take a rest every now and then—only don't forget that your tale of bricks must be all right at night or else there'll be trouble."

There's the fact. There are the day's duties to be got through, and the women who can rest may not. The woman, who, when she married, said, "Now, I'll be my own mistress," finds herself a slave to household cares and duties.

And oh! how much that woman needs rest sometimes. She brushes and scrubs, and rolls pastry, her temples throbbing, her back aching, her nerves quivering under the stress of pain. What she would give if she could just creep upstairs and throw herself on the bed in a darkened room and rest.

Rest would temporarily relieve the strain, doubtless, but it would be the same story over again to-morrow. The real need of weak, nervous women is strength, and that need is fully met and satisfied by Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. It removes the causes of women's weakness, tranquilizes and invigorates the nerves, encourages the appetite and induces restful sleep. "Favorite Prescription" is a positive cure for the most complicated and obstinate cases of leucorrhea, excessive flowing, painful menstruation, unnatural suppressions and irregularities, prolapsus or falling of the womb, weak back, "female weakness," anteversion, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic congestion, inflammation and ulceration of the womb, inflammation, pain and tenderness of the ovaries, accompanied with "internal heat."

"I am pleased to add my testimony in behalf of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription," writes Miss Earline Agard, Chaplin, Patriotic Daughters of America, of 413½ Michigan Avenue, Lansing, Mich. "I cannot find language to express my gratitude and joy over the fact that I am well once more. Wearing my corsets too tight seemed to have brought on an extra abdominal pressure, weakening the ligaments and pushing the internal organs down. What to do I knew not, as no medicines I took seemed to help me.

"I had heard of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and determined to try it, as a last resort. Before the first bottle was used I began to feel better, but could hardly believe that this was permanent, but my improvement went steadily on, and within four months I was like a new woman. Now I have no more pains, am well and strong, and am extremely grateful to you."

There is nothing to conceal about the make-up of "Favorite Prescription." It is an absolutely pure medicine—made of native roots—Nature's own restoratives, compounded after a formula concerning which there can be no question, by skilled chemists and by thoroughly scientific processes. Doctor Pierce is perfectly willing to let every one know that his "Favorite Prescription" contains Blue Cohosh root, Lady's Slipper root, Unicorn root, Black Cohosh root and Golden Seal root. Every doctor knows that such a prescription is beneficial in the diseases of women and when properly compounded is certain to effect a cure in nearly all cases when given a fair trial. Every bottle of the "Favorite Prescription" which leaves Dr. Pierce's immense laboratories in Buffalo, N. Y., has plainly printed upon its wrapper all the ingredients of which it is composed. Thus Dr. Pierce proves to the world his own confidence in the remedy which for forty years has borne his name and which is known all through the United States and Canada, England, Australia, and in parts of South America, Africa and Asia, as a sovereign cure for those diseases which, unchecked, make our women old before their time.

It will be noticed that there is no alcohol in the "Favorite Prescription." Dr. Pierce never believed in using alcohol in the preparation of his famous household remedies. For it, he substitutes chemically pure glycerine, which has wonderful properties for extracting the medicinal principles of roots and preserving them at their full strength, without any deleterious effect whatever.

In favor of Dr. Pierce's medicines is the frank, confiding, open, honest statement of their full composition, giving every ingredient in plain English, without fear of successful criticism and with confidence that the good sense of the afflicted will lead them to appreciate this honorable manner of confiding to them what they are taking into their stomachs when making use of these medicines.

Dr. Pierce feels that he can afford to take the afflicted into his full confidence and lay all the ingredients of his medicines freely before them because these ingredients are such as are endorsed and most strongly praised by scores of the most eminent medical writers of all the several schools of practice as cures for the diseases for which these medicines are recommended.

Your druggists sells the "Favorite Prescription" and also that famous alterative, blood purifier and stomach tonic, the "Golden Medical Discovery." Write to Dr. Pierce about your case. He is an experienced physician and will treat your case as confidential and without charge for correspondence. Address him at the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., of which he is chief consulting physician.

It is as easy to be well as ill—and much more comfortable. Constipation is the cause of many forms of illness. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. They are tiny, sugar-coated granules. One little "Pellet" is a gentle laxative, two a mild cathartic. All dealers in medicines sell them.

"LOVE AND PATRIOTISM."

A Dream of Home and Battlefield at Kaufmann's Auditorium—Not Moving Pictures, but Artistic and Effective Groupings of Real Actors.

Carrington, the plaid illusionist, has staged another big feature at "The Big Store" to give free entertainment to enthusiastic crowds—a spectacle which surpasses Pharaoh's Daughter in all that makes an illusion a life-time memory. This week's show will be a series of four impressive transforming views, each one fading into the next, which tells successively the touching story of the war experience of a little drummer boy in the contest of '61.

The difference between these vanishing views and the familiar living pictures, lies in the fact that in the usual theatrical performance, the scene changes are made behind drop curtains, while Professor Carrington changes the scene and actors in full view of the audience, without disclosing any of the stage machinery. Scenes simply fade away, the actors vanish from where they stand and the succeeding scene appears from somewhere without one instant suspending the breathless interest of the audience.

The entire performance occupies about twenty minutes. It opens with a New England kitchen scene—a home-like interior, familiar to everyone who lived 40 years ago. The cheerful room, that should rightfully be the home of happiness, has as its occupants a distressed mother who is trying with all her heart and soul to dissuade her son, a lad of 15 years, from going to war. His toy drum has aroused in him the martial spirit, and it is intensified by his father's enlistment and gallant fight at Gettysburg. The argument ends and the mother, with lighter heart, puts on her wraps, and basket in hand, goes out to market. The boy, reluctant to forego his ambition, thinks this a good chance to run away, so he puts his drum on his shoulder and starts—and here as he impulsively steps forward, the picture slowly fades, and the boy, singing a patriotic song, vanishes from before the spectators' eyes.

The second scene rises—the battlefield with tents and soldiers in a distant camp. The boom of guns and other sounds of a conflict are heard. In the foreground is our drummer boy, seated on a camp stool, writing a letter to his mother. A bullet strikes him, and he falls wounded to the ground. Soldiers care for him tenderly and the picture disappears.

The third scene shows the mother on a desperate quest for her boy. She inquires of some passing officers. These tell her there is such a lad in their regiment. They fear, however, that she is too late for he has been wounded, and lies dying on yonder straw pile. Grief-stricken, she finds him under the blue light of the moon. She lifts him in her arms and tries to moisten his parched lips with a drink of cold water. He gives a little gasp and dies in her arms. The scene slowly vanishes with this tableau, and the last picture appears, showing the inspiration of the soldier—the Goddess of Liberty, wrapped in the stars and stripes and crowned with a gold circlet, each point of which is studded with light. This picture fades into nothing, the curtains are drawn, and the play is over.

"Love and Patriotism" will be given every hour at Kaufmann's Auditorium this week from 10 a. m. to 5:30 p. m. with extra performances on the half hour, if audiences are waiting.

OCK MARKET ACTIVE BUT NET CHANGES SMALL

ales Exceeded a Million Shares on the New York Exchange---Prices Closed Below the Best. Crucible Led the Local Market.

By JOHN O. BAGLIN, Financial Editor.

The average price of leading New York stock yesterday reached the highest ever quoted. Among the more prominent issues to advance to the highest prices of the year and in some instances for more than two years were Republic Iron and Steel common and preferred, American Locomotive common, Pressed Steel Car common and preferred, Allis-Chalmers common, Delaware and Hudson and Jersey Central.

The market was active and broad, the sales exceeding a million shares, the best day for months. Net changes, however, at the close of the day were small, although the tone was considered firm, and professional traders were predicting still higher prices before the close of the week.

At the opening the chief feature was the heavy liquidation, thought to be for account of large traders who were buyers last week. This selling caused a slight decline in the first hour, but the market subsequently became strong and in the early part of the afternoon reached the highest level of the day. London was credited with buying about 25,000 shares more than it sold.

The railroad equipment stocks were among the strongest on the list. There was heavy buying of Pressed Steel Car common, which carried its price up to 53⅝. The preferred rallied to 101. The net gain for the common was 1⅞, the largest net advance of the day. American Car and Foundry was also active, but closed only slightly higher. Republic Iron and Steel preferred advanced to 95⅞, the highest price since the organization of the company, the movement being based upon a reiteration of the story that the executive committee had about completed plans for paying off the accumulated dividends. American Locomotive common was quite active all day, reaching 69¾, but reacting to 68⅜ at the close.

United States Steel and Union Pacific are the two stocks which the professional traders regard as the real leaders of the market, and they were therefore objects of interest in yesterday's bull movement. United States Steel common rallied easily to 39¼ and the preferred to 105½, but they lost all but ⅛ of the day's gain at the close. The same was true of Union Pacific, which opened at 134⅝, declined to 134⅜, rallied to 135¼, but closed at 134⅝, which was only ⅛ above Saturday's close. Judging from these fluctuations, the large interests in the street are satisfied if they can hold the market within a narrow range of fluctuations for the time being.

Amalgamated Copper was rather heavy in the early dealings, being influenced, no doubt, by the reactionary tendency of the Boston market for copper stocks. The speculation in the latter has been quite rampant during the past week or so, and conservative brokers have been advising caution in following the advance. Amalgamated closed ⅜ higher than on Saturday. American Smelting rallied to 130⅜, but reacted to 130¼ at the close.

Among the minor industrials General Electric was strong, advancing to 190¾. Allis-Chalmers common advanced to 20⅝, the highest of the year, and New York Air Brake on fairly large transactions advanced from 156 to 161¾.

The standard railroad stocks were all moderately active and shared in the upward movement, but with few exceptions the changes as compared with Saturday were small. Norfolk & Western closed 1 per cent higher on the expectation that the directors at their meeting tomorrow will raise the dividend rate to a 4 per cent basis.

Call loan rates were easier, ranging between 4 and 4½ per cent, the final loan being at 4¼ per cent.

Crucible Steel stocks led the local market in point of activity. The common advanced to 13¾ and the final sale was 13⅝, an advance of ¼ per cent. The preferred closed firm at 67⅞, the highest of the year. Another active stock in the regular list was Pittsburgh Brewing common, which sold within the range of 26⅞ and 27, closing with a loss of ⅛. Pittsburgh Coal common rallied to 15½ and the preferred to 57, while River Coal preferred remained unchanged at 25. Westinghouse Electric made a strong rally, reaching 88¾, the highest for weeks, but later reacted to 88, an advance of a dollar a share over Saturday. Union Switch and Signal also closed a dollar higher at 86. Air Brake closed slightly lower. Ohio Fuel Supply was ⅝ higher at 37¾, but the other natural gas stocks closed unchanged. National Fire Proofing preferred made a new low record at 21, but the common remained unchanged at 6⅝. Pittsburgh Plate Glass on the marketing of less than 200 shares declined from 121 to 119. A block of 1,000 shares Tonopah Extension sold at $6, which was unchanged from the last previous transaction. Sales of Independent Brewing bonds reached $25,000 at prices ranging from 107 to 107¼. On sales of 30 shares Iron City Trust declined 2 per cent to 118 and recovered to 119.

FEATURES OF THE DAY

IN PITTSBURGH

Revival of activity in the Westinghouse stocks.

Electric and Switch each closed a dollar higher.

Crucible common rallied to 13¾ and the preferred to 67⅞.

Fire Proofing preferred declined to 21, the lowest of the year.

Pittsburgh Coal stocks higher. Plate Glass $2 lower.

IN WALL STREET

Stock market active and strong, but net changes were small.

Sales included 1,000,000 shares stock and $3,970,000 bonds.

Nearly a half score of stocks advanced to the highest of the year.

Industrials relatively stronger than the railroads.

Call loans slightly easier within a range of 4 to 4½ per cent.

NOTES AND COMMENT.

The gradual easing of the money market continued in evidence yesterday in Wall street, both for call loans and time loans, and no check was offered to speculation from that source. Foreign exchange continued very firm and the demand for remittance unimpaired. Call money in London rose sharply in connection with the putting ashis of $5,000,000 by the Bank of England for the India council to replace that amount of shipments from India diverted to Egypt. The discount rate at Berlin also hardened again and sterling exchange at Paris dropped back. With the approach of the foreign exchange rate to the gold export point the course of foreign money markets is scrutinized very closely. The more conservative Wall street commission houses continued to advise caution until the decline in foreign discounts and reaction in sterling rates removed the possibility of gold exports.

At current prices the investment return on Westinghouse Electric is 5.68 per cent, on Switch and Signal 5.80 per cent and on Airbrake 6.67 per cent. Electric has the brother market, because it is quoted in New York, and the price sympathizes with the tone of the general market. Switch and Signal has the narrowest market, but the talk on the stock is more bullish than on the other two. Airbrake has not yet fully responded to the improvement which has occurred in the railroad equipment stocks, and it is also quoted below the parity of New York Airbrake, which at yesterday's price was 5.80 on investor outlay of 5 per cent. Taking the yield on the investment into account, Westinghouse Electric is selling much below General Electric, which at yesterday's price nets only 4.21 per cent. The bearish factor on Westinghouse Electric, according to the view of the street, is the investments of the company in the securities of the British Westinghouse Company, which are estimated at something like $8,000,000 par value. These investments, it is understood, are not so profitable as would be the investment of the same amount of cash in the business of the home company, but the future value of these investments may more than justify the policy of the local company. A holder of Westinghouse Electric expressed the opinion yesterday that Colonel Bell's letter was the possibility of a return of the 40 per cent stock surrendered by the old stockholders at the time of reorganization. He thought this was among the possibilities of the future as a measure of justice to those stockholders who assented to the plan of reorganization, placing them upon an equality with the old non-assenting stockholders, who made no sacrifice of stock, and who are now receiving the same rate of dividend as the assenting stockholders.

Morris, Brown & Co. were the largest buyers of Crucible Steel common. The selling was scattered.

In the Boston market Black Mountain closed at 9 bid, 11 asked. A considerable amount of the stock is held in Pittsburgh.

On sales of less than 200 shares National Fire Proofing preferred declined to 21, the lowest price since the panicky days of 1903, when a small lot of the stock sold as low as 20. The recent support in the stock appears to have been the short interest, and the selling at the extreme low price is thought to represent liquidation by small holders, who do not see any prospects for the resumption of dividends in the near future.

A. E. Masten returned yesterday from Boston, where he had been to sign the constitution of the stock exchange of that city, of which he was recently elected a member. Mr. Masten was much impressed with the facilities provided by the Boston exchange for handling stocks local to that market, and the rules adopted for broadening the market as much as possible. The Boston exchange is provided with trading posts, the same as New York. One of the rules provides that when a member places an order for execution in the hands of a fellow member pending a temporary absence from the boardroom, the member executing the order must charge a commission of not less than $2 per 100 shares. The effect of this rule is to maintain on the floor of the Boston stock exchange at all times a score or more of brokers to handle the business, thus tending to broaden the market.

Chairman F. M. Pollard will preside at the meeting of the Pittsburgh chapter American Institute of Bank Clerks this evening in the Chapter Home at 304 Fourth avenue. An address on "Credit Insurance" will be delivered by E. A. Grant, general agent of the Pennsylvania department of the American Credit Indemnity Company of New York, and instrumental and vocal selections will be rendered by F. W. Osten, C. J. Farrar, George B. Deems, D. J. Hicks and L. H. Dougherty.

Pittsburgh bank clearings yesterday increased $2,343,090 over the same day last year.

Japanese issues continue to lead the New York bond market in point of activity. The sales reached $815,000 yesterday, out of a total of $3,921,000 for all issues.

A block of 30,000 Union Natural Gas bonds changed hands yesterday at 100 and interest, Crawford & Eberman to George W. MacMullen & Co.

Hall sold 1,000 shares Tonopah Extension to Doty & Sutton. Hill & Co. continued to sell Independent Brewing bonds, and Sproul & Co. bought $20,000.

The declaration of a dividend of 50 cents a share on Dominion Copper yesterday shows what the high price of copper may do for mines which are not so economically operated as some of the large properties.

In the local curb market Tonopah Coal 5s were quoted at 102 bid, 103 and interest asked.

St. Paul was the first of the railroads to show strength, which was coupled with professed expectation of an early announcement of the supposed project of an extension of the line to the Pacific.

The conspicuous feature of the Wall street market was the prominent part in the industrials of the lower grade in the speculation. In the list of gains of one point and upward on the day's transactions no less than 49 of the industrials and specialties will be found to figure.

The revived report that the Allis-Chalmers Company had been bought by the General Electric Company is denied by those in a position to speak with authority. Allis-Chalmers stock was very active yesterday, nearly 25,000 shares changing hands during the first two hours, and the price advancing to the highest of the year.

The value of "curb" quotations on unlisted and unknown stocks is illustrated in the following from the New York Times: How a "company" with no plant, and no capital with which to build one, can have its shares traded in on the Broad street curb has been demonstrated in an illuminating fashion by the course of the "American Lacing Company." On September 19 the recorded price of the stock was 22½—a few days ago a broker sold 100 shares of it for $1. The par value is supposed to be $25. There have been somewhat similar occurrences on the curb, many of them, but the peculiarly opera bouffe character of this enterprise in shoe eyelets makes it stand alone. A block of "American Lacing" was sold on the curb. From time to time the daily record of curb transfers would mention a sale of the stock at around 22. The real character of these so-called "sales" can best be judged by the fact that three or four curb brokers when asked about "American Lacing" a day or two ago actually did not know whether "par" had meant 22 cents or $22. Finally a broker wanted to really sell some shares, and $1 was all he could get for 100.

The New Central Coal Company of Maryland has declared a dividend of 2 per cent, payable November 1 to stock of record October 21.

The Pennsylvania Steel Company has declared the regular semi-annual dividend of 3½ per cent on its preferred stock, payable November 1 to holders of record October 21.

In the fiscal year ending with July the Pullman Company made 13.53 per cent on its stock after paying operating expenses and fixed charges. Its surplus, after dividends, was $4,134,571. Adding the surplus after dividends to the total surplus gives a grand total of $22,151,986 surplus, against $18,017,375 in 1904, and $14,376,749 in July, 1902. The total surplus is equivalent to 21.63 per cent of the capital stock of the company.

One of the largest Wall street houses named Southern Pacific, Baltimore & Ohio and Southern Railway as likely to be the features this week.

The net earnings of Missouri Pacific for August decreased $213,065.

For many months past it has been the custom of the Wall street news agencies to collect interviews on the railroad situation. Yesterday's reports represented traffic to be unprecedented in the history of the oldest managers, who profess to be making every effort in their power to avoid committing their companies to greater obligations for transportation, being quite overwhelmed by the traffic now offering and its constantly increasing ride. The condition of congestion is said to have arrived at a state where general business is likely to suffer to an extent from delayed deliveries and insufficient supplies. The extraordinary efforts required to keep the heavy volume of freight in movement and to prevent blockades is said also to be raising the proportion of operating expenses on the margin of traffic above normal capacity.

United States government 4s declined ⅛ per cent on call in New York.

President I. E. Johnson of the Norfolk & Western Railway Company arrived in Philadelphia yesterday to attend the board meeting on Wednesday, when the directors will act on the semi-annual dividend on the common stock. It is quite generally believed that the directors will place the stock on a 4 per cent basis by announcing a semi-annual dividend of 2 per cent.

COMMISSION HOUSES ASK LARGER MARGINS

Brokers Incline to Caution in Dealing With Specialties in the Market.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 24.—The Herald this (Tuesday) morning says:

Stocks continued their advance in price for the greater part of the session yesterday, easing off in the late trading made by heavy realizing sales. The movement was more particularly one of specialties, and some properties of highly problematical value, figured among the active shares, but a few of the railway issues were also prominent. Business showed a further increase in activity, and though still highly professional, the report was again heard of some increased interest on the part of the public. A determined influence in this direction, however, was the request for heavier margins than usual by some commission houses, when customers sought to speculate in some of the doubtful issues, or dealt extensively in the high-priced shares. Long experience has taught brokers to be cautious in specialty markets. Speculation sentiment continued much mixed.

There was practically nothing in the way of news during the day bearing directly upon the speculative position. Time and call money showed an easier tendency, but this was offset in a measure by the sharp advance in sterling exchange. In a general way the increase was attributed to the relief felt from the improving monetary situation, which bankers believe, however, will be of rather brief duration. The real force in the market was not public buying, but aggressive professional tactics, converging upon the specialties of the list. That this forced some short covering is altogether likely. The late recession, aside from the local stocks, which may have been influenced by the campaign of municipal ownership, seemed to be the result of heavy realizing sales. There was some distribution by speculative purchasers of stocks which have undergone recent sharp advances.

THREE RENTING ANNOUNCEMENTS

Fourth Avenue Bank Secures Rooms at Fourth and Market for 10 Years at $8,000 Year.

Three interesting renting announcements were made yesterday. Through the Aronson-Friedman Company a Fourth avenue bank has leased from Eda S. McKee the four-story building at the northwest corner of Fourth avenue and Market street for a term of 10 years. The rental is $8,000 a year and the three upper floors and basement of the building have already been sub-let to local firms for warehouse and office rooms at prices that bring the rental of the first floor down to a low point. The building is 27x70 feet and has been occupied for several years by McCann's butter store, which will be moved soon into the new McCann block at Market street and Diamond square. The rooms which the bank secures are well located, being directly across the street from the North American Savings Company and the former home of the Union National bank. It will require very little expense to put them in good shape for banking quarters for there are tile floors, metal ceilings and fine plate glass fronts.

The samuel W. Black Company has secured the renting agency of the Buckingham hotel and apartments in Oakland. In addition to the large hotel there are 70 private suites in the building. These have lately been remodeled at considerable expense so that the entire structure is now in first-class shape. The building is now owned by the Buckingham Land Company, and is under the management of William H. Marshall, who has lately introduced some decided improvements in its handling.

Avey & Irish have leased for the D. C. Irish estate to Edward Hart the first floor room at the northwest corner of Liberty avenue and Sixth street for a term of three years at $5,500 a year. Mr. Hart has occupied the room nearly two years with a large gents' tailoring establishment. It contains 1,000 square feet of floor space, which makes the rate of the lease $5 50 a square foot.

New House Sold for $21,000.

The sale was made yesterday of the last one of the William H. Whitfield residences in Beechwood boulevard, Squirrel Hill, for $21,000. The deal was handled by S. H. Lloyd, but no mention of the buyer was made last night. The residence is a fine one of the colonial style, having 13 rooms and two baths. The rooms are finished in hardwood with hardwood floors throughout. It stands on a lot 66x150 feet, facing on the west side of the boulevard between Irwin avenue and Northumberland street.

Through the Land Trust Company a good Point Grove residence was marketed yesterday, the buyer being Mrs. Margaret McWilliams. The house was built by Samuel McCaslin and is a 10-room reception hall brick, finished in hardwood and standing on a lot 41x90 feet. It is known as No. 5210 and the price was $10,500.

The board of viewers appointed to estimate the damages which C. Strahley & Sons will suffer because of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company's taking a slice off the northwest side of their East end lot for track widening, held its first session yesterday. Another meeting will be held today. The property in question is on the north side of Penn avenue, just across the Penn avenue bridge over the Pennsylvania. It has a frontage of 175 feet and runs back 198 feet, having a width of 41 feet in the rear. The railroad company proposes to take off a strip 23 feet wide at the front and running back the full length to a point in the rear. This will cut seven feet off the three-story store building which the Strahley firm has occupied as a wall paper establishment for years. The owners claim that the proposed act of the railroad will greatly damage their property not only for their own use but especially its marketable value, inasmuch as it narrows the frontage where it is worth the most and makes the lot irregular.

Early Estimates on University Club.

Architects MacClure & Spahr are working hard to complete the working drawings of the proposed clubhouse of the University club to be erected in St. Pierre street, or the extension of Grant boulevard on the Schenley farm. The site was secured several months ago and the club has authorized the expenditure of not over $100,000 for a building. Preliminary estimates will be taken by the architects in about 10 days to determine if the present plans can be within this figure.

Isaac Kaufmann has secured Architect Charles Bickel to design the eight-story warehouse which he intends to erect on the former Eberhart property on the east side of Wood street, between First and Second avenue. The estimated cost of the structure is put at $100,000.

Architects Robinson & Winkler have closed bids on the brick and stone memorial church which Capt. S. S. Brown is to erect for the Methodist Episcopal congregation on Squirrel Hill. Owing to the illness of Capt. Brown the contract is being held up.

Antonio Adolfina of Braddock has purchased a site in North Duquesne avenue and will erect on it a $25,000 brick block for business purposes.

Joseph Downey, who lately bought the old Frank Ardary homestead in the Nineteenth ward, is changing the big house into an apartment house. He will also turn it around so that it will face in Broad street, where he owns 75 feet frontage.

Preliminary plans are being prepared by Architects Charles Bickel and James T. Steen for the addition of three or four stories which E. H. Myers proposes to build on his old pork packing house in Oliver avenue, just below Wood street. Definite plans will be adopted shortly and the work of changing the old building into a modern store structure will be pushed ahead so that it may be ready for spring occupancy.

Foreign Money Markets.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—Money was wanted in the market today, and owing to the payment of $4,500,000 new treasury bills and the retention of the $5,000,000 in Egypt shipped for the account of the Indian secretary, as cabled on Saturday, discounts were firm. Trading on the stock exchange was checked and moderately active, though the approaching settlement restricted operations. Consols were steady. Home rails were firm, especially the Scotch lines. Americans opened firm at rather above parity, helped by the New York bank statement and the monetary outlook. The demand for Americans moderated later and they closed firm, some of them slightly below the best quotations of the day. Foreigners ruled good. Japanese Hardened. Japanese Imperial 6s of 1905 were quoted at 191½. Consols for money, 85⅞. Consols for account, 86¼. Bar silver steady, 28 5-16d an ounce. Money, 3½@4 per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 4 per cent. The rate of discount in the open market for three-months' bills is 4 per cent.

BERLIN, Oct. 23.—Exchange on London, 20 marks 46 pfennigs for checks. Discount rates: Short bills, 3¾ per cent; three-months' bills, 4¼ per cent. Trading on the bourse today opened active. The money market was favorably affected by the report that the Japanese government's balances here will not be withdrawn.

PARIS, Oct. 23.—Closing: Three per cent rentes, 99 francs, 85 centimes for the account. Exchange on London, 25 francs 15½ centimes for checks. Prices on the bourse today had a tendency upward, but business was slow. Stocks notably advanced in anticipation of an early receiving a large portion of the new Russian loan. Russians were quoted at 93.50 for 4s. Bonds of 1904 at 524.00.

Banks and the Treasury.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—(Special.)—In redemption of checks drawn by depositors of gold at the San Francisco and Seattle assay offices, today's official records show that the subtreasury paid out Saturday $247. Total thus paid since Friday, $9,521, against $9,374 for the same period a week ago. Total payment by government to New York banks for the day, $8,363,000. Payment by banks to government, $2,112,000. Balance on the day's transactions, $173,000 paid by government to banks. Total net payment by government to banks since Friday, $794,000 against $914,000 similarly paid for the corresponding period a week ago, and $325,000 paid by government to banks a year ago.

Condition of the Treasury.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—Today's statement of the treasury balances in the general fund, exclusive of the $150,000,000 gold reserve, shows: Available cash balance, $131,237,395; gold coin and bullion, $74,334,702; gold certificates, $43,152,900; silver coin and bullion, $4,975,682; silver certificates, $6,218,994; United States notes, $7,956,701; treasury notes of 1890, $32,577; national bank notes, $12,331,296; total receipts this month, $37,168,678; total receipts this year, $184,181,403; total expenditures this month, $42,816,000; total expenditures this year, $199,398,697.

National Bank Notes Redeemed.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 23.—National bank notes received today for redemption, $1,064,885; government receipts from internal revenue, $1,080,858; customs, $756,969; miscellaneous, $65,288; expenditures, $2,250,000.

POTATOES CONTINUE TO GO UP IN PRICE

Butter Also Takes a Jump of Half a Cent as Was Predicted. Markets Are Active.

Yesterday's business in the markets was active and all merchants report a good trade. The changes in prices were few, the most important being in potatoes and butter. Potatoes continued to go up in price, as has been predicted, and they are now selling at from 70 to 75 cents at the jobbers and 75 and 80 cents on the market. There is little doubt now, with the upward trend in prices, that they will reach the $1 mark before the winter is far gone.

As was predicted in this paper last week, butter went up today in the report from Elgin. While the raise was only ½ a cent, it is thought there will be more of a raise before long.

A large quantity of walnuts and hickory nuts made their appearance in the markets yesterday. They were brought by the freight boats which came in on the rise during the last two days.

Apples were firm yesterday and there was a good call for them throughout the day.

Mixed nuts are finding a heavy sale in anticipation of Halloween parties.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts.

Receipts yesterday were: Pennsylvania, 13 cars hay, 8 cars oats, 2 cars feed, 1 car corn. Baltimore & Ohio, 24 cars hay, 6 cars oats, 1 car feed, 1 car straw. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie, 25 cars hay, 15 cars oats, 1 car corn, 5 cars rye.

The market was firm and active during the day. Corn, oats, hay and straw continue in great demand. Considering the fact that the receipts given above are for two days, they are considered very light. There were several changes in prices during the day. All corn suffered a reduction in price and No. 1 mixed clover hay took an advance.

The Metal Market.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The London tin market was about 10s higher, with spot closing at £149 and futures at £148. Locally the market continued quiet, but prices were more firmly held and the market closed with spot quoted at 32c 50@32 75. Copper was also higher abroad, closing at £72 6s for spot and £70 17s 6d for futures in the London market. Locally no change is apparent. Immediate demand is said to be light, but some large dealers report the market in a firm position. Lake is quoted at $16 37½@16 75; electrolytic at $16 25@16 62½, and casting at $16 00@16 37½. Lead was a shade lower at £13 15s in London. Locally the market continues firm and quotations are more or less nominal. It is said that supplies for forward shipment are still available to large consumers at the old rate of $4 85, but generally speaking orders for future delivery are subject to quotations at date of shipment. The spot market is quoted at $5 15@5 40.

Iron was higher abroad. Standard foundry closed at 52s 4d and Cleveland warrants at 54s 11½d. Locally iron was firm. No. 1 foundry, northern, is quoted at $18 25@18 50; No. 2 foundry, northern, at $17 50@18 00; No. 1 foundry, southern, at $17 75@18 25; and No. 2 foundry, southern, at $17 25@17 75.

Spelter was firm abroad at £28 15s and firm and unchanged locally at $6 15@6 25.

Coffee and Sugar.

NEW YORK, Oct. 23.—The market for coffee futures opened steady at a decline of 5@10 points, and during the session increased the loss to a matter of 10@20 points under moderate liquidation, lower French cables and European selling. Toward the close there was a slight improvement on buying by trade

ALWAY CLUB TO HOLD SMOKER

Ex-Judge Elliott Rodgers and George A. Post Are Speakers. Will Elect Officers.

INSPECTING B. & O. BRIDGES

The annual meeting of the Railway club of Pittsburgh will be held this coming Friday evening at the Monongahela club, Peoples bank building. In connection with the meeting, which will include the election of officers and the adoption of certain revisions in the by-laws, there will be held the annual smoker and special entertainment features. President L. H. Turner and Secretary J. D. Conway have secured two able speakers for the annual meeting, and the session will partake of a more general nature than is usually allowed at the club meetings. The two speakers will be former Judge Elliott Rodgers, counsel for the Pittsburgh Coal Company, and George A. Post of New York, president of the Standard Coupler Company. Messrs. Rodgers and Post will select their own subjects.

Aside from these addresses there will be special entertainment provided in connection with the annual smoker. There will be a monologue, several recitations, music by a quartet and other features. The Railway club of Pittsburgh has become one of the strongest railroad organizations of its kind in the country. It was organized in October, 1901, with 50 members. The fact that it has grown to a membership roll of 866 men, identified with railroading in this district and outside of it, reflects credit on its members, particularly upon the charter members who have been faithful workers for its interests for four years. At the annual meeting there will be between 30 and 35 names proposed for membership. There is not a meeting at which fewer than half a dozen names are presented.

Eliminating Frills on Cars.

The Pennsylvania system people are endeavoring to eliminate all frills and unnecessary embellishments on the passenger equipment except such as are essential to the good appearance of the equipment. Formerly some of the cars were marked "Smoking Car," "Dining Car," "Cafe Car," etc., but the smoking car marking disappeared several years ago when the trend toward simplicity of design became manifest. It was also found that occasionally the smoking car had to be used temporarily for a regular coach run. In the past couple of years the tendency toward simplicity of design has been more apparent, and the cars built for the world's fair at St. Louis and since that time have been of simpler design in interior and exterior finish. In the interior finish the extra cost that was formerly placed in the flowerings and other embellishments is now being given to a better quality of finishing in the plain design. On the exterior of the cars formerly appeared "Pennsylvania Lines" in large gilt letters on the lettering board, while at the end of the lettering board in smaller gilt letters appeared the name of the road owning the car. The same was noticeable on the "Pennsylvania" cars, "P. R. R." appearing at the ends of the lettering board. The name of the road is now omitted, and is found only on the inside of the doors. The figures were also formerly floridly surrounded by designs, but all new equipment has the plain figures, and all old equipment is being so arranged when it is shopped. "Cafe Car" and "Dining Car" are also being taken from the sides of the cars used for dining purposes. On the baggage, express and mail cars the same tendency toward simplicity is noticeable. The names of the Pennsylvania special, the Pennsylvania limited and the New York and St. Louis limited are printed, of course, as usual on the baggage portion of the combination car in those trains.

Annual Inspection on B. & O.

The annual bridge and structural inspection of the Pittsburgh system of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad was begun yesterday morning by Assistant Engineer of Bridges and Buildings W. M. Graham of Baltimore. Mr. Graham was accompanied by members of the engineering staff from the general offices at Baltimore when he started from Cumberland, and the division engineer and master carpenter of the Connellsville division were also in the party. Engineer Maintenance of Way H. H. Temple of the Pittsburgh system will join the party today. Messrs. Graham and Temple and the other members of the engineering staff will be accompanied over each of the three divisions of the Pittsburgh system by the division engineers and master carpenters of each division.

It is expected that three weeks will be required for the inspection, as a detailed inspection is being made of each bridge and structure with a view of determining the work that will be necessary in 1906. This week will be spent on the Connellsville division, next week on the Pittsburgh division and the following week on the New Castle division. It is probable that some of the station buildings that were not renovated in the past year will be included in next year's program.

Using New Ft. Wayne Tracks.

The new depressed tracks of the eastern division of the northwest system, Pennsylvania lines west, were placed into service yesterday morning, marking another step in the gigantic improvement of the Ft. Wayne route through Allegheny. The tracks that were placed in service are at the southerly side of the roadway and extend from where the depression begins near Marion avenue to Washington avenue, about half a mile. By this depression of the tracks the grade crossings at Irwin, North, Pennsylvania and Washington avenues are eliminated. A concrete retaining wall from 12 to 18 feet in height has been built at the southerly side of the roadway and the trains operate in the canal between this wall and the old tracks on the street level. The remaining portion of the roadway will be excavated at once.

P. & L. E. Contracts for Bridge.

The Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad Company, through Assistant Engineer A. R. Raymer, has awarded the contracts for the extension of the bridge of the main line over the Shenango river at New Castle Junction. This bridge is now a double-track structure, but it is intended to extend it for four tracks, the trackage being extended on either side of the bridge. The firm of Stratton-Lewis & Co. of Pittsburgh was awarded the contract for the masonry work in connection with the abutments. The Penn Bridge Company was given the contract for the steel work. The extension of the bridge will be the same type as the present bridge, which is of plate-girder construction. The extension of this bridge is a portion of the proposed extension of the four-track system between here and Youngstown.

Local Pullman Man Promoted.

Official announcement has been made of the promotion of a Pittsburgh man in the employment of the Pullman company. George Hegler, who has served as second assistant district superintendent of this district for the company, has been advanced to assistant district superintendent at New Orleans. The appointment was effective yesterday, and Mr. Hegler will leave for his new post at once. Mr. Hegler has had charge of the Baltimore & Ohio and Pittsburgh & Lake Erie work for the Pullman company here, and is well known to local railroad men. It is expected that a man will be named for the vacant place here under District Superintendent G. H. Edwards in a few days.

Railroad Notes.

G. B. Okey, superintendent of the Monongahela railroad, spent Sunday with his family at Coraopolis.

Arthur Hale, general superintendent of transportation of the Baltimore & Ohio, was here from Baltimore.

F. C. Thayer, superintendent of the voluntary relief department of the Pennsylvania lines west of Cleveland, was here.

Col. Samuel Moody, general passenger agent of the Pennsylvania lines, has returned to his office after a vacation of two weeks.

Carl E. Davis, secretary to Superintendent B. W. Dyer of the Baltimore & Ohio, is off duty because of the death of his mother at the family home in Crafton.

SOCIETY

Contributions to this department must bear the name and address of the writer to insure attention.

UNUSUAL interest attaches to the benefit whist for the National Jewish Home for Consumptives which will be an event of tomorrow evening. The ladies of the committee held their final meeting yesterday and set aside 12 beautiful articles of china, silver and bronze to be raffled. In addition to these there will be 30 prizes, all of extraordinary beauty. A large number of tickets for the benefit have been sold, and it is expected that the affair will be one of the largest of the season. The event will be in the nature of a housewarming for Mr. and Mrs. Morris Kaufmann's magnificent new home in Squirrel Hill, which is to be thrown open for the holding of this benefit. The residence is one of the finest in Pittsburgh. Built of red brick and finished in white stone, it stands on the heights of Beacon street overlooking a large section of the city. Each apartment is an exemplification of the work of artists, every detail showing the most perfect taste and skill. The great hall reminds one of that belonging to a baronial castle. It is finished in walnut with walls of dark red. There is a high wainscoting and near the foot of the stairway immense pillars make a division between the front and rear of the hall. The lighting throughout the house is especially effective and unlike anything of its kind in the city. In the hall, the side brackets are held in place by bronze dragons and the central chandelier is suspended from the ceiling with heavy chains. On the first landing of the stairs there are five stained glass windows behind which are electric lights, whereby the rich coloring in the glass is shown to advantage. The windows on the third floor landing are also stained, but are of a more simple design than the others.

The drawing-room is an exquisitely dainty apartment done entirely in gold and white, the paneled walls being of a rich golden yellow damask. The furniture corresponds in every particular, and the lighting is done by double-globed side brackets with white bead fringes. The music room adjoining is a notably handsome apartment, done in white mahogany with the piano matching. The feature of this room, however, is the wall and ceiling decoration. The panels in the former are handpainted in delicate colors, matched by the upholstering of the chairs. Seemingly without any break, for the ceiling is arched, the panels change into fresco work representing cupids. Lights, capped with tulip-shaped shades, stud the walls in groups of two on gold stems. Across the hallway, at the back of the music room, is the reception room with an immense mantel of green oak as its feature. The wainscoting of oak is very high, and above it shows the blue of the walls which color also appears between the beams of the ceiling. The room is a Holland copy, and has high backed chairs and settees for furnishing. Quaint little Dutch lanterns on the walls serve to light the room, and they are also placed on the upper shade of the central chandelier.

The mantel is a feature of the mahogany-finished library and the carving a feature of the mantel. Under the mantel, built into a hood effect, is a fireplace of green tile, and on the shelf and the tops of the bookcases are costly pieces of bric-a-brac in bronze. The walls and upholstering match in their oriental pattern. A deep molding of carved mahogany marks the line between the walls and ceiling. The dining-room is magnificent in its finishings of ebony and morocco leather. The wood forms a high wainscoting above which are panels of leather. The seats and backs of the chairs are also of leather. The buffet is a massive affair of carved ebony and the mantels of the same. The lighting is particularly novel. Numerous lanterns of opal glass stud the ceiling paneled in a conventional design, and hanging low over the table is an opalescent shade suspended on heavy brass chains.

One of the brightest and most charming rooms in the entire house is the Japanese breakfast room with its handpainted walls and tinted ceiling touched with flying storks and sprays of flowers. A wainscoting is done in shaded blue. The furniture is wholly of bamboo, and low over the table hangs an opalescent shade centering the light on the board.

If one portion of the house can be accounted any more beautiful than another, that title must be accorded the sleeping apartments. One guest chamber is finished and furnished in mahogany and rich dark green, the wood work and furniture matching in the one particular, and the upholstering, walls and rugs in the other. A marble bath with handpainted water lily scenes on the walls connects with this guest chamber. Another room is done in old rose, while a third has a deep border of peacocks on the walls and is furnished in birdseye maple and blue. Mrs. Kaufmann's room is done in Circassan walnut with rich yellow walls.

The whist tables tomorrow evening will occupy the ball room, an exquisitely dainty affair done in shades of delicate pink and white. Again is seen a unique lighting effect. Oval shaped lights of opal glass, fitting into the walls, are arranged in a row at evenly marked spaces about the walls, and on the huge pillars in the center of the room. A mezzanine has been built for the accommodation of an orchestra, and a perfectly-appointed dressing room opens from one end of the ball room.

The walls throughout the lower floor, save in the hall where hang a few rare paintings, are unadorned, which fact adds to rather than detracts from the beauty of the mansion.

Cleavenger-Busch.

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. D. Cleavenger, in Wilkinsburg, at 8 o'clock last evening, Miss Adele Bushfield Cleavenger was married to Joseph Wallace Busch of Chicago. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. S. H. Moore of New Castle, formerly pastor of the Presbyterian church of Wilkinsburg. The maid of honor was Miss Margaret Danaher of Chicago and the bridesmaids were Miss Jennie Weaver, Miss Eleanor Carpenter, and Miss Helen Beattie. Miss Danaher and Miss Weaver were classmates of the bride at Miss Mason's school, Tarrytown-on-the-Hudson. The best man was William D. Cleavenger, a brother of the bride. Miss Josephine B. Stewart and Miss Mary H. Wylie of Wilkinsburg, were the ribbon-bearers. The bride's gown was of white brocaded silk trimmed with duchesse lace. Her diamond pendant was the gift of Mr. Busch. She carried bride's roses and lilies of the valley. The maid of honor wore a princesse gown of red chiffon and carried American Beauty roses. The princesse gowns of white chiffon were worn by the bridesmaids, who carried red carnations. The ribbon bearers were in white frocks and carried smilax and red carnations. Mr. and Mrs. Busch will be at home in Chicago after November 15.

Bowman-M'Elroy Wedding Day.

Miss Anne Bowman has selected Wednesday, November 22, as the date for her wedding to Robert Tindle McElroy of this city. It will be a quiet affair, taking place at the home of Miss Bowman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Bowman, in Waverly, Ia. The wedding will be of great interest to people of this city, where the Bowmans have many relatives, and where Mr. McElroy, who, by the way, is a cousin of Mrs. Edward Hanna Small, Miss Alice Wood Tindle and James Robert Tindle, who married Miss Rebecca Knox, is a member of the law firm of McElroy and McVay. His engagement to Miss Bowman was announced last summer at a charmingly appointed little tea which Mrs. Small gave at her home in North Negley avenue. Mr. McElroy will bring his bride to Pittsburgh, where they will be at home in Lindsay avenue. Miss Anne Bowman of Linden avenue, an aunt of the bride, will go to Waverly for the wedding and will be accompanied by her niece, Miss Jane Bowman, the bride's sister, who is now living in this city.

Engagement and October Wedding.

Announcement is made of the engagement of Miss Hettie McCutcheon Martin, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. N. Martin of Wilkinsburg, formerly of Oakmont, and George Heber McCandless of the latter place. The wedding will take place on Tuesday, October 31, in St. Stephen's Protestant Episcopal church, Wilkinsburg.

Miss Worthington's Wedding Plans.

The bridal party for the wedding of Miss Mary Worthington and William Terrill Johnson is announced. The procession will include a maid of honor, Miss Laura Worthington, who is a cousin of the bride, and two matrons of honor, Mrs. Roy B. McKee and Mrs. Edward H. Sutton of Detroit, formerly Miss Diehl of this city. Guy Johnston, a brother of the bridegroom, will serve as best man, and the husbands of the honor matrons will take their places in the party as ushers. The wedding is dated for Tuesday evening, November 7, at the home of Miss Worthington's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Worthington, in Forbes street, at 7 o'clock. After their wedding journey Mr. Johnston and his bride will have apartments in the Iroquois, where they have announced days at home after January 1.

Fruit and Flower Mission Benefit.

Monday afternoon, November 6, is the date for the Fruit and Flower mission benefit in the club rooms of the Bellefield dwellings. Invitations for the affair were issued yesterday by the committee including Mrs. William Gregg Doolittle, Mrs. Bennie McMechen, Mrs. Edward Hanna Small, Mrs. Verner S. Goggin, Mrs. George W. Jackson Bissell, Miss Susan Shields Williams, Miss Ella T. Cassidy, Miss Alberta Harper, Miss Narcisse Kennedy and Miss Mary Wright. Each guest, upon remitting the required sum to any member of the committee, is permitted to choose her partner and also to state her preference for bridge or domino whist. Refreshments will be served and there will be several prizes awarded.

Card Party for Bride-Elect.

Miss Mary Ethel McAuley has issued invitations for a card party and dance at her home in Oakland avenue next Monday evening to meet Miss Viola Stevenson, whose marriage to James G. Blaine McAuley, a brother of the hostess, is set for November 15. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Stevenson, in Edgerton avenue, East End. Miss McAuley has been chosen as maid of honor, while as best man her brother will have Hull McAuley, a cousin.

Parry-Borland.

Invitations have been issued for the marriage of Miss Elizabeth Mabel Parry, daughter of the Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Parry, Wilkinsburg, to H. L. Borland of Braddock. The wedding will take place on Tuesday, November 7, at the home of the bride's parents in Wood street, and will be performed by the bride's father. L. D. Waddell, the groom's business partner, will be the best man, and Miss Florence Elliott of Pasadena, Cal., the maid of honor.

Cosgrove-Sheckey Banns.

The banns of Miss Catherine Cosgrove, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Cosgrove of Second street, Braddock, and James L. Sheckey, a real estate dealer of Braddock, were read in St. Brendan's Roman Catholic church last Sunday. The wedding will take place November 9, and will be a brilliant affair. The Rev. Patrick Molyneaux will perform the ceremony. The father of the bride is superintendent of transportation at the Edgar Thomson steel works.

Sewickley Social Items.

Mrs. Frank T. Nevin of Edgeworth will entertain this afternoon with a sewing party in honor of Miss Helen Campbell of Sewickley, who is the fiancee of William Miller, a brother of Mrs. Nevin.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward A. Woods will receive informally this evening in honor of Miss Marie Sheldock of London, who is a guest of the host and hostess. During the evening Miss Sheldock will give an informal talk on Hans Christian Anderson.

Mrs. Dalzell to Receive Informally.

Mrs. John Dalzell of Washington, D. C., who came to Pittsburgh for the Homeopathic fair at the Country club last week, will remain in the city for a couple of weeks. She is the guest of her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. William Sage Dalzell, in Kentucky avenue, East End, and, with Mrs. Dalzell, will receive her friends informally after 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

Notes of Society.

Unique invitations have been issued by Miss Agnes Mackrell of Hazelwood avenue for a Halloween party to be given at her home on October 31. It will be a fancy dress affair.

An "olden time corn festival and temple of ceres" will be held on Thursday and Friday evenings in the Knoxville United Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Andrew J. Barchfeld and daughter, Miss Helena Barchfeld, left for Washington on Sunday evening to secure apartments in that city for the next session of congress. They will also visit Philadelphia and Princeton, returning the last of the week.

Parke-Smith Engagement.

John S. Parke of Tarentum, has announced the engagement of his daughter, Miss M. Maud Parke, to Dr. Jacob C. Smith of the same place. Miss Parke, who was a student at the Indiana State Normal school, has been teaching for the past three years in the Tarentum schools. Her wedding to Dr. Smith, who is a Western University man, will take place during the late fall.

The fashionable figure has again changed. The "W. B. Nuform," our most recent origination, will furnish your figure with the "proper" shape. Higher in the bust, slenderer at the waist

Our well-known "Erect Form" models (for which some figures are better adapted) show a marked improvement over their former perfection. The choice in W. B. Corsets is so complete that you can always count upon models which will fit and wear perfectly. These were the only corsets which were unqualifiedly endorsed by the National Dressmakers' Conventions. On sale at all dealers.

"Reverse Gore Nuform." The gores run in a direction opposite from the usual gores, counteracting the natural tendency of the body to strain the corset at the abdomen and hips—thus producing a very snug and smooth fit below the waist line, and flattening the lower back.

NUFORM 403 (Average Figures)
Medium above the waist—rather deep hips. Shows waist very clearly. Of white or drab coutil and white batiste. Hose supporters, front and sides. Sizes 18 to 30. Price $1.00

NUFORM 406 (Medium Figures)
Has the new bust and deep hip with unboned apron extension. Hose supporters on front and sides. Waist is plainly defined. In white or drab coutil and white batiste. Sizes 19 to 30. Price $1.50 and $2.00

ERECT FORM 720 (Average Figures)
Has medium bust and long, deep hips. For women who do not wish extreme low bust. Hose supporters on front and hips. In white and drab coutil and white batiste. Sizes 18 to 30. Price $1.00

ERECT FORM 730 (Slender Figures)
Built with moderate height above the waist line and short box hips. Made of coutil-batiste (white only) combining the strength of the one cloth with the lightness of the other. Sizes 18 to 24. Price $1.50
